BRINGS COOK'S FIRST ACCOUNT OF JOURNEY

Capt. Bernier, Back from the Arctic, Shows Letter Written by Cook at Upernavik.

GIVES DETAILS OF RETURN

Hard Winter on Jones Sound—Makes Charge That Peary Took His Stores for Trading Purposes.

Special to The New York Times.

QUEBEC, Quebec, Oct. 5.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook wrote a condensed account of his "dash into the Boreal centre and plucking of the polar prize" as long ago as May 23, and included in it charges that Commander Peary appropriated his provisions and base of supplies. This letter, which was sent to Capt. Bernier of the Dominion Government's steamer Arctic, then in the arctic waters, was given out here to-day by Capt. Bernier on his return from his expedition on which he asserts he definitely established the practicability of the northwest passage.

Dr. Cook's letter was written after he had made the journey from Etah to Upernavik, where he took the steamer for Denmark. It reads:

Upernavik, May 23, 1909.

My Dear Capt. Bernier:

I hasten to write you the first letter that I am able to send after having been detained for two years behind icy barriers.

The unexpected cruising of the Arctic makes a suitable climax to our long run of hard adventures. It was the supplies which you left in care of Mr. Whitney that saved us; all my other property had been taken by Peary, under the guise of establishing a relief station for Dr. Cook. Mr. Murphy, the man in charge of the station, however, was instructed not to engage in any relief efforts, not to allow the Eskimo to cross and search until the following March, when, of course, all relief efforts would be useless.

My large store of supplies and my station was used to barter with the natives to satisfy Peary's commercial greed. The splendid assistance which you have given and the generosity of your Government in sending the ship forms a happy contrast to the hindrance and injustice of one of my own countrymen. I, therefore, extend to you and your people much gratitude, as man must offer man for assistance rendered in dire hour of need.

Gave Details of Journey.

Fortunately we were able to work out our problem without relief except such as you offered.

We have pushed into the Boreal centre and plucked the polar prize, but the effort was dangerous beyond all conception.

Starting from Annatok on Feb. 19, 1908, we crossed Ellsmere Land and pushed along its western coast to the polar sea, feeding 10 Eskimos and 103 dogs en route on musk oxen and bears. From 82 degrees north I started with but two young Eskimos, twenty-six dogs pulling two sledges and supplies for eighty days. The ice was found fine after traversing the eighty-fourth degree. Croker's Land was sighted and a new land to the north of it, extending to the eighty-fifth degree. Beyond no land was seen.

The pole was reached April 21, 1908.

The return was forced slightly westward of the northward route, but about the eighty-fifth degree we drifted eastward and south. Below the eighty-fourth we drifted strongly westward into open water, where we were hopelessly carried to the west, unable to reach our lines of cache along Nansen Sound. We were pushed into Prince Gustav Sea without food or fuel. Still unable to press westward, we went with the ice toward the south. Food and fuel were now exhausted, but polar bears came along as life savers, and with them we went into Wellington Channel, hoping to be able to reach the whalers in Lancaster Sound, but we were soon stopped by failing food supplies and jams of shoal ice.

Hard Time in the Winter.

With no game this short route to an early ship was no longer passable, and to satisfy the pangs of hunger we sought Jones Sound. Here after a long run of hard adventure by boat sledge, cruel necessity forced us into Winter camp in September at Cape Sparbo. Without fuel, food, ammunition, or Winter clothing, with no dogs, no shelter, no guns, our outlook was nearly hopeless, but fortune came to the rescue.

Bows, arrows, and harpoons were made with our sledges; musk oxen and bears were taken with the lines, and small game was secured with the bows and arrows and slingshots. Foxes were trapped in stine trap and walrus and seals were attacked and secured in our little folding canvas boat.

An underground den was then built, and the Winter of 1908-09 was spent with a taste of savage life, for we had not a morsel of civilized food, not even salt. A new equipment was devised, and as the sun of 1909 rose over the hills of North Devon we started for Annatok, dragging dried musk ox meat as food and melted tallow for fuel for thirty days in our sleighs.

Deep snow, hard ice, and open water made the return journey slow and arduous, and after a run of hard luck we reached Annatok on April 5, 1909. Here we were met by Mr. Whitney, only to find that Peary's men had misused our station, with its equipments, under protest of Mr. Whitney. We enjoyed excellent health at all times. Mr. Whitney and Peary's men are all in good health.

There is no news from the steamer Roosevelt or from the civilized world except such as the whalers will be able to give you.

I hope that the Winter year has afforded you and your companions the hoped-for explorer's luck, with suitable opportunities and good health. Yours very cordially, FREDERICK A. COOK.

Bernier Believes Both.

Speaking of Commander Peary and Dr. Cook, Capt. Bernier said:

"I know them both very well. You see that Dr. Cook writes me, as a friend, a personal letter. Dr. Cook is a serious man, and extremely persevering. For the matter of that, Peary is also peculiarly persistent. In fact, that is his forte. In New York I wanted to make a pact with him some years ago, when we were discussing our respective polar plans, and offered that we should submit them to the arctic club and geographical societies, offering to serve under him if his project

COUNTESS CHOTEK ELEVATED.

Morganatic Wife of Austrian Emperor's Heir May Reach Throne.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, Oct. 5.—Countess Sophie Chotek von Chotkova, morganatic wife of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir apparent to the throne of Austria-Hungary, has been raised by Emperor Francis Joseph to the rank of Duchess, with the title of Highness. This announcement, with the news that the Archduke and his wife are to visit the German Kaiser at Berlin, has given fresh support to the belief that prevails in many circles that the Archduke's wife, who was Countess Sophie Chotek, will eventually sit on the throne of Austria-Hungary.

At the time of the marriage, nine years ago, Francis Ferdinand made the declaration that he would not declare his wife Empress or Queen, and renounced all claims to the succession for their children.

Hungarian authorities say the Archduke's renunciation does not affect his wife's position so far as Hungary is concerned, and of recent years there has been a growing feeling that when Francis Ferdinand succeeds to the dual throne of Austria-Hungary, some means will be found of disregarding his act of renunciation.

SHAKESPEARE TABLET SITE

Will Not Be Changed Because of Wallace's Discovery.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Since the publication of the Shakespearean document recently discovered by Dr. Wallace a heated controversy has raged as to the actual site of the Globe Playhouse, centring on the question where the memorial tablet, which it was proposed to set up this week on the wall of a Southwark brewery, should properly be placed. Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree, who has been selected to unveil the tablet, declares in a letter which The London Times will publish to-morrow that the ceremony will proceed at the place originally designated.

He puts forward documentary and other evidence in support of the traditional site, and concludes that even should Dr. Wallace's contentions eventually be proved correct, the position of the tablet would only have to be changed to the premises on the other side of the street.

"I am sorry," concludes Sir Herbert, "that our innocent desire to honor the memory of Shakespeare should have resulted in a heated controversy which seems to have banished—alas, only temporarily—the evergreen discussion as to whether Bacon wrote Shakespeare's plays."

DETECTIVES HELD FOR TRIAL

On Wealthy Pittsburger's Charge That They Tried to Blackmail Him.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 5.—Thomas Jones, the wealthy coal operator, appeared this afternoon before Alderman John A. Martin against William E. Kauffield and Oliver H. Owen, private detectives, whom he had had arrested on a charge of attempted extortion.

No effort has been made to conceal the fact that the detectives said to Mr. Jones that they had secured some evidence associating his name with a woman. While Mr. Jones was testifying about his talk with the detectives a lawyer for the detectives said:

"Well, it's true that you know Miss Wightman, isn't it?"

"It's none of your business who I know!" shouted Mr. Jones as he started for the lawyer, who stood carelessly toying with a leaden paperweight. "It's none of your business or that of your clients."

Friends prevented Jones from getting too close to the lawyer, and the Magistrate later announced that he would uphold the stand taken by Mr. Jones, who declined to answer any questions of this kind as he was not on trial.

Alderman Martin then held Kauffield and Owen under $1,000 bail for court. The detective agency which employed the two detectives declined to assist them in any way, and to-day sent word to Mr. Jones that if it could be of any assistance in furnishing evidence to prosecute the two men it would gladly do so.

Jones said to-night that he would spend a half million if necessary to send the two men to the penitentiary.

COURT ORDERS A NERVE TEST.

Heavy Quarry Blast to be Fired and the Effect on a Woman Noted.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 5.—One of the oddest legal points ever recorded by the Court of Chancery came up to-day when Vice Chancellor Walker ordered the Delaware River Quarry and Construction Company to set off next Saturday at noon a heavy blast in its quarries to test the effect on the nerves of Mrs. Eva L. Parent, who complains that the blasts upset her and make life unbearable. She wants the blasting stopped.

The quarry officials say the woman lives in a tumble-down house, with the ceiling plaster loose and no putty in the windows. Besides, they say, she is supersensitive.

The Vice Chancellor finally ordered the blast to be fired, a Master in Chancery with a stenographer and one expert on each side to be present to note the effect on the woman and on the property.

DIES OF FOOTBALL INJURIES.

Kick in Abdomen Proves Fatal to Pennsylvania High School Player.

POTTSVILLE, Penn., Oct. 5.—Robert Millington, the football player of the local high school eleven, who was injured in a game at Shamokin on Saturday with the high school team of that place, died this afternoon. It was found that the boy had been threatened with an attack of appendicitis; and a kick in the abdomen aggravated this condition, and also resulted in the rupture of an intestine. An operation was performed, but peritonitis ensued and he sank steadily from the time of his admission to the hospital.

The game scheduled for Saturday has been canceled, and it is probable that the team will be disbanded.

BABY PRINCE GETS HUDSON FLEET SALUTE

All the Warships in the North River Welcome Birth of German Royal Infant.

DRESS SHIPS IN HIS HONOR

German Ships Learned Officially Only Yesterday That Another Son Had Been Born to the Crown Prince.

The 5 days' old son of Crown Prince Frederick William of Germany was honored yesterday as never a baby was honored before in this country. At noon from each of nineteen warships, representing six great nations, a salute of twenty-one guns boomed forth as a tribute to the young Prince. All in all, 399 guns were fired. Not since the arrival of the British squadron has the Hudson heard so much noise.

The news that the Crown Princess Cecilie had given birth to a son was officially received on board the German flagship Victoria Luise yesterday morning. Soon afterward the glad tidings were signaled to the other warships. As each commanding officer received them he ordered the imperial ensign of Germany hoisted to the foretruck of his ship. Then the order was given to dress ship, and half an hour later every ship, from the Mexican gunboat Morales, off Sixtieth Street, to the flagship Connecticut, off 170th Street, was a mass of fluttering flags from stem to stern.

It was one of the prettiest sights ever seen in New York, but the crowds on Riverside Drive and the viaducts were at their wits' ends to find out who or what it was that was being so signally honored. At noon, when the guns began to boom and those who counted them found that each ship fired twenty-one, the highest salute there is, the curiosity of the crowds became all the greater.

The American ships fired 105 guns for the royal infant, the vessels participating being the battleships Connecticut, Kansas, and Vermont, the only armored vessels of the fleet left in the river; the submarine parent gunboat Castine, and the naval tender Yankton. The British and Germans each fired eighty-four shots, the Britishers firing from the Inflexible, Drake, Duke of Edinburgh, and Argyll, while the German ships were the Victoria Luise, Hertha, Dresden, and Bremen. France extended her congratulations from the battleships Justice, Liberté, and Vérité, while Italy saluted from the cruisers Etruria and Etna.

About 1 o'clock in the afternoon an Ensign of the battleship Kansas came ashore and was besieged by a score of pretty girls, while some staid old people stood back at a respectful distance to hear what he had to say.

"What are all those pretty little flags there for, and why did you fire all those shots?" the girls asked in unison.

"The Crown Princess has a new baby," the Ensign responded.

"What Crown Princess?" the girls asked, still in unison.

"The Crown Princess of Germany," the Ensign answered.

"But that happened five days ago," said a little girl in blue who reads the newspapers.

"I know that, but we were not told so officially until this morning," explained the officer, taking to his heels.

"Fine to be a royal baby, ain't it?" said a mite of a girl of 10.

While the guns of the Castine were peppering away in honor of the baby Prince the four little submarines to which she is the official mother were nestling up to her sides. It was the first time in the history of the Hudson that a submarine parent had put her babies to bed, and it proved one of the prettiest sights upper New York has seen in a long time. Each submarine flotilla is now accompanied wherever it goes by a parent ship, which is fitted with hooks, stanchions, bits, and bollards, to which the submarines, when the day's or night's work is done, are made fast.

The Castine came to anchor off 158th Street about 11 A. M., and those who were on the viaducts were surprised to see four funny-looking vessels slowly steaming up to her from the south. As each submarine came alongside the crew came up out of the shell, and in five minutes the vessel was securely made fast to the side of the mother ship. When it was all over the Castine was nestling two on either side, the Plunger and Porpoise being on her starboard and the Viper and Tarantula on her port. There is another roosting place far astern for the fifth submarine, the Octopus, which is not with the flotilla at present.

GOV. HUGHES MAKES RECORD.

Travels on Torpedo Boat Twenty-six Miles an Hour to Celebration.

Special to The New York Times.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Gov. Hughes was the central figure to-day in the Kingston part of the up-river Hudson-Fulton Celebration. The Governor reviewed 5,000 paraders, was guest of honor at a luncheon and dinner, unveiled a memorial tablet, made three speeches, held a reception, and was cheered by a large part of the day's 30,000 visitors.

The Governor had other experiences, too, the most remarkable of which was as a passenger on the torpedo boat Worden, which broke all Hudson River speed records in coming here from Poughkeepsie by attaining a speed of twenty-six miles an hour.

Kingston's festivities began early this morning. Kingston Point Park, off which the Half Moon, the Clermont, and the accompanying flotilla anchored, in a vicinity thought by some writers to be that from which the original Half Moon first sighted the Catskills, was thronged when the vessels loomed up from below Esopus Lighthouse. A dozen tugs, headed by the towing steamer Norwich, the oldest boat navigating inland waters in the world, met the visitors below the lighthouse and every craft on the Hudson River and in Rondout Harbor screamed a welcome as the visitors came to anchor, following which a salute of twenty-one guns was fired. Yachts from many miles gathered.

After the parade Gov. Hughes spoke to 10,000 people. A sight particularly pleasing to him was a stand opposite the reviewing stand, where 500 school girls, dressed in orange and blue, waved American flags and sang patriotic songs.

FIGHT FOR PULITZER ESTATE.

Only Son of the Former Publisher to Take Legal Steps.

Walter Pulitzer, the author and magazine writer, said yesterday that the settlement of the estate of his father, Albert Pulitzer, the former New York publisher, who committed suicide in Vienna Sunday, which is said to amount to several millions, has been placed, by him in the hands of his family's attorneys, John R. Dos Passos and Louis S. Posner.

The following written statement was given out last night at the house of Louis S. Posner, Walter Pulitzer's attorney, 158 East Seventy-ninth Street:

> Walter Pulitzer is the only child and heir-at-law of Albert Pulitzer. As such he intends to assert and vigorously protect his rights in his father's estate, which is believed to be very large. Steps in this direction will be taken sooner or later, but not till his father is buried.
>
> I shall act as attorney for Walter Pulitzer, but proceedings will be under the direction of Mr. John R. Dos Passos of 20 Broad Street, who was an old friend and attorney of Albert Pulitzer. Until proceedings are begun here I cannot say anything further.
>
> LOUIS S. POSNER.
> 20 Broad Street.

Walter Pulitzer is an only child and the sole heir. He had just returned from his honeymoon when the news of his father's death was received. His wife was formerly Miss Lillian W. Hearne of San Francisco.

Mrs. Albert Pulitzer died last June.

VIENNA, Oct. 5.—The will of Albert Pulitzer, who committed suicide here on Sunday, was opened to-day and it disclosed that Mr. Pulitzer had disposed of all but $200,000 of his fortune. Of this amount a part is left to the Vienna Ambulance Society. There are several small legacies and the remainder goes to his son, Walter Pulitzer. The estate is to be disposed of under the Austrian law.

It is rumored that the testament will be contested on account of Mr. Pulitzer's mental condition, and because a later will is said to exist in Paris. It is reported that Mr. Pulitzer had suffered heavy financial losses in South African speculation. Another part of his fortune, about $800,000, by arrangement with several London and Paris insurance companies, afforded him a fixed annual income, and this part of his capital, it is said, will go to the companies.

Friends in New York have cabled expressing the wish that Mr. Pulitzer's remains be sent there. His brother, Joseph Pulitzer, however, has arranged for the funeral to be held in Vienna on Wednesday, with interment in the Jewish cemetery. Joseph Pulitzer will be unable to attend, owing to illness, but has sent his secretary to represent him.

CONTEST OVER WARD WILL.

Daughter, Disinherited, to Fight for Share in His Estate.

The suit of Mrs. Jennie de Grasse Monahan against her brothers is to be tried in the October Term of the Supreme Court in Riverhead, L. I. Mrs. Monahan, who is the daughter of the late George Barclay Ward, was cut off entirely from a share in his $200,000 estate.

George Barclay Ward made his will in bed a few hours before he died, lawyers having been brought to his home in automobiles. Miss McAllister, daughter of the late Ward McAllister, was summoned hastily to his bedside from New York. They were said to have been engaged to be married for fifteen years. When she reached Mr. Ward's bedside she was urged to marry him at once. She telephoned to her mother in the city and consulted with a friend. She was advised not to consent to a deathbed marriage, it was said, and finally decided not to accede to her betrothed's wish.

ACCUSED OF MANY FORGERIES.

E. H. Schlange Arrested in Newark After Fight with Detectives.

Charged with forging the name of Frederick Matts, a maker of automobile tops at 491 Washington Avenue, Newark, to checks aggregating more than $800, Eugene H. Schlange, a member of an old and wealthy St. Louis family, was arrested in Broad Street, Newark, last night by Detective Sergeants Frank W. Tuite and John Horter after a lively struggle.

The warrant of arrest was issued last Friday. Schlange, who had been in the employ of Matts since last June as bookkeeper and confidential clerk, disappeared simultaneously with the discovery by Matts and the Union National Bank of Newark of a series of forgeries. Inquiry in this city disclosed the fact that he is wanted here and that detectives of other cities and Pinkerton men have been searching for him for several months.

The charges here he must answer after the Newark authorities get through with him for passing checks with the forged signature of William T. Peach & Co., custom tailors at 239 Broadway.

When Schlange was arrested he was on his way to the Continental Hotel, where he had received his mail. Detectives Tuite and Horter are among the strong men of the Newark Detective Department, and Schlange is 6 feet tall and strongly built.

When the detectives took hold of him he easily threw them off. Then Horter knocked him down, and before Schlange could get up he had been handcuffed. He was taken to police headquarters, but declined to talk.

Schlange is 27 years old, says he is a broker, and a graduate of the University of St. Louis and of Cornell. He was well dressed and wore diamonds. The Newark detectives say that Schlange was married to a Miss Schubert, a niece of Busch, of the Anheuser Busch firm in St. Louis, and that she divorced him four months ago. He was a member of the leaf tobacco firm of Schlange's Sons of St. Louis, which had been conducted by his grandfather and his father.

At the death of his father Schlange took over the business, but went such a pace that a year ago he was obliged to take $60,000 from the estate and quit. He has since spent that money.

Last June, when Schlange obtained a place with Matts as bookkeeper in Newark, his general bearing quickly ingratiated him in the confidence of his new employer. On Friday Mr. Matts remarked that he was going to the Union Bank for some money. Schlange disappeared as soon as Matts went out.

At the bank Matts was astounded to learn that his account had been wiped out, and declared that checks shown to him and made out to Schlange were all forgeries.

Carmania Breaks an Ocean Record.

The Cunard liner Carmania arrived yesterday at the Ambrose Channel Lightship at 11:19 A. M., after making the passage in 6 days, 5 hours, and 54 minutes at an average speed of 18.54 knots. This beats the record for her class of steamships by 1 hour and 15 minutes. Her runs were 454, 454, 456, 447, 469, and 461.

HUNDRED INDORSE REPUBLICAN TICKET

Some Labor Members Make a Protest, but Are Outvoted, 47 to 22.

DOUBTFUL ABOUT BANNARD

Don't Know Much About Him, Says Labor's Spokesman—Woodruff Gives Way on the Brooklyn Slate.

The Committee of One Hundred, meeting last night in the Fifth Avenue Building, adopted resolutions at midnight accepting Otto T. Bannard as its candidate for Mayor. Chairman Outerbridge, in calling for the vote, told all in favor of Mr. Bannard's nomination to go to the north side of the room. Forty-seven favored the nomination out of the sixty-nine present, the labor men being the principal dissentients.

A motion was then made to accept the balance of the fusion ticket, and this was adopted, but not unanimously.

The meeting, which followed immediately upon a meeting of the Committee on Candidates of that organization, was stormy from the beginning. There were present some sixty members of the committee, a greater number than has attended a meeting for months.

The meetings of the committee have always been held behind closed doors. As soon as last night's meeting was called to order, William A. Coakley, who has been the spokesman for the labor men in the committee, and is Vice Chairman of the organization, moved that reporters be admitted, and his motion prevailed.

Recommendations on Candidates.

Secretary Joseph M. Price of the committee, after reading the letter of Henry L. Stimson extolling Candidate Bannard, which is printed elsewhere in THE TIMES, read the report adopted by the Committee on Candidates. In this it was recommended that the Hundred indorse the nominees of the Republican City Committee, that George McAneny be indorsed as nominee for Borough President of Manhattan, Alfred E. Steers for Borough President of Brooklyn, and George Cromwell for Borough President of Richmond. All these have either been nominated by the Republican organization or slated for the offices for which the Committee on Candidates wanted them indorsed. The Borough Presidencies for the Bronx and for Queens the committee left open. It was recommended that the nominees of the New York County Republican Convention and the proposed nominees on the slate for the Kings County Republican Convention be indorsed.

The resolution said:

> Whereas, The Committee of One Hundred was called into existence for the purpose of securing a trustworthy, capable, and non-partisan administration in the City of New York, and
>
> Whereas, The above ticket is the result of the Fusion conferences called together by the invitation of this Committee of One Hundred and is a non-partisan ticket of trustworthy and capable men, therefore, be it
>
> Resolved, That this committee will support the ticket above named.

Protests from Labor Men.

The representatives of organized labor, who are disgruntled, in the first place, because one of their number did not get a place on the slate for the Board of Estimate, and in the second place because their list of Mayoralty nominees, beginning with Justise Gaynor, received only scant consideration from the fusion conference, were on hand in numbers and prepared to make trouble. They had a carefully mapped out programme, decided upon at a meeting held earlier in the evening, and had selected William A. Coakley as their spokesman. No sooner had the report been read than Mr. Coakley got up.

"When was this report adopted?" he asked.

Chairman Outerbridge replied that it had been adopted at a meeting of the Committee on Candidates, held just prior to the meeting of the full committee; that the meeting had waited half an hour for Mr. Coakley, and had then gone ahead without him.

Julius Henry Cohen of the Hundred and the Citizens' Union at this point submitted that Mr. Coakley was out of order, anyway, because he was not speaking to the motion before the meeting.

Mr. Cohen added that if there was going to be any unpleasantness they had better exclude reporters and have it out among themselves. He made formal motion that the committee go into executive session.

There was some wrangling over this. Chairman Outerbridge decided that the Cohen motion took precedence over everything else and asked if there was any debate.

"There is," allowed Coakley. "I understand that this committee was committed to open sessions. When we go before the public, let us go before it clean. Why should we be afraid of letting the people know what we are doing? I am not afraid."

He went on to say that he had not received notice of the meeting at all. Mr. Outerbridge insisted that the notices had been sent out in the regular way.

A Clash with Julius Henry Cohen.

"Has the gentleman been answered?" asked Julius Henry Cohen.

"Is the gentleman of the Citizens' Union, with his lawyer's education, going to do all the talking?" rejoined the irrepressable Coakley.

Mr. Coakley then went ahead and made a bitter attack on the Committee of One Hundred and its Chairman.

"We will listen to anything that sounds at all like a communion of thought," said Mr. Cohen, "but we all, or nearly all, have some self-respect left, and we are not going to submit to any abuse."

"These lawyers are always choking us off with their points of order," shouted Coakley. "Remember that points of order are not always points of justice. We want an honest citizens' ticket, but we don't want it jammed down our throats."

"Point of order again," shouted Mr. Cohen. "Nobody is trying to ram any candidate down Mr. Coakley's throat. It's he who is trying to jam himself down ours."

"Mr. Coakley," said Chairman Outerbridge with mild reproach, "this is neither the time nor place for anybody to lose his temper."

"This committee was created to be a kite and not a tail. If we swallow this ticket we'll be nothing but the tail of the Republican kite. Mr Cohen and Chairman William Jay Schieffelin are trying to steer this committee in a certain direction where some of us may not want to follow," declared Mr. Coakley.

So it went for nearly a quarter of an hour, when somebody suddenly remembered that the motion before the committee was to oust the reporters. Chairman Outerbridge put the motion, and it was defeated. Mr. Outerbridge did not look sorry, but some other members had a look of blank despair on their faces after there had been a counting of noses.

Mr. Coakley went on to say that neither he nor his confrères knew the first thing about the character and standing of the SOLDIER SHOT AT SEA GIRT.

Brooklyn Guardsman Wounded at Target Practice and Is Expected to Die.

Special to The New York Times.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Oct. 5.—James Buldman, 18 years old, of Brooklyn, a member of the Fourteenth Regiment, New York, was shot this morning while at target practice at Camp Fort, Sea Girt. He was brought to the Monmouth Memorial Hospital here, and the chances are that he will die. The bullet entered his abdomen, punctured his intestines several times, and emerged at his back.

He and others had come down to practice and were to shoot on the range later to qualify as marksmen. A score of men were firing over the range. It is sair there was an accidental discharge of a cartridge by a man some distance down the line while his gun was resting across his arm and at right angles to the line of fire.

THIRTY DIE IN A MINE.

Sixty Entombed by Firedamp Explosion—Mine Burning.

NANAIMO, B. C., Oct. 5.—Thirty lives are known to have been lost in a firedamp explosion that entombed sixty men in the Extension mine of the Wellington Colliery Company here to-day. Twenty-five of the imprisoned men were rescued, but the rapidly spreading fire prevented the rescuers from completing their work. Eight bodies were recovered and the workers late to-night were making every effort to force further entrance into the two levels affected by the explosion in an effort to save any who may be living and to recover the bodies of the dead before they are consumed.

The fire was constantly gaining headway to-night, and while it continues there is little hope of the rescuers being able to reach the imprisoned men. All the men rescued were badly injured.

The Wellington Colliery Company, which owns the Extension mine, is controlled by British Columbia capital. Lieut. Gov. James Dunsmuir is the head of the corporation.

BIG BALLOONS STILL UP.

Only One of St. Louis Racers Is Known to Have Landed.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—Absence of reports as to the whereabouts of the balloons which started in the race of the 78,000 cubic-footers yesterday tends to the belief that all, with the exception of the University City, are still in the air. The University City, John Berry, pilot, landed near Chillicothe, Mo., late this afternoon. This is 185 miles from St. Louis on an air line.

The balloons were expected to remain in the air forty hours, and as the day was not hot, the aeronauts would not have to use much ballast. The University City, which won the Indianapolis race, was in bad condition when it sailed from here, many patches being put on the gas bag as it was being inflated.

The winner of the race for balloons of 40,000 cubic feet capacity must be decided by official measurement by the St. Louis Aero Club. The two contenders, Missouri and Peoria, landed within practically the same distance of this city to-day, the former at Hibernia, Mo., about 120 miles west, and the Peoria at Levins, Ill., north of Cairo.

The Peoria's pilot, J. W. Bemis, reported that he crossed the Mississippi River four times and the Ohio River three times.

MIX ALONE UNREPORTED.

Other Balloons in Gordon Bennett Race Have All Landed.

ZURICH, Oct. 5.—All of the balloons in the international race for the Gordon Bennett cup have now come to earth and been reported except the America, piloted by Edgar W. Mix of Columbus, Ohio. This encourages still further the hope that the prize will go to the American contestant.

All but six of the seventeen balloons were reported last night. The five reported to-day were as follows:

Le Blanc landed at Zarzriva, Hungary, yesterday afternoon at 2:30. Beauclair, one of the Swiss contestants, landed this afternoon at Posnitz, in Silesia; Messner, the other Swiss pilot, landed this afternoon near Kreuzburg, Silesia. The Belgian pilot Geerts landed Monday morning near Huehnerwasser, Bohemia, and Meckel of Germany made a successful descent Monday afternoon in Trencsin, Hungary.

$1,000,000 SUIT SETTLED.

Discoverers of Famous Portland Mine Had Fought in Many Courts.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, Oct. 5.—The $1,000,000 Doyle-Burns mining suit, which had been in the courts of this State for several years, has been settled. The terms are not known.

The Doyle-Burns suit is one of the most noted in the history of mining litigation. Doyle and burns were the discoverers of the great Portland Mine at Cripple Creek. After the property had been disposed of to a stock company suit was filed in Colorado by Doyle against Burns asking $1,000,000 as his share of the transaction.

Burns obtained an injunction prohibiting Doyle from bringing action in the Colorado courts. This injunction was ignored by Doyle, who spent some months in prison for contempt of court. After his release Doyle took the case to the Iowa courts and got judgment for $650,000. Burns appealed the case and secured a new trial. A verdict in his favor followed. Doyle then appealed the case again, and it was the retrial secured by Doyle, which was to have been heard, when the suit was settled to-day.

TAMMANY NAMES ITS COUNTY TICKET

George Gordon Battle Draws the Nomination for District Attorney.

C. D. SULLIVAN FOR SHERIFF

Bowery Shouts Its Approval of the Choice—Haag Chosen for Borough President.

For District Attorney—GEORGE GORDON BATTLE.

For Sheriff—CHRISTOPHER D. SULLIVAN.

For County Clerk—JAMES J. HAGAN.

For Register—JOHN L. GOLDWATER.

For Justices of the Supreme Court—CHARLES H. TRUAX, FRANCIS K. PENDLETON, JOHN J. DELANY.

For Judge of the City Court—GEORGE F. ROESCH.

For Borough President—JOSEPH HAAG.

For Coroners—PETER ACRITELLI, JULIUS HARBURGER, GEORGE F. SHRADY, and E. T. McCRYSTAL.

Tammany nominated this ticket for county and borough offices last night before a throng in the big assembly hall of the Fourteenth Street Wigwam.

With the single exception of Francis K. Pendleton, one of the nominees for the Supreme Court, all of the candidates named have been actively identified with the organization. It was a typical Tammany convention, and one of the largest and noisest ever held in the city. The nomination of Christopher D. Sullivan, one of the most popular of the Bowery leaders of the organization, for Sheriff was greeted with the tooting of horns, stamping and shouting, compared with which the reception which was given to the naming of Justice Gaynor for Mayor at Carnegie Hall last week appeared like a whisper.

The complete list of nominees was not decided upon by Leader Charles F. Murphy and his advisers until the last moment. The slate had been changed several times during the last few days, and it was not until the nominating speeches were made last night that the organization knew what was the decree.

The County Convention was set for 7:30, and long before that hour the big assembly hall was crowded to the doors. Every seat in the body of the hall and the gallery was occupied. The stairs leading from the street up through the lobby of the Wigwam to the hall were jammed with late comers scrambling to get in. So great was the crush that had not a score of policemen been on hand there would undoubtedly have been serious trouble.

Leader Murphy, Daniel F. Cohalan, and his other chief advisers were still in conference, and it was not till nearly 9 o'clock that Thomas F. McAvoy called the meeting to order and started to read the roll of some 1,800 names. The crowd was very impatient by this time, and Mr. McAvoy was repeatedly interrupted with handclapping and stamping. He finally announced Benjamin F. Hoffman, Judge of the Municipal Court, as Chairman.

The County Platform.

The usual order of things in simply indorsing the city platform was departed from, and Senator Thomas F. Grady read a separate county platform. It included lengthy praise of Justice Gaynor, Robert R. Moore, and John F. Galvin, the Tammany nominees for Mayor, Controller, and President of the Aldermen. The applause that greeted the mention of the names of the last two far overshadowed that given to Justice Gaynor.

The platform in glowing terms declared for "a pure ballot," municipal control of subways, "a school seat for every child," and condemned congestion and overcrowding of population. It concluded with "we believe in the greatness of our city, with highest hopes for its future, and are determined that the administration of its affairs shall not be surrendered to those whose identification with the metropolis is that they are the most constant of its defamers."

The convention then proceeded to the nominations. Justice Truax was renominated by Judge Jacob Marks of the Municipal Court. The seconding speech was made by Assistant Corporation Counsel Cornelius F. Collins. The election was made by the very simple method of the Secretary casting one ballot.

Thomas F. Smith, Secretary of Tammany, then nominated Mr. Delany. The choice was made unanimous, the Secretary again casting the vote.

Mr. Pendleton was placed in nomination by R. Burnham Moffett, who was at one time mentioned for the place. One ballot sufficed again.

Jeremiah Mahoney, head of the Law and Adjustment Department of the Controller's office, named Judge Roesch. The rubber stamp was again applied by a single vote.

When ex-Police Commissioner McAdoo arose to nominate Mr. Battle the discipline of the organization was felt again in the naming of a candidate by one who had himself been an aspirant for the place. The nomination was loudly applauded. Abram I. Elkus, another near-candidate for the District Attorneyship, followed with the seconding speech.

The Bowery Acclaims Him.

Senator Grady nominated "Christie" Sullivan for Sheriff. As he took the platform a chorus of the popular Bowery leader's friends, who had been informed that he was slated for Foley's place, burst forth into a thunderous din of tin horns. Grady started off with glowing praise of Foley. The instant he mentioned "Christie" the din broke out anew, and this time it was kept up for fully five minutes. It was started every time his name was spoken. Congressman Goldfogle seconded the nomination.

Deputy Controller Phillips nominated Hogan. This was also received with loud cheers and tin horns.

Maurice Deiches named Mr. Goldwater.

After the appointment of the usual committees the convention adjourned at 11 o'clock.

The Borough Convention, which was scheduled for 9:30, assembled immediately. Judge Wauhope Lynn of the Municipal Court was elected Chairman.

Lawson Purdy, President of the Board of Tax Commissioners, nominated Mr. Haag for Borough President. The nomination was seconded by Justice Guy of the Supreme Court. He said that it was due to Mr. Haag's ability and integrity more than anything else that every Controller in the last quarter of a century had been able to leave the office with a good record behind him.

Coroners Acritelli, Harburger, and

Shrady were then renominated. The nomination for the place now held by Coroner Dooley, whose term also expires at the end of the year, was given to a new man.

WHO THE CANDIDATES ARE.

Brief Sketches of Those Placed on the Tammany Ticket.

George Gordon Battle, the Tammany nominee for District Attorney, is one of the best-known lawyers in the city and has had experience in the office of District Attorney. He first attracted public notice through his association with Bartow S. Weeks as counsel for Roland B. Molineux at his first trial. Prior to this he had been an Assistant District Attorney under De Lancey Nicoll.

In 1897 he joined forces with Mr. Weeks in the firm of Weeks & Battle, which was afterward known as Weeks, Battle & Marshall. Still later, with the withdrawal of Mr. Weeks, the firm became Battle & Marshall. Mr. Battle is a member of the Southern Society, the Bar Association, and the Calumet and Seneca Clubs.

Christopher D. Sullivan is a brother of "Big Florrie" Sullivan, and assumed the leadership of his district, the Eighth, on the latter's death a short time ago.

Joseph Haag is best known as Secretary of the Board of Estimate, in which capacity he has served for some time.

Mr. Delany was Corporation Counsel under Mayor McClellan during 1904-5-6.

Mr. Pendleton is a personal friend of Mayor McClellan and has been his Corporation Counsel since the retirement of William B. Ellison.

Judge Roesch is an old Tammany henchman, and is promoted from the Municipal Court.

Mr. Goldwater is a Bronx druggist. He was an Alderman in 1900 and 1903 and also served as Commissioner of the Board of Education.

E. T. McCrystal, who was nominated to succeed Coroner Dooley, is at present the private secretary of Supreme Court Justice Hendrick.

HEARST FOR GAYNOR.

Tells a Newspaper He Will Not be a Candidate for Mayor.

William R. Hearst, in answer to four questions put to him by a morning newspaper, said early this morning that he will not run for Mayor, and favors Judge Gaynor for the Mayoralty.

"ULTIMATUM" FOR McCARREN.

Bolt Threatened If He Dares to Nominate McCooey for Borough President.

Brooklyn politicians experienced an uncanny feeling last night when they heard that the "Kings County Democratic Party" had delivered an "ultimatum" to Senator McCarren, to the effect that if he attempted to name a candidate for Borough President bearing the McCarren stamp, the aforesaid resurrected "Kings County Democratic Party" would get real peevish and revolt.

When the lanky Senator heard of this he seemed stunned, but the shock was due to the revelation that the "Kings County Democratic Party" had disinterred itself, rather than to the ultimatum.

"Alas, poor Yorick, I knew him well!" mused the Senator. "But when did he come to life?"

The "Kings County Democratic Party" is one of the fifty-seven varieties of anti-McCarren organizations in Brooklyn which are unselfishly devoted to the work of purifying Democratic politics in the county by pushing the McCarren men out of public office and pulling themselves in.

It is said that the "Kings County Democratic Party" had learned that McCarren was planning to name Deputy Controller John H. McCooey or some man close to him for Borough President. The "Kings County Democratic Party" says that this shall not be, and threatens to run a ticket of its own or fuse with other bodies if McCarren doesn't come to terms.

Its County Committee last night indorsed the Tammany city ticket.

TO NOTIFY GAYNOR TO-DAY.

Notable Absence of Tammany Regulars from the Notifiers.

Justice William J. Gaynor, Robert R. Moore, and John F. Galvin will be officially notified of their nomination on the Tammany city ticket at Justice Gaynor's home, in Brooklyn, at 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. A committee of twenty, headed by Judge Thomas F. Donnelly, will go over to Brooklyn, for the ceremony. It was remarked yesterday when the committee was announced that it included none of the Tammany "regulars." The only names that would catch the eye were Joseph Cassidy, Payne Whitney, Charles J. McCormack, and Congressman Fitzgerald.

Leader Murphy said yesterday that no plans for the campaign had yet been made and that he had not been in communication with Justice Gaynor since his nomination. Headquarters have not yet been selected.

STEP IN AND SEE HORRORS MUSEUM

Voters Flocking to the Exhibit Intended to Show Tammany Misrule.

HINTS FROM THE BARNYARD

The Cow and the Milkmaids—Polar Exploration of a Brand-New Kind.

"Step right in and see Tammany's Chamber of Horrors," a leather-lunged man yells through a megaphone at the entrance to a large building at Sixteenth Street and Union Square every week day from 10 A. M. until 11 P. M. Inside are object lessons in concrete form intended to show how Tammany rules the city. They have been devised by the Committee of One Hundred, and are labeled "The Citizens' Exhibit."

One trip through the blood-curdling chamber is supposed to be enough to make a Tammany voter waver and a wavering voter enroll immediately under the Republican Bannard. A campaign argument just like it has never been seen before in the city, and its popularity is attested by the crowds thronging the rooms all day long.

The exhibit which attracts the most attention is a dyspeptic looking papier-maché cow in the window with this label pasted upon it: "How Tammany divides the cow with you, the renter. Tammany gives you the front part to feed; Tammany keeps the milking privilege." A fodder box in front bears the sign: "This is the City Treasury in which you pour your taxes, that is, your rent." This bit of doggerel also is supposed to aid the understanding of the situation:

> How thrive our milkmaids! Tammany said;
> As well as the cow with high taxes is fed.
> The people the front end are given to feed,
> The rear end to milk sates old Tammany's greed.

A placard on the wall contains this further illuminating lesson:

> Who milked the cow so nearly dry? The Board of Estimate, Tammany's milkmaids. When is the cow milked? Chiefly in October, when Tammany's milkmaids vote. How much milk can the cow give? All you can feed her, but not any more. Moral: Mr. Taxpayer and Mr. Rentpayer, don't cry over spilt milk. Get a new set of milkmaids.

Another exhibit is a meek-looking lion and a meeker-looking lamb standing side by side with this explanation in red type:

> The lion and the lamb shall lie down together, but it's only a goat that lets the tiger lie down on it. Remember that on Nov. 2. Where are you in the menagerie?

Polar Exploration.

A cartoon which attracts particular attention shows the top of the earth, with Charles F. Murphy affectionately hugging the north pole. A tiger, hitched to an Eskimo sledge, lies close by. Crosses show the "furthest north" of other Tammany explorers, including Swartwout in 1833 and Tweed and Croker in later years. Next to Murphy Croker got "furthest north." The caption is:

> Reached at last, the north pole of municipal graft.

A grinning head of a tiger at one end of the room is labeled:

> Tammany should be considered innocent until it is proved she has stolen or wasted all the taxpayer's money. Give us a chance at what you have left.

A homely box of scrubbing soap points a moral to the growth of corporate stock. The soap, it is explained, costs $1 cash and $2.44 if paid for by fifty-year 4 per cent. corporate stock.

At the far end of the main room is a large tank of water, in which floats the model of an ocean liner. It is labeled "The Ship of New York, the passengers number 4,500,000." Scattered about are placards bearing these apothegms: "In the midst of life we are in debt," "Eat, drink, and make merry; after us the deluge," "It is better to receive your taxes than to give anything in return." Another cartoon called "The Municipal Joy Ride to the Catskill Mountains" shows Murphy and a group of merry city officials in an automobile running over a little chap labeled "Taxpayer."

One of the most popular exhibits is a model of the Brooklyn Bridge showing Justice Gaynor leading a willing tiger over to Brooklyn. He looks happy, too, and beneath is this sentence from a recent statement of his: "The hour has struck; it is the will of God." This exhibit will soon be taken over to Brooklyn for the edification of its inhabitants.

On the four walls of the room are hundreds of placards containing arguments against keeping Tammany in power. Under the heading, "The Story and Shame of the Queensboro Bridge," it is set forth in red ink that Tammany wasted $8,000,000 in the building of that structure and that it is now nothing but an automobile highway.

Some Large Figures.

Another placard says: "Burglary insurance is all right, but the only way to keep Tammany out of your pay envelope is to keep Tammany out of office," and another: "Tammany is stealing from New York between $38,000,000 and $50,000,000 every year. That means from $8.40 to $11 from every man, woman, and child"; still another: "Salome may be bad to see, but it is worse still to see Tammany stealing from you by giving these enormously valuable advertising spaces on Riverside Drive free to the Sullivan clique." Below is a photograph of the spaces.

Another photograph shows a section of Hanover Square with this label: "This valuable space is given free to one of Tammany's henchmen. It is worth $1,000 to you." A long row of placards shows how many Tammany district leaders are supposed to occupy public offices and draw a salary from the city and how many contractors there are among Tammany district leaders.

But it is in the basement that the real horror exhibit is kept. A large placard at the head of the stairs leading to it has this inscription:

"Mme. Toussaud's Chamber of Horrors was bad, but Tammany's Chamber of Horrors is simply awful. It doesn't cost you anything to see, but it costs you millions to pay for it."

On the walls in the dim light is a strip of cloth encircling the entire room. It contains six rows of small silhouetted figures which might be pictures of countless souls in perdition. Red letters on a placard reveal the mystery, however. It is Tammany's graveyard. The silhouettes are intended to represent the total number of males and females between fifteen and sixty-nine years of age who died in New York in 1908 from a few preventable diseases. There are 13,042 in all.

One of the walls is given up to an exhibit of tuberculosis figures. "Dr. Woods Hutchinson estimates that consumption in New York can be exterminated for $16,278,000," the placard says.

> The waste through inefficiency on the Queensboro Bridge was $8,000,000. The waste through leakage and theft of water at regular rates in 1908 was $9,700,000. Had this waste been prevented, consumption could have been exterminated in New York and $1,422,000 left for transit.

"Tammany's Cruelty to Children," "The Relation Between Tuberculosis and Taxation," "Tammany's Rule of Leases" are other subjects dealt with in large letters and figures.

New exhibits are being added to the collection daily.

BANNARD ALREADY BUSY.

Offers of Support Coming In—W. B. Hornblower Is for Him.

Otto T. Bannard's headquarters in the Fifth Avenue Building were one of the busiest places in town yesterday. There was a constant procession there of men who brought offers of support and suggestions for the campaign manager.

W. B. Hornblower, the lawyer, a Cleveland Democrat, wrote Mr. Bannard yesterday to tell him that he would give him his support in the Mayoralty fight. Mr. Hornblower's letter is only one of many that reach the candidate from the enemy's camp.

Mr. Bannard has already started campaign work. Last night he dined at the University Settlement at 95 Rivington Street, and afterward made an automobile tour in the old Eighth Assembly District. To-morrow evening he will attend an Italian affair, the Verrazzano festival, in Madison Square Garden. Later he will go to the Aldermanic Convention in his home district, the Twenty-ninth. Mr. Bannard is a delegate.

On Thursday evening the candidate will be the guest of honor at a reception given to him by the Harlem Republican Club, and afterward will attend the congestion exhibition at 29 Union Square. Mr. Bannard expects to make a speech at the club, but none at the exhibition. On Friday evening he will address the ratification meeting at Cooper Union and a ratification meeting in his home district. In the afternoon he will receive the Kings County Republican Executive Committee at his headquarters.

Next Sunday evening Mr. Bannard will speak in the Manhattan Congregational Church, Broadway and Seventy-sixth Street, on "The City's Needs and What Thoughtful Men Can Do." John Purroy Mitchel will accompany Mr. Bannard and will speak on the same subject.

Mr. Bannard was asked yesterday whether ex-Police Commissioner Bingham would be on the Republican list of speakers.

"He will not be one of our regular speakers," Mr. Bannard replied. "I have had a talk with Gen. Bingham. He will fill some engagements, mainly in churches and lecture halls, which he has made. Gen. Bingham told me he was going to St. Louis before long, so I don't believe he will stay here throughout the campaign.

"There is one rumor I should like to set at rest. People are wondering whether, if elected, I would appoint Gen. Bingham Police Commissioner. It should be made clear that the provisions of the city charter make this impossible in the case of a man who has been removed from the office."

The West Side Republican Club will ratify the nominations on Tuesday evening at its clubhouse, 2,307 Broadway.

Modern Culture Demands At Least An Acquaintance With Good Music

THERE is no necessity for one to be a writer to be familiar with good literature. Neither is it now requisite to be a musician in order to become acquainted with good music.

Some knowledge of both these branches of art is demanded by the usages of polite society.

THE PIANOLA PIANO

Has made Music as accessible as Literature

After you have become the owner of a PIANOLA Piano, the only limits to your musical education will be your own inclination. The works of Beethoven, Chopin, Schumann, Liszt and Mendelssohn, are within as easy reach as Shakespeare, Thackeray, Balzac, Hugo or Eliot.

Moreover, and this is an important point, you will enjoy the process of playing a musical composition even more than you enjoy reading a favorite author.

It will be more fascinating, because calling for the exercise of whatever artistic feeling you possess.

Besides its immense value as a means of broadening your mental horizon, the PIANOLA Piano is the greatest fun provider ever invented. Your children, most of your friends and you yourself in your lighter moments will greatly appreciate this.

Wouldn't it be worth your while to investigate this instrument, which has given to so many others a liberal education in music and a thorough enjoyment of the art?

CAUTION: The superior methods of construction and exclusive features of control have made the PIANOLA and PIANOLA PIANO the Standard instruments of their type. Remember that the name "PIANOLA" applies only to the instruments made by the Aeolian Co.

PIANOLA PIANOS cost $550 to $1150. PIANOLAS cost $250 to $450.
Moderate Monthly Payments.

HOUSE MAY TAKE UP PARSONS'S CHARGES

Inquiry by Select Committee Probable—Expect Fight Over Committee Memberships.

MAY BE A ROOSEVELT MOVE

Observers at Capital Think That Parsons Is Trying to Throw Out Anti-Roosevelt Men.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Herbert Parson's charges of a political deal whereby Cannonism was supported in the House by Democratic votes may lead to an official investigation by a select committee of the House, according to a growing opinion here. The increasing bitterness of the published statements from Mr. Parsons and his up-State enemies has led politicians to think that something will come of the matter when the accused Congressmen as well as the Speaker and his coterie get together in December.

An investigation before a select committee is about the only course open to the House members. That was the method pursued in disposing of the charges of bribery brought against an indefinite number of House members by the late Gov. Lilley of Connecticut when he was a member of the House. If that method is pursued the real fight would come in the appointment of the committee. If the accused Democrats and the organization have the majority with them the appointments will be left entirely in the hands of the Speaker. If Mr. Parsons has backing sufficient, and the insurgents as a body are almost sure to support him, he may try to incorporate into the resolution for the investigation the names of the committee to conduct it, in that way securing a favorable hearing for his charges.

It is considered certain that the question of an investigation will be put squarely up to the House by one side or the other. Mr. Parsons, at present not a very potent figure in the House, will be under great pressure to make good his extreme charges. If he is reluctant to push his charges there are nine Southern Democrats who are indirectly implicated, and it is almost certain that they will do something to square themselves with their constituents.

The nine Democrats who voted against their party for the Cannon rules under the leadership of Representative Fitzgerald, a McCarrenite of Brooklyn, were Broussard and Estopinal of Louisiana, Moon of Tennessee, Brantley, Edwards, Griggs, Howard, and Livingston of Georgia, and Bartlett of Nevada. Of these Mr. Moon gave out a statement for home consumption to the effect that he feared a modification of the rules would unseat him from his committees, thereby rendering him less able to work for his constituents. The Georgians and Louisianans were influenced by tariff considerations.

Politicians in Washington are strongly of the opinion that so prudent a man as Herbert Parsons must have something important in view when he comes out so squarely against such a large part of his own party. The general view now is that he intends first to have all excuses for failure ready in advance in case the city election should be carried by Tammany.

But that reason is considered only the least important. In the House Mr. Parsons was President Roosevelt's accredited representative, just as he was in New York State politics, and the blow at the organization in Washington and at the up-State men who opposed Rooseveltism in New York is considered here the first move for the concentration of a Roosevelt party by putting Roosevelt men in control of the New York State Convention.

Mr. Parsons has already announced his intention of carrying his charges to the convention. Such a move could hardly mean less than a determination to unseat the men in the Republican ranks whom he alleged to be implicated in the Cannon deal. As they are all anti-Roosevelt, their disposition would mean the complete submission of the party of the State to such straight-out Roosevelt men as Parsons and Loeb.

Whether Parsons is taking all these steps with a view to the return of Mr. Roosevelt from Africa and with an eye to possibilities at the next Presidential election is a question much under consideration here now.

DEFENDS RAINES APPOINTMENT.

Metz Says Politics Didn't Enter Into Selection of Senator's Son.

Controller Metz denied emphatically yesterday that politics dictated the appointment of Charles Raines, Senator Raines's son, auditor of accounts in the Finance Department. He said Senator Raines did not know of the appointment until after it had been made.

"Any one who says there was a political dicker over the matter," he declared, "is a prevaricator. I needed ten men as auditors of accounts at the beginning of last year, and after a great deal of negotiation obtained permission to appoint men who were not on the civil service list.

"I discussed the matter with Van Dusen, who is now one of these auditors of accounts. I meant to take four Democrats from Tammany and four from Brooklyn. But I found that Tammany had just appointed several license clerks in Brooklyn to help Coler, and so I told Sullivan that if he gave those places to Tammany he would get nothing from my office. So all the eight came from Brooklyn.

"I had never seen Charles Raines till he appeared in my office. He was brought in either by Van Dusen, I think, or by Charlies Murray, my late secretary. I liked him, but I told him I would not appoint him unless he could bring me proper letters of reference. He went away and came back with letters from Justice M. Linn Bruce, B. Frank Wood, John McCullagh, Fremont Cole, Charles H. Murray, and George T. Seward, President of the Fidelity and Casualty Company, 97 Cedar Street. These seemed satisfactory and I gave him the job. It was a few days later that I met Senator Raines at Albany. He said to me:

"'I hear my boy's with you.'

"'Yes,' said I, 'but he'll have to do his work to hold his job.'

"'That's right,' replied the Senator. 'See that he does his work well.'"

HEARST MEN TO NOMINATE.

Meeting To-night to Bring Out Strength of the Feeling for Leader.

At a meeting held last evening at the Hermitage Hotel in Seventh Avenue, the headquarters of Charles E. Gehring, Chairman of the County Committee of the Independence League, it was definitely decided by the leaders of the Independence League to nominate a full city ticket this Fall. The nominations will be made by petition.

If possible William R. Hearst will be forced to head the ticket as the League's Mayoralty candidate. In the event of Mr. Hearst declining to allow his name to go on the petition another name will be substituted. Who the candidates for the other offices are to be has not yet been decided, but it is certain that none of the candidates already nominated by the Democrats or Republicans, with the possible exception of Judge Whitman for District Attorney, will be considered.

Mr. Hearst was present at the meeting in the Hermitage and took an active part in the deliberations. He refused, however, to go on record as consenting to be the Independence League's candidate for Mayor. His final decision will depend a great deal upon the outcome of the mass meeting to be held this evening at Cooper Union.

Without the consent of either Mr. Hearst or Chairman Gehring, two of the league's most prominent members, Former Assemblyman James A. Allen and Dr. Joseph H. Byrne, went ahead and advertised to-night's meeting, which will be for the purpose of finding out just how the members of the league feel about having Mr. Hearst head the league's ticket.

was deemed the better, on condition that I was to lead the expedition if my plan was accepted. Mr. Peary declined to enter into the arrangement.

"I am willing to accept Mr. Peary's statement of what he has achieved, just as I am ready to accept Dr. Cook's. When they claim to have reached the pole I have no doubt that they mean and believe all they say, and that if they have not actually been at the pole itself, they have been so near it that only uncertainty or inaccuracy of observations may have stood between them and the northern extremity of the earth's axis."

Can Navigate Northwest Passage.

Capt. Bernier is deeply disappointed that his instructions did not permit him to make the dash for the pole, for which he had vainly sought the means and the authorization for more than twenty years.

He offers for $10,000 to take a suitable ship, like the Arctic, through the Northwest Passage from the Atlantic to the Pacific in one season. He cruised as far as Mercy Bay, and here there was abundant evidence that the locality had been visited by whalers from the Pacific Coast. Only his instructions prevented him from going on.

He left Quebec on July 28, 1908, and reached Etah on Aug. 19, leaving there in charge of Mr. Whitney some 4,000 pounds of supplies sent by Mrs. Cook for her husband. He narrowly missed Commander Peary, who had left Etah a few days before his arrival.

The Arctic was locked in the ice from Aug. 31, 1908, to Aug. 12 last, when the return home was made. A land party having walked 160 miles further west between May 1 and June 10 this year, said to be the furthest west ever made so far north. Plenty of open water was found. Capt. Bernier did not accompany this party, having a badly sprained back.

Bernier brought home records deposited in the north by Parry in 1819-20, when he claimed those northern lands for England and left records claiming all the islands of the arctic archipelago for Canada.

DR. COOK HAS A BAD COLD.

Tour May Be Interrupted—Gets Warm Reception in Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 5.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook is suffering from a severe cold and his lecture tour may be interrupted. He was very hoarse while delivering his lecture at Duquesne Gardens to-night, and it was with difficulty that he was heard at a distance.

From the time he left the train at the Union Station until he reached the Hotel Schenley, after passing through the principal streets in an automobile, Dr. Cook got a most hearty reception to-day. He was the guest of honor at a reception tendered by the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon.

He faced to-night an audience which packed Duquesne Gardens from pit to dome. He talked from notes concerning his trip to the north pole. He said his reception in Pittsburg rivaled in warmth any previous event of the kind he had experienced outside of New York City.

During the evening he refused to see newspaper men.

DANES STILL DISSATISFIED.

Do Not Want Report of University on Cook Held Back.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 5.—Prof. Torp, the rector of the university here, has received the following cablegram from Dr. Cook:

> The press reports are incorrect. My records will go to you first.
> FREDERICK A. COOK.

Dr. Cook's cablegram has created an excellent impression throughout Denmark, where it was reported yesterday that he had decided to submit his records to American scientific bodies before sending them to Copenhagen.

The Danish people, who are most anxious to ascertain the result of the examination of Dr. Cook's data, are dissatisfied, however, because of the further report that he will ask the university to keep its verdict secret until his records have been investigated by the geographical societies of the world.

Whitney to Hunt in Africa.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 5.—Harry Whitney, the big game hunter, arrived here to-day after several days spent in an endeavor to dodge the north pole controversy.

Mr. Whitney said that after a month's stay at home he would go south for the Winter and next year would shoot big game in Africa.

DINNER TO PEARY'S OFFICERS.

Scientists Entertain Them and Henson at the Union League Club.

A dinner was given last night at the Union League Club by a small group of scientists to the officers of the Roosevelt and members of Commander Peary's scientific staff who accompanied him on his successful quest of the pole. The only guest present not included in either class was Matt Henson, the Washington negro, who for twenty years has been Commander Peary's companion in all his expeditions, and was rewarded by Commander Peary by being the only member of the crew of the Roosevelt permitted to stand with him at the goal of half a lifetime of effort.

The affair was private and informal, and at the club no information as to who was present could be had. Those invited from the Roosevelt, however, were Capt. Robert A. Bartlett, Dr. John W. Goodsell, surgeon; Prof. Donald B. Macmillan of Worcester, Mass.; George Borup, the Yale athlete; George A. Wardwell, Chief Engineer, and Henson. Some of the others present who were active in getting up the dinner were Dr. Hermon C. Bumpus, Director of the American Museum of Natural History; Dr. Edmund O. Hovey, geologist of the same institution, and several members of the Peary Arctic Club.

The officers of the Roosevelt and the scientists who accompanied Commander Peary will leave to-day for their homes. All of these men were well known to the hosts of last night's dinner, and it was quickly decided not to permit the party to break up without a final meeting and leavetaking. Capt. Bartlett goes to St. John's, N. F.; Mr. Wardwell to Bucksport, Me.; Dr. Goodsell to Kensington, Penn., while Prof. Macmillan returns to Worcester.

His Fraternity Congratulates Peary.

The Council of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, of which Commander Robert E. Peary is a member, has sent to the Commander this telegram at his home in Eagle Island, Me.:

> The Council of Delta Kappa Epsilon, rejoicing over the safe return of our distinguished brother from the uttermost north, in the name of the fraternity congratulates you upon your unequaled achievement, and thanks you for the honor you have won for your country and D. K. E.
>
> ST. CLAIR HESTER, President.
> DAVID B. SIMPSON, Secretary.

Schurman Congratulates Peary.

This message from President J. G. Schurman of Cornell University to Commander Peary was received here yesterday from Ithaca, N. Y.:

> Robert E. Peary, New York:
> Cordial congratulations on your discovery of the north pole. Superb triumph of organization, skill, and endurance. Only regret Marvin is not here to share in your triumphs. J. G. SCHURMAN.

Aldermen Plan Reception to Cook.

The Aldermen appointed a committee yesterday to arrange a public reception for Dr. Frederick A. Cook. The matter was put in the hands of Aldermen Walsh, Bent, Gaynor, Hogan, and McDonald, and they were instructed to confer with Dr. Cook as to the date most convenient to him.

Whitman East Side Headquarters.

Ex-Judge Charles F. Whitman of General Sessions, who is a candidate for District Attorney on the fusion ticket, opened headquarters on the east side yesterday in Clinton Hall, 151 Clinton Street, installing Louis Zeltner of 9 Pitt Street as his east side manager. Mr. Zeltner reported last night that he had accepted the offers of several lawyers to go on the stump for Mr. Whitman.

CITY REGISTRATION BELOW THAT OF 1905

And Is 70,000 Lower Than That of the First Two Days of Last Year.

333,154 IN FIVE BOROUGHS

Republicans Not Greatly Worried—Parsons Says Decrease Shows Fraudulent Voters Are Kept Out.

With complete figures in from all the five boroughs, the city registration of 333,154 for the first two days this year falls more than 70,000 below the aggregate of the two first days' registration last year, and about 10,000 below the total for the first two days in 1905, which was the last municipal year.

The Republican leaders are not inclined, however, to view this falling off in registration with any degree of apprehension. President Herbert Parsons of the Republican County Committee said yesterday that the comparatively low registration was due in a large measure to the more stringent registration laws, which kept would-be fraudulent voters away from the registration places. To this extent, Mr. Parsons said, the apparent decrease was all in favor of the Fusion forces, and the result quite satisfactory.

The registration yesterday assumed more normal proportions as compared with the figures of the second day last year in the lower east side districts. The large increase in those districts on the first day over the figures for the same day of the preceding year was explained yesterday by Mr. Parsons.

The first registration day last year, he said, fell on the Jewish Day of Atonement, and in those districts thickly populated by orthodox Jews the voters naturally did not register.

Tables giving the figures by Assembly Districts, compared with last year and by boroughs compared with last year as well as with 1905, the last municipal election, follow:

In the Assembly district tables, the figures for 1905 would furnish no basis for accurate comparison, because the Assembly district lines in most instances have been changed since that year, though the county and borough lines have not.

Only a Few Arrests.

There were few arrests for illegal registration yesterday. Charles B. Hall, a broker of 45 Broadway, was arraigned before Magistrate Steinert in the Tombs Court in the morning charged with illegal registration. He was arrested on a warrant issued a year ago by Magistrate Crane, upon complaint of Joseph R. Underwood, manager of the Astor House, and George C. Suedder, a Deputy Commissioner of Elections.

It was explained that the trouble arose through a mistake on the part of Mr. Hall, who had registered at the Astor with a Mr. Whitney, the latter writing his name "Mr. Whitney and another." The case was dismissed, Hall being discharged.

Richard Kenirons, 46 years old, of 416 East 119th Street, who was arrested for alleged false registration in the Fourth Election District of the Thirtieth Assembly District Monday, was discharged by Magistrate O'Connor in the Harlem Police Court yesterday. Maurice Dix, a Republican watcher, who caused the arrest, was served with papers in a suit for $5,000 for false arrest and imprisonment. His lawyer, Louis Cuilliler, said that Herbert Parsons would be made a co-defendant in the suit.

On a warrant issued by Magistrate Crane in October, 1908, on a charge of illegal registration, a man who said he was John F. Sullivan, 25 years old, of 2,121 Eighth Avenue, was arrested at the polling place of the Seventeenth Election District of the Nineteenth Assembly District, at 280 West 115th Street, yesterday and locked up in the West 125th Street Station. The police allege that he registered from this place both last year and yesterday and that he did not live in the district.

candidates, and that they ought to. He moved that the meeting adjourn, that a list of the candidates be sent to all members of the committee and that time be given to make an investigation.

"I don't want to go to Tammany Hall," said Mr. Coakley. "I am opposed to Tammany Hall. But I want to know the man I am going to support in this campaign."

Mr. Outerbridge said he would be ready to tell all he knew about the candidates; all that had gone on at the executive meetings of the Committee on Candidates where the latter had been discussed, but he was pledged to tell no one this except the Committee of One Hundred. He had given that pledge at the committee meeting, where the conferrees had been speaking their minds rather freely about candidates.

Dr. Moskowitz made a motion that the committee go into executive session to listen to this report. After some wrangling this motion was carried by a vote of 37 to 16. The reporters were then requested to withdraw.

At this point Robert C. Ogden and Willis L. Ogden both left the meeting. Robert C. Ogden, who presided at the mass meeting at which the committee had its beginning, asked that his vote be recorded for Mr. Bannard.

For about fifteen minutes the doors remained closed and then reporters were permitted inside again. Gustave W. Thompson, a Brooklyn member of the committee, was talking under a five-minute closure rule at this time. He said the committee was not in any way under obligation to support the candidates of the Republican City Convention because the Republicans had really gone ahead and nominated Bannard and the other candidates without giving the Committee on Candidates of the Committee of One Hundred due time for reflection.

Brooklyn Slate Arranged.

The night meeting of the Committee of One Hundred followed afternoon meetings of the Fusion Conference Committee on Candidates and the Fusion Conference itself, at which the city ticket nominated by the Republican City Convention was unanimously indorsed. The Brooklyn situation, with the Republican organization there opposed to fusion on the local ticket, was straightened out—just as it had been said all along it would be—by Republican State Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff, who controls the Kings County Republicans, gracefully giving way and consenting to the nomination of a Democrat as Borough President.

The Brooklyn County and Borough slate as agreed upon is:

For Borough President—ALFRED E. STEERS, (Dem.)
For Sheriff—JACOB LIVINGSTON, (Rep.)
For Register—THOMAS P. PETERS, (Rep.)
For County Clerk—JOHN FEITNER, (Rep.)
For Supreme Court Justice—ALMET R. LATSON, (Rep.)

Mr. Latson has already been nominated by the Kings County Republican Judiciary Committee.

After the Brooklyn slate had been arranged, the Fusion Conference indorsed the nominees of the Republican City Convention. The candidates nominated at the New York County Convention were indorsed at a meeting held last week, as was Borough President George Cromwell of Richmond for renomination.

SNAG IN BROOKLYN FUSION.

Allied Bodies Balk at Steers for Borough President.

The news that the Republican-Fusion conference had decided that ex-Magistrate Alfred E. Steers, a Democrat, should be named for Borough President was received with disfavor by the leaders of the allied organizations in Brooklyn, of which ex-Sheriff Michael J. Flaherty's Municipal Ownership League is one.

The allies have been trying to fuse with the Republicans on the local ticket. They imposed as a condition that they be permitted to name the candidate for Borough President, and their choice was Henry F. Cochrane, an independent Democrat, who is identified with the Flaherty organization.

Mr. Steers is not a member of any of the allied organizations, and their leaders declared last night that they would not accept him as representing their organizations on the ticket.

STRONG FIGHT ON SCRIPTURE.

Supreme Court Justice Opposed for His Machine Affiliations.

Special to The New York Times.

UTICA, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Indications are multiplying that the revolt against the renomination of Supreme Court Justice William E. Scripture of the Eighth Judicial District will take much the same course as a similar revolt in 1902, when the regular Republican nominee was beaten by an independent nominee, indorsed by the Democrats.

An independent movement was started on Monday to indorse County Judge Edgar Merrell of Lowville, who has been nominated to oppose Scripture by the Democrats. It is stated to-night that the petitions asking for Merrell's nomination as an independent have been signed by more than 2,000 Republicans in this county, by over 1,000 in Lewis County, and proportionate numbers in Herkimer, Jefferson, Oswego, and Onondaga. Many Republicans who are opposed to Scripture come forward and offer their names.

The main reason for the opposition to Scripture is that he has been credited with controlling the politics of this county in connection with Vice President Sherman and Mayor Wheeler of Utica. Scripture has the Rome end of the machine.

TUNNELS TO QUEENS NEARLY COMPLETED

Long Island Railroad's Extension to Jamaica May Be Running by Jan. 1.

GRADE CROSSINGS TO GO

Incoming Trains Will Shift from Steam to Electricity at Jamaica—Local Rush-Hour Schedule.

Work on the Long Island Railroad tunnels has advanced rapidly in the last month, and the progress made seems to indicate that trains will be running between Jamaica and the New York terminal of the company at Seventh Avenue and Thirty-first Street about the first of the year The tunnels themselves are practically completed, and workmen are now laying the rails and ballasting. Considerable work remains to be done between Jamaica and Long Island City, but along part of the way the third rail is now being placed in position.

P. H. Woodward, secretary to President Peters, said yesterday that the railroad hoped to abolish all grade crossings between Jamaica and New York. Many have already been eliminated, and there are now not more than half a dozen grade crossings remaining, all within the mile between Winfield and Woodside. Between these places, too, there is a bad curve, and the company is now negotiating with the city to straighten it and do away with the grade crossings. If possible, this will be done before the through service between Jamaica and New York begins.

Every division of the Long Island Railroad will derive some benefit from the tunnel service at the start. All trains running into Jamaica from the outlying districts of Long Island will transfer from the steam to the electric trains there. The Rockaway division, which does not run through Jamaica, will run its own trains through the tunnel.

The North Shore Division will transfer its passengers at Winfield, where a temporary station will be built to facilitate the transferring. At present the company has the foundation laid for a power house there, and the new station will be located in its immediate vicinity. The railroad hopes to arrange its schedules without difficulty, so that little if any time will be lost at the transfer points. A rush-hour schedule on the Jamaica-New York Division of a train at least every five minutes is planned. Trains will be run on a better than half-hourly schedule during the rest of the day.

At the start of the service it will not be possible to maintain a full schedule, for two reasons. Lack of cars is one of them, and the other is that the New York terminal is not far enough advanced to permit it. There will be no difficulty in handling the service to be maintained at the start at the New York terminal. One hundred and thirty new all-steel cars are now building for the company, and when these are delivered in April the company expects to be able to maintain its full schedule.

Full service will be started on the North Shore Division, one of the large commuting lines of the road, as soon as possible. Up to now this division has got along with a double-track line from Long Island City to a little beyond Corona. It is proposed now to double-track the Port Washington branch from Flushing to Great Neck, and the Whitestone branch from Flushing to Whitestone Landing, its entire length. The old single track on the Port Washington branch, between Great Neck and Port Washington, will remain, but this is only a short part of the line.

This work will probably be started in the Winter, and the company hopes to have the work completed by June. On this division there are a great many grade crossings, at some of which serious accidents have happened, and the company is negotiating with the city to do away with these also.

Work on the Pennsylvania Railroad's East River tunnels is not so far advanced. The great Long Island City yard, however, is well under way, and will be one of the finest in the country when completed. The long curve which the Pennsylvania through trains will use runs in a cut and will completely encircle this yard.

The yard of the Long Island Railroad will be at Jamaica.

HEALTH BOARD NEEDS CASH.

Wants Larger Appropriation to Fight Tuberculosis—Second Budget Hearing.

The Board of Estimate will have before it at its session this morning requests from the heads of departments for appropriations for the coming year amounting to $22,225,000. The incerase asked by the departments to be heard to-day run up to $3,200,000, and the largest of these are $1,780,000 for the Police Department and $1,138,000 for the Department of Health.

The money asked for by the latter department will be applied in part to the preparation of a regular programme to fight tuberculosis, for extension of the district work to stop the spread of contagion, school hygiene work, the Summer care of babies, and milk inspection.

Commissioner Butler of the Tenement House Department will ask for an increase in the salaries of a small number of clerks and will argue that this will make the work of other employes materially more efficient. Commissioner Purdy of the Tax Department will put in a plea for $23,000 extra on the ground that it will make for efficiency in the collection and assessment of taxes, and will therefore be a valuable investment for the city.

Ship Sailed Around in Circles.

Some of the passengers who were out on the promenade deck of the Verdi of the Lamport & Holt Line last Sunday afternoon were amazed when the ship began to turn around in short circles. A bolt or two in the steering gear had got out of place and for a few hours the rudder would not act. Luckily, at the time, the sea was smooth, so that the damage could be repaired.

WRIGHT TO EXTEND DAYTON FACTORY

Aeronaut Says He Expects Soon to Turn Out Machines for Capable Aviators.

TO TRAIN ARMY OFFICERS

Wright to Devote the Next Month to Teaching Soldiers to Use the Government's Aeroplane.

Wilbur Wright left New York last evening for Washington, where he will begin this week the instruction of the Signal Corps officers assigned by the War Department to learn how to operate the Wright machine purchased last July by the Government. Mr. Wright appeared on Governors Island at his usual hour yesterday morning, but this time it was not to fly, but to overlook his crippled aeroplane and superintend preparations for its shipment back to Dayton, Ohio.

His mechanician, Charles F. Taylor, began the work of dismantling the machine before noon, and to-day when the big boxes containing the flier are expected to be shipped from the island, no evidences will remain on the sandy west shore of the aerial activity that has interested the city for over a week, but the two big wooden sheds, and these will soon come down.

Mr. Wright accepted the congratulations and commiserations showered upon him during the day modestly and philosophically.

"I am very sorry the accident happened to my motor at the very instant I was preparing for a big flight," he said. "I don't know when I shall come to New York for flying excursions again. After my work at Washington, I hope to go home for a long rest. I had very little preparation for my appearance here at the Hudson-Fulton Celebration, and was forced to bring one of my old motors. The motor in my Washington machine is a new one and is considerably stronger in every way."

Mr. Wright said his first army pupils will be Lieut. Frank P. Lahm and Lieut. Humphreys. Lieut. Lahm is the army officer who won the first international balloon race in Paris in 1906, and a furlough was then granted him to make a thorough study of European aeronautic progress. When Lieut. Foulois returns from Europe, where he was a delegate from the United States to the International Aeronautic Congress, Mr. Wright will instruct him in the management of the aeroplane. Mr. Wright's army aviation school will be on the new aviation grounds recently obtained by the Government for this purpose at College Park, about twenty miles from the city. How long he will be there, Mr. Wright could not tell. It depends very largely upon weather conditions, but he intimated that he expected to be busy with his pupils from three to four weeks.

Mr. Wright has in view the establishment in the near future of a school of aviation. He sees a great future ahead for flying machines both for pleasure and practical uses. He does not believe, however, that any one should be permitted to fly around the country without careful training, and this is one of the reasons why he has hesitated to build machines for enthusiastic novices. He denied that he had made any plans for the building of a big factory and the laying out of large aviation grounds near Springfield, Ohio.

"Will you enlarge your factory at Dayton and be able to deliver machines to capable aviators within a short time?" he was asked.

"Yes, I am looking ahead to something of that sort. It will come before long," he said.

The wooden shed which housed for several days Glenn H. Curtiss's flying machine is deserted. The machine was shipped yesterday to St. Louis, and the two mechanics left behind by Mr. Curtiss when he departed Sunday night went to Hammondsport.

WARSHIPS PREPARE TO SAIL.

British, Italian, and German Ships Begin Coaling To-day.

Twelve of the battleships and the three scout cruisers of the Atlantic Fleet left the Hudson yesterday, all of them going to navy yards to be overhauled, preparatory to the Winter cruise in Southern seas. Only three of the battleships of Admiral Schroeder's great column now remain here, the Connecticut, Kansas, and Vermont, and they will sail on Saturday.

The British, German, French, and Italian ships will begin coaling this morning preparatory to sailing from New York, and by Saturday noon the last of the warships will have left the Hudson. On the giant cruiser-battleship Inflexible yesterday the officers gave their farewell reception to their American friends, the entertainment ending with a dance on the afterdeck of the flagship.

The champion sprinter of the flagship Connecticut is Burr Whittle, and thereby hangs a tale of a sailor's life in the Bowery. Whittle was standing in front of 106 Bowery yesterday morning when a stranger accosted him and asked the honor of arranging his collar handkerchief. The sailor said he was satisfied with his appearance and asked the stranger to move on. Then the unexpected happened and the stranger grabbed the handkerchief, pulled it off, and started down the Bowery.

For five blocks the chase lasted, the stranger finally plunging head on through the glass window of a cigar store at 5 Bowery, with the sailor after him. Both men were badly cut and an ambulance was called from Gouverneur Hospital, to which the men were taken. Later they were in the Essex Market Court, where Whittle preferred a charge of disorderly conduct against the man, who gave his name as David Cronin.

Magistrate Barlow heard the full story of the sailor, and then asked Cronin for an explanation.

"I did not steal his handkerchief," the prisoner said. "I took it just to see if the United States Navy has any first-class sprinters. It's too bad our Marathon ended in a shower of plate glass."

"One month on the island for you," said the Magistrate.

POLICE WIN A HOLIDAY

By Handling Hudson Crowds—$25,000 for Interborough Employes.

The members of the Police Department and the employes of the Interborough Company are all to benefit by their work in the Hudson-Fulton Celebration, the policemen by receiving a full twenty-four hours off duty and the Interborough men by receiving a substantial bonus in recognition of the company's satisfaction with their work. Both rewards were announced yesterday.

In addition President Shonts of the Interborough notified Police Commissioner Baker that a check for $5,000 was on its way to the Police Pension Fund from the company.

The extra holidays of the policemen will begin to-morrow morning in accordance with the order issued by Commissioner Baker yesterday. The fund to be distributed among the Interborough employes is $25,000. About 8,000 men will share in this on their next pay day.

COMMEND POLICE FETE WORK.

Aldermen Congratulate Baker and His Men.

The Aldermen adopted a resolution yesterday congratulating Police Commissioner Baker and the department at large on their efficient work during the Hudson-Fulton Celebration. Another resolution requested the citizens who have installed illuminations in connection with the celebration to leave them up until after Oct. 12, which will be the first observance of Columbus Day.

A number of Italian-American societies have requested the board to name some street in honor of Varrazzano, who some historians assert was Hudson's predecessor in the discovery of the Hudson River. The matter was referred to the Committee on Streets and Highways.

In the absence of President McGowan "Little Tim" Sullivan was in the chair. This was his first public appearance since his recent trip to the Adirondacks for his health. He looked well, but not as robust as in former days.

Holland's Minister Entertains Benthem

Jonkheer J. Loudon, Minister from the Netherlands, was the host at a luncheon given at the Café Boulevard yesterday. The guests included W. de Blaufort, his Military Attaché; J. R. Plauten, Consul General, the President of the Netherlands Chamber of Commerce, E. J. Benthem, designer and builder of the Halve Maene, and the staff officers of the Utrecht. The American Navy was represented by Capt. W. C. Watts. The luncheon was in honor of Mr. Benthem.

CRANE SOON TO REACH CHINA.

His Recall to Washington by Knox Means Little Delay.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The recall of Minister Crane to Washington as he was about to sail yesterday from San Francisco is not expected to delay his arrival at his post in China for more than a week or two, according to the opinion expressed at the State Department to-day. It was admitted that the request that the diplomat return to Washington before proceeding to the Orient came from Secretary of State Knox, but the exact reason was withheld.

Mr. Knox is now thought to be at Valley Forge. It is intimated that the temporary recall of the Minister is because of his wish to go over with Mr. Crane in the light of recent developments certain important phases of the Eastern question. Whether these phases relate to the revised Japanese-Chinese pact in regard to the rebuilding of the Manchurian Railroad or to the floating of the Chinese loan is not known here. Mr. Crane is expected to reach Washington in about a week.

EDDYITE "HEALER" SUED.

Former Patient Charges That She Was Induced to Sign Away Property.

In a suit to recover a deed to property said to be worth $16,000 from Miss Agnes Young, a Christian Scientist healer, Miss Greta M. Arthur testified yesterday before Justice Marean, in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, that Miss Young got possession of her property by undue influence and by taking advantage of her state of health.

Miss Arthur is 26 years old. She lives at Mamaroneck. The property in question is located at the corner of Myrtle Avenue and Fleet Place, Brooklyn, and from it she had been deriving a yearly income of $1,200.

"I became acquainted with the defendant," she testified, "in 1906, and up to 1907 was her patient. I was very ill, and she knew it. In May, 1908, I lived at the Park Hotel, and by her advice I sold my property, as I supposed. I valued it at $15,000, and it was all I had. I didn't read the papers I signed, as I had implicit faith in the defendant."

Miss Arthur testified that she was under the influence of drugs and stimulants when asked to get up out of a sickbed by Miss Young and go to her office to execute a contract for the sale of the property. She found later, she said, that she had signed a contract to convey the property for about $800. She asked the court to set aside the deed.

Miss Young, who said she was a member of the Second Church of Christ, in Manhattan, testified that the defendant was worrying about her property when ill, and she thought her health would improve if her mind were freed from the care of it. She denied having used any undue influence.

Justice Marean reserved decision.

WALSH'S CONVICTION UPHELD ON APPEAL

Chicago Banker Must Serve Five Years in Jail Unless Supreme Court Saves Him.

USED $16,000,000 DEPOSITS

Money Was Employed in an Effort to Make a Big System Out of Bankrupt Railroads.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Affirmation of the conviction of John R. Walsh of misapplication of the funds of the Chicago National Bank was handed down in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in this city to-day. Only a contrary decision of the Supreme Court can save him from serving the sentence of five years' imprisonment at hard labor imposed on him by the trial jury.

Counsel for Mr. Walsh in their appeal laid the greatest stress on what they alleged was a lack of criminal intent on the part of the defendant. They said he used the funds of the bank in what he considered a legitimate manner.

The opinion of the court, written by Judge Humphrey, is brief and confined almost wholly to the question of criminal intent. The allegation that Juror Palmer was opposed to a verdict of guilty and was unduly influenced is dismissed with a few words, and little more trouble is taken in eliminating the allegation of inconsistency and repugnancy.

"So long as there is no inconsistency in the verdict as to the substance of the matter charged in the various counts," says the opinion, "the verdict will not be disturbed. If the gravamen of the charge in each count, on which there has been a verdict of guilty, is the same, there is no inconsistency in the verdict."

Counsel for Walsh have thirty days in which to file application for a rehearing by the Court of Appeals. Meanwhile he will be at liberty under his present bonds of $50,000.

Walsh is now 72 years old. The three Walsh banks—the Chicago National, the Equitable Trust Company, and the Home Savings Bank—were closed by the Controller of the Currency on Dec. 18, 1905. Walsh then owned besides these institutions and The Chicago Chronicle nearly all of the stock of many small railway and other companies, including the Chicago Southern Railway, the Illinois Southern Railway, the Southern Indiana Railway, the Southern Missouri Railway, and the Wisconsin & Michigan Railway.

According to the brief of the Government, all of these companies were bankrupt, or on the verge of it, when bought cheaply by Walsh. Walsh formed corporations to buy the companies from himself, taking in payment stock of the new corporations and enough of their bonds to repay the outlay. In this way, according to the prosecution, he gained for nothing stocks and bonds to the face value of $30,000,000. He planned a railway system through Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Michigan to Duluth, Minn., and Superior, Wis.

To finance his deals Walsh had recourse to the funds in his banks. In covering up these loans it is alleged that he used memorandum notes signed with the names of clerks who were not consulted in the matter. For collateral Walsh deposited the securities of his various enterprises.

For two years Walsh ignored the demands of the Controller of the Currency that he place his banks upon a firm foundation, and when the crash came it was discovered that of the $25,000,000 deposits $16,000,000 had been loaned on the securities of the Walsh enterprises.

TURBINE GEAR WORKS WELL.

Melville Says English Are Mistaken as to Its Practicability.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—In answer to the statement of a member of the firm making the Parsons turbine, the Parsons Marine Steam Turbine Company, in London yesterday, Admiral Melville, joint inventor of the Melville-Macalpine reduction gear now being tested in the shops of the Westinghouse Company at East Pittsburg, said to-day that the British experts were mistaken when they argued that the invention was impracticable.

"While the tests have not been completed," said the Admiral, "they have gone far enough to show us that the invention far exceeds our expectations. Our great difficulty, and I may say our only one, has been to obtain brakes of sufficient strength to hold the machine down in order to test it fully.

"Mr. Parsons, inventor of the Parsons turbine, has said that he has plastered his patents over everything patentable in this line, but he missed this one thing. He has tried various reduction gears, but they have all proved impracticable."

Asked if it were still possible to have his invention installed on the new battleships now under construction in this country, Admiral Melville said there was still time for the Government to order the Westinghouse turbine and the Melville reduction gear installed instead of the Parsons turbine, which had been intended.

"Within the time required for the construction of the battleships," he said, "we could furnish turbine engines for them that would result in saving space and weight on each of them. Instead of four screws or propellers, with this invention there need be but two, and that means only two shafts. The saving in space and weight of the machinery would be about one-half."

In answer to the question whether representatives of the Engineering Department of the navy had been present at the tests, he replied that they had not been present, because the inventors' tests were not yet completed.

TRACING INFANT PARALYSIS.

Dr. Strauss Hopes to Find a Cure Through Inoculation of a Monkey.

Dr. I. Strauss lectured last night before the New York Neurological Society at the Academy of Medicine on the efforts to discover a cure for infantile spinal paralysis, which became epidemic in Brownsville, Brooklyn, last August, killing scores of children.

In the course of his lecture he announced that he had succeeded in infecting a monkey with the disease by inoculating it with a particle of the diseased spinal cord of an infant, an experiment accomplished only once before in the history of medicine. That was in December of last year by a physician in Europe.

The immediate result of transferring the disease to a monkey was to obtain the means for further experiments in the laboratory. A long step, said the lecturer was thus made toward finding a remedy, because for the first time in this country the experimenter had the disease where he could study it at his leisure.

While Dr. Strauss frankly admitted that he had not found anything like a cure for the malady, he said that something had already been learned through the experimentation. For one thing, he had learned that the disease could not be transferred, or, rather, so far, had not been transferred from one monkey to another.

Another thing discovered was that it was now definitely known that the malady which causes the paralysis of the child's legs did not have its seat in the blood, but in the spinal column itself.

Bequests to Many Charities.

By the will of Mrs. Maria H. Crane, who died in Tarrytown about two weeks ago, $6,666 goes to charitable institutions. The American Female Guardian Society, Children's Aid Society, American Tract Society, and the Young Women's Christian Association get $1,000 each; the Association for Aged and Indigent Females and the Berkshire Industrial Farm $500 each, and the American Home Missionary Society $1,666. Her daughter, Frances Brush O'Connor, receives $20,000, and the testator's husband, her son, Walter L. Brush, and stepson, William H. Crane, receive $10,000 each.

CHURCH CHOIRBOYS STRIKE.

Follow Organist from Jamaica Church After Letter of Criticism.

The famous surpliced choir of Grace Church, Jamaica, L. I., has quit, and the Rev. Horatio Oliver Ladd is racking his brains to supply a substitute. The boys failed to report on last Sunday, and the volunteer choir of mixed voices which tried to replace the old choir was generally voted a disappointment.

Why the boys quit is no secret. They declare they left because Frank E. Hopkins, the choirmaster and organist, resigned.

Why Mr. Hopkins quit is not so clear. Dr. Ladd and the Vestry declare that they do not know. Mr. Hopkins says he was too busy to devote his Sundays and two or three nights in the week besides to the work.

The boys say, however, that Mr. Hopkins got a letter criticising their actions in the choir loft, and containing some other references which made Mr. Hopkins so angry that he wrote his resignation immediately.

The practical utility of
The Auto Coat for Men & Women

Few of us—even those who do not own cars—are not called upon for an occasional "tour" or a short trip with friends who are the fortunate possessors of their own "machine." To derive from such occasions their full measure of delight, one must be suitably attired—in fact, health and comfort demand it.

There is this to be said for the Auto Coat—no matter whether you wear it on auto rides or on ordinary occasions, it is an adequate protection against exposure—while garments constructed for ordinary wear are absolutely inadequate for auto use.

Atmospheric changes, wind, rain and dust are concomitants of automobiling—and all are duly considered and provided against in the distinctive productions of our skilled designers.

We invite attention to our unusually exhaustive variety of Fall models in Auto Coats for men and women—a wide range of suitable fabrics in exclusive patterns and the newest colorings.

BRITISH SOCIETIES ENTERTAIN SEYMOUR

Seven Hundred Members of Five Organizations Give a Dinner to English Admiral.

SCHROEDER LAUDS ENGLAND

If All Armaments Were Dictated by Her Motives, Statesmen Would Have an Easier Time, He Declares.

Unsatiated by the round of entertainments of the Hudson-Fulton week, seven hundred members of the five British organizations which have made a permanent place for themselves in New York's social life gathered at the Waldorf last night to honor Admiral of the Fleet Sir Edward Hobart Seymour, Rear Admiral Frederick Tower Hamilton of the Drake, and the officers of the British cruiser squadron attending the Hudson-Fulton festivities. Grand Admiral von Koester of the German squadron, Rear Admiral Le Pord of the French ships, and several of the other naval officers of foreign countries were also among the guests.

Besides the dinner guests the two high tiers of boxes surrounding the great ballroom, where the feast was held, were filled with women, the guests of the members of the British societies. They made a picturesque setting for the function below, and helped materially in the songs which were a feature of the dinner. They even helped the orchestra out when it started the German national anthem—which has the same tune as "America" and "God Save the King"—as a greeting for Gross Admiral von Koester.

Admiral Seymour's Address.

Presiding was Lloyd B. Sanderson, First Vice President of St. George's Society, which had united with St. David's Society, St. Andrew's Society, the Canadian Society, and the British Schools and Universities Club, in the management of the affair. He made a brief address of welcome and then introduced Sir Edward Seymour as the first speaker. In his address Sir Edward said:

"The American Navy has distinguished itself by the recent epochmaking voyage of the battleship fleet around the world. Such a thing could have been imagined before, but that it could be done was another matter entirely. The American Navy has shown that the voyage was not an impossibility.

"It is not difficult for an Englishman to find himself at home in America. It would only be necessary, if there were no other indication, to receive such a reception as this to prove that this is not an alien land. I see before me the flags of two nations, England and the United States. I hope that the societies which have honored us to-night will continue to constitute a powerful bond between the nations represented here."

There was hearty applause when Sir Edward finished his speech, and then Rear Admiral Schroeder was introduced.

"During the cruise of our fleet," said he, "we often heard the boom of the sunset gun, of which it is said that it is heard around the world. It was a pleasant sound to us, for we felt that it meant peace on earth and good will among the nations. And we are glad to welcome this fleet of ships from many nations here to-night because it bears the same message.

"Now, peace is one thing and good will is another. Out in one part of the country that in the past I have been familiar with, it used to be said that the most peaceful community was one where every man carried a gun. That may be true, but it was a mighty nervous kind of peace. I think that the peace which carries with it good will is far better. And I can add without resorting to any cryptic utterance that if all the armaments of the world shall be dictated by the same motives that rule those of Great Britain and the United States, statesmen will have an easier time with their budgets, and will all have occasion to enjoy the fruits of lasting peace, the victories of which, as has been well said, are no less renowned than those of war."

Rear Admiral Hamilton of the British cruiser Drake followed Admiral Schroeder, and expressed the appreciation of the officers and men of the English fleet for their reception in this country. Then Gross Admiral von Koester was introduced. He said:

Von Koester Praises Seymour.

Admiral Von Koester expressed his pleasure at meeting the members of the British societies, and particularly Admiral Seymour, whom German sailors remembered with respect for his command of the international expedition for the relief of Peking. Continuing, Admiral Von Koester said:

"There can be no doubt that wherever Englishmen and Germans meet they must enter into close competition as members of two nations, both equally pushing ahead. You will find this fact not only in speaking generally of our two nations, but also in going into particulars, and considering industry, commerce, and navigation.

"Nevertheless, the efforts of our two nations will always be directed toward establishing good relations and a friendly intercourse between each other, considering their common descent and the numerous bonds of friendship and common economical interest that join them together."

Rear Admiral Le Pord delivered his address in French, expressing the thanks of the officers of the French fleet for the entertainment that had been accorded them. Then Gen. Stewart L. Woodford was called on to respond to the toast, "The Hudson-Fulton Celebration." Gen. Woodford first let the audience into a secret, namely, that Admiral Seymour, Admiral von Koester, and he had agreed that 100 years from now, no matter in what condition of comfort or discomfort they may be, they will return in spirit and help celebrate the four hundredth anniversary of Hudson's voyage.

The Next Fulton Anniversary.

"When our grandchildren are joining in that celebration," he went on, "I think that possibly they will add two things. One is that at this time over the ships of the Admiral of the fleet and those of the Gross Admiral sailed the man-bird, a new, strange craft, which signalized for the three hundredth birthday of New York the coming conquest of the air. And the other is that during this celebration of ours have come tidings welcome to students of geography the world over—tidings that man has walked into the shades of the northern climes and has planted the flag on the very brows of the icebergs at the north pole itself."

Those at the guests' table were:

Hart Lyman, Moberly Bell of The London Times, Capt. Joseph B. Murdock, U. S. N.; George Massey, President of the British Schools and Universities Club; Rear Admiral Alfred T. Mahan, U. S. N.; Commander H. Retzmann, Naval Attache to the German Embassy at Washington; Robert Frater Munro, President of St. Andrew's Society; Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, President of the Hudson-Fulton Commission; John G. Milburn, Major Gen. Leonard Wood, U. S. A.; Courttenay W. Bennett, British Consul General at New York; Grand Admiral Hans Ludwig Raimund von Koester, German Navy; Sir Edward Hobart Seymour, Commander in Chief, British Navy; Lloyd B. Sanderson, Chairman, and First Vice President of St. George's Society; Rear Admiral Frederick Tower Hamilton, British Navy; Rear Admiral Seaton Schroeder, U. S. N.; Rear Admiral Jules Louis Marie Le Pord, French Navy; James M. Beck, Rear Admiral Lindor Perez Gacitua, Chilian Navy; Capt. G. P. van Hecking Colenbrander, Netherlands Navy; The Rev. Anthony H. Evans, D. D., President of St. David's Society; Seth Low, Vice President of the Hudson-Fulton Commission; Rear Admiral Willard H. Brownson, U. S. N.; John J. MacPhee, M. D., President of the Canadian Society; Rudolph Franksen, German Consul General at New York; W. Butler Duncan, President of "The Pilgrims"; the Rev. William T. Manning, and C. R. Hargrove of The London Times.

TURF CLUBS DENY BETTING CHARGES

Four Pinkerton Sleuths and Nineteen Bookmakers Also Plead Not Guilty.

FIVE MEN FAIL TO APPEAR

Prosecutor Gives Them 48 Hours to Plead Under a Threat of Bench Warrant Arrests.

The Coney Island and Brooklyn Jockey Clubs, the two racing associations indicted by the Kings County September Grand Jury for conspiracy in connection with the making of bets, pleaded not guilty yesterday to the indictments through their counsel, John B. Stanchfield, before Judge Dike in the County Court, Brooklyn. Four Pinkerton detectives and nineteen bookmakers, who were also indicted on the same charge, were in court and made the same plea.

There were five bet takers who did not appear, and Assistant District Attorney Elder gave them forty-eight hours to plead to the indictment against them. If they do not put in an appearance in that time, Mr. Elder said, he would have bench warrants issued for their arrest.

When the indictments were read only the four Pinkertons stepped up to the Clerk to answer to their names. The nineteen bookmakers were in court, but the roll call of their names was answered by their attorney, William Wells. Mr. Stanchfield acted as attorney for the Pinkertons as well as for the racing associations.

There appeared to be some mystery about the identity of George Mason, who was named in the indictments with the other accused men. He was said to be a well-known Pinkerton sleuth, but Mr. Stanchfield said that the name was fictitious. Mr. Elder was assured that if he could pick out the man believed to be Mason he would be produced in court. The four Pinkerton detectives named in the indictments are David C. Thornhill, Albert Beutler, Seymour Beutler, and Emil F. Demmerle.

When the Pinkertons were arraigned, Mr. Stanchfield reminded Judge Dike that they were special officers and believed that they should come under the same ruling which allowed Inspector O'Brien and the two accused policemen on his staff, also under indictment for conspiracy in the race-track scandal, to be paroled. But Judge Dike could not see it that way. Mr. Elder moved that bail be fixed at $1,500 pending the date of trial, and Judge Dike granted the motion.

Bail in all the cases was fixed at $1,500, with the exception of John G. Cavanaugh, the acknowledged head of the betting ring. Judge Dike was especially considerate to him.

"I have had Mr. Cavanaugh before me on previous occasions," said Judge Dike, "and he has always put in an appearance when he was wanted. I will therefore parole him in the custody of his counsel."

The date of trial for all the race-track cases was set for Oct. 18.

Police Commissioner Baker announced later that he would take no official cognizance at present of the indictment of one of his Inspectors, a Sergeant, and a patrolman. The indicted men are Inspector John J. O'Brien, Sergt. Hugh Reynolds, and Patrolman Hugh Meyers of Brooklyn. Their indictment covers a misdemeanor, and they are now paroled on their own recognizance, pending trial.

DR. WM. BAYARD HALE WEDS.

Editor and Former Clergyman Takes Miss Olga Unger as Bride.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Dr. William Bayard Hale of New York and Olga Unger, daughter of the late Emil Unger of New York, were married in London to-day. The wedding was quiet on account of illness in the bride's family. Only the bride's mother and some other relatives were present.

Dr. William Bayard Hale was formerly an Episcopal clergyman. He is a native of Richmond, Md., where he was born on April 6, 1869. He was graduated from the Boston University and Harvard College. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1894, and from that year until 1900 he held rectorships in different parts of Massachusetts.

He was managing editor of The Cosmopolitan Magazine in 1900, and in the following year he became editor of Current Literature. He resigned this position in 1903 to become managing editor of The Philadelphia Public Ledger, and he served in that capacity until 1906, when he became a member of THE NEW YORK TIMES staff.

MISS CLEMENS WEDS TO-DAY.

Mark Twain's Daughter to Become the Bride of Ossip Gabrilowitsch.

Miss Clara L. Clemens, daughter of Mark Twain, will become to-day the bride of Ossip Gabrilowitsch, the Russian pianist. The ceremony will take place at noon at the bride's home in Redding, Conn.

About forty intimate friends of Miss Clemens and Mr. Gabrilowitsch have been invited to the wedding, and a special car for their use will be attached to one of the morning trains from New York. The Rev. Dr. Joseph Twitchell of Hartford, Conn., a life-long friend of Mark Twain, will perform the ceremony.

TUCKER—BELKNAP.

The marriage of Russell Stuart Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Tucker of 111 West Eighty-eighth Street, and Miss Stella Belknap, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Drayton Belknap of 49 Claremont Avenue, took place last evening at the Rutgers Presbyterian Church, the Rev. George Phillips Payson officiating.

Miss Belknap, who wore an embroidered gown of white satin and point lace and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and gardenias, was attended by her sister, Miss Florence D. Belknap. Miss Catharine Maull of Lewes, Del.; Miss Stuart Anway of Florida, Miss Mary Lawton of New York, and Miss Helen May of East Orange. The only ornament worn by the bride was a diamond necklace, the gift of the bridegroom.

Charles Cory of New York was the best man, and the ushers were Messrs. James Anderson Hawes, James A. Edwards, Walter B. Walker, and William K. Hammond, Jr., all of New York.

A reception at the Hotel St. Andrew was attended by more than 200 guests.

Among those invited to the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Rush Taggart, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Drummond, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Douglass, Mrs. John I. Blair, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Flint, Baron and Baroness Zglinitzki, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wattenberg, James G. Blaine, Mrs. Henry A. Rogers, Mrs. John L. Hamilton, O. de G. Vanderbilt, Henry S. Morgan, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Neilson Olcott, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Black, Donald McKesson, Robert Mackey, Mrs. James R. McCreery, and Mr. and Mrs. George Washington Morris.

HARVEY—STIMSON.

Lucile H. Stimson, the daughter of the Rev. Dr. Henry A. Stimson, was married yesterday at her father's home, 159 West Eighty-sixth Street, to Elbert A. Harvey, formerly of Chicago, now of this city. In consequence of the recent death of the bridegroom's father, the wedding guests were confined to the members of the immediate family. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father.

SYKES—PHILBRICK.

Walter Henry Sykes, Jr., of 346 West Seventy-first Street and Miss Marguerite Coles Philbrick were married by the Rev. David James Burrell, D. D., at the Collegiate Reformed Church, Fifth Avenue and Twenty-ninth Street, yesterday. Mr. Sykes is a broker.

MISS HELENE IRWIN TO WED.

To Become the Bride of Charles Templeton Crocker of California.

The engagement has been informally announced to a few of their friends of Charles Templeton Crocker of California to Miss Hélène Irwin, daughter of William Irwin, the sugar manufacturer. Miss Irwin, who recently returned from abroad with her parents, has gone West, where Mr. Crocker is also.

Mr. Crocker, who is one of the Pacific Coast millionaires, is a nephew of Mrs. Charles B. Alexander and of George Crocker of this city, and is well known in New York. His eldest sister was the late Mrs. Francis Burton Harrison, and Miss Jennie Adeline Crocker, also well known here, is his sister. He was graduated from Yale, class of 1907. He is a member of the Automobile Club of America, and in 1908, with his college mate, M. C. Scott, and his chauffeur, made a motor trip across the Continent. He is also a member of the Union, Racquet, Riding, and Tuxedo Clubs.

Miss Irwin spent a large part of last Winter at the Plaza with her mother. The latter was formerly Mrs. Halliday of Westchester. Her father, William Irwin, owns a superb home in Honolulu and another in San Francisco.

Miss Lee to Wed William Ladd, Jr.

The announcement has been made to their intimate friends of the engagement of Miss Cornelia Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lee of 43 Fifth Avenue, to William Ladd, Jr. Mr. Ladd is a son of W. F. Ladd of Texas, but has lived here several years, as has his elder brother, Carol W. Ladd.

GIRDWOOD—PEIRCE.

The engagement is announced of Miss Ethel Mathews Girdwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Girdwood of Clonavon, West Orange, N. J., to Dr. George Peirce of Haverford, Penn.

Gertrude Hoffman Discharged in Court

While Gertrude Hoffmann stood to one side in the Tombs Court yesterday, lawyers and police on the bridge agreed with Magistrate Steinert in less than two minutes that as Miss Hoffmann had ceased doing the dance that caused her arrest on Hammerstein's Roof last July the case against her might be dropped, and from a distance she learned that she was discharged. She hurried out of court with her husband.

Mrs. Cuneo Breaks Auto Record.

DANBURY, Conn., Oct. 5.—The Danbury Fair opened here to-day with an automobile and cattle show and a parade of decorated automobiles. The five-mile automobile track record was broken by Mrs. Joan N. Cuneo of New York, who covered the distance in 7:19. Mrs. Cuneo also drove her car an exhibition mile in 1:16¼. Among the winners in the dog show were the Japanese dogs of August Belmont of New York.

Social Notes.

William K. Vanderbilt, who has been abroad for several months, arrived yesterday on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie.

Miss Maria De Acosta, who has been visiting in Cedarhurst, will return to town to-day.

Mrs. Charles H. Baldwin arrived in New York yesterday from Newport.

Mrs. William R. Blair and Miss Dorothy Dilworth have motored to New York and will spend the week at the Hotel Wolcott.

Mrs. Philip M. Lydig, who has been abroad all Summer, sailed yesterday from England for New York.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Havermeyer, Jr., have returned to their farm at Mahah, Tuxedo, after a visit to New York.

Mrs. Albert Lambert will remain at Virginia Hot Springs until the middle of October, and will then return to town for the Winter.

NEW NOVELS

Bronson of the Rabble
By Albert E. Hancock
A vivid and dramatic romance of old Philadelphia between the years 1812 and 1828.
Colored frontispiece. 12mo. Decorated cloth.

The Isle of Dead Ships
By Crittenden Marriott
A fascinating tale of the mysterious Sargasso Sea, in which adventure and excitement are foremost.
Colored frontispiece and half-tone illustrations.
12mo. Decorated cloth, $1.00 net.

CAROLYN WELLS
The Clue
An unusually clever and absorbing detective story that will keep you guessing.
Colored frontispiece.
12mo. Decorated cloth.

SECOND EDITION
Phoebe Deane
By Grace L. H. Lutz
The author of "Marcia Schuyler" has here written another romance as refreshing as a whiff of old-time clove-pinks. The setting is New York State, 1830, and "Marcia" plays an important rôle in the new story.
Illustrated by E. L. Henry, N.A. Cloth, with medallion in colors.

By the same author
Marcia Schuyler
Now in its Fifth Edition.

The Man in the Tower
By Rupert S. Holland
An exciting and highly dramatic novel, the central idea of which was suggested by the legend of "the invisible prince." The scenes are laid principally in the mythical kingdom of Altenstein, fast in the Balkan mountains. Intrigue, conspiracy, rebellion, and fierce fighting crowd upon each other in quick succession, forming a romance of engrossing interest for the lover of the story that carries one along with a rush.
Illustrated in color and half-tone. Decorated cloth.

The Key of the Unknown
By Rosa N. Carey
This is Miss Carey's last novel, finished just prior to her death in July. It is written in her best vein.
Frontispiece portrait. 12mo. Cloth.

The Correct Dress Trimmings

A beautiful, glittering display of the latest ideas in fashionable dress trimmings. There's not another like it in New York City.

Tarnished Gold and Silver is extremely smart—the more tarnished, the more they suggest the semi-barbaric Middle Ages, the more fashionable they are to-day.

Richly Ornamented Passementeries, buttons, ornaments and other trimmings are shown in a remarkable variety.

GOLDEN GATE CITIES WELCOME PRESIDENT

Great Crowds in Berkeley, Oakland, and San Francisco—He Has a Busy Day.

A GOOD-BYE TO SOLDIERS

Taft Shouts Good Wishes to Men Bound for Philippines—Speaks of the Good of Compromise.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5.—After passing the forenoon in Oakland and Berkeley, across the bay, President Taft was welcomed to San Francisco this afternoon by a throng which lined the walks in some places ten deep along a line of march extending over nearly three miles of the principal streets. School children of this city, Oakland, and Berkeley cheered the President.

As he was crossing from the Oakland Mole to San Francisco the army transport Thomas was setting sail for the Philippines, and by the President's request the revenue cutter Golden Gate, on which he was a passenger, was drawn up alongside the big vessel, the rails of which were lined with soldiers and the families of officers. On the bridge the Philippines Constabulary Band was playing "Hail to the Chief" as the President shouted to the khaki-clad soldiers:

"Good-bye, boys; I wish you a pleasant voyage."

Cheers came back. The propeller of the transport began to churn the water, and as the transport gained headway the President looked wistfully toward the Golden Gate.

"Does it make you feel homesick, Mr. President?" asked a member of the party.

"Indeed it does," replied Mr. Taft, "and I would give anything if I were going with them."

Day Crowded with Entertainment.

The President reached the shores of San Francisco Bay early to-day. A typical fog hung over the bay and streets, but before 11 o'clock the sun had burned its way through the clouds, and when the President reached San Francisco at 1 o'clock the day was one of splendor.

At Berkeley the President was driven in an automobile to the Greek theatre of the University of California, where he was greeted by Prof. Bernard Moses, who served with him in the Philippines. He made a brief address, and then paid a brief visit to his cousin, Mrs. C. H. Blake. He was driven to Oakland and made an address to an outdoor throng of several thousands. In both cities he received a hearty greeting from crowds lining the sidewalks.

Crossing the bay on the revenue cutter Golden Gate and eating luncheon during the trip, the President reached San Francisco and was taken for a three-mile carriage ride through Market, Montgomery, and Kearney Streets and Van Ness and Golden Gate Avenues. He reviewed on Van Ness Avenue nearly all the public and parochial school children of the city.

Next the President laid the cornerstone of the new Young Men's Christian Association Building and expressed again the interest he feels in Y. M. C. A. work. Being a Mason, Mr. Taft always works hard on a cornerstone. With a silver trowel he spread mortar for fully five minutes before the big block of granite was lowered into its place.

Later the President was the guest of honor at a reception at the Union League Club. To-night he attended a banquet at the Fairmont Hotel, given by more than 600 residents of San Francisco, and later was entertained at the Press Club. The President retired at midnight at the St. Francis Hotel.

Necessity for Compromise.

In his speech at Berkeley the President said:

"Prof. Moses has alluded to the fact that we are veering around to the scientists, whether it be in politics or in agriculture—he did not mention theology. It is a fact that the universities of the land and especially such a one as this, placed so centrally and embracing so large a student body, are coming to figure more and more with their influence on the science of government and the course of parties.

"The business of government is not an easy one when you are in it. There are obstacles and friction and difficulties that it is not possible always to explain, but the existence of which one who is in the middle of it can affirm with great emphasis, and it is these obstacles and difficulties and friction that are not always appreciated by the critics, who do not have the responsibilities. None the less, the high standard set by those critics is of the utmost use in lifting up government and lifting up a people.

"I like to affirm that I am an optimist, and an optimist with respect to popular government. We have to admit that on the whole the result which is reached by reconciling and compromising all the views of differing people is better than if we followed with literal fidelity the theory of any one person.

"Popular Government is justified and vindicated on the theory that every class, and by that I mean those who in respect to a community are similarly situated and affected by the same circumstances, is better able in the long run to know what its interests are, and to look after those interests, than the members of any other class, however altruistic that other class may be, and that being the foundation of popular Government, and it being impossible therefore for any one class to give out laws for all, the necessary result of our Government is compromise, and he is a good citizen who recognizes that necessary result, and who when his own opinion is not followed out as he would like to have it, becomes what I remember your own distinguished professor lectured on in the university when I was there—'he must make himself a good loser.'

"He must play the game. He is in popular Government, and he has to take what popular Government gives him until by his influence with the people who control he can lead them in the direction which he would, and if they do not go in that direction he has to play ball with them and follow them."

Did Not Seek the Presidency.

He referred to his first trip to the Philippines, before which the Philippines Commission visited the university.

"If any man would have said that the trip would land me in the Presidency of the United States," he said, "I should have felt like characterizing him either as a falsifier or a man without sense. But that is it. You never can tell what the future is going to bring about. It seemed a long way around to the White House to go out 10,000 miles into the tropics, but that is where it landed me, and, as I started from Berkeley, it delights me now that I have reached that goal, if it can be called a goal, for I was not wandering in that direction consciously."

In his speech at the banquet here to-night the President reiterated his views on the subject of a merchant marine and aroused great enthusiasm by his declaration that he would urge the passage of a ship subsidy law as one of the principal subjects in his forthcoming message to Congress. Mr. Taft asserted that the country was ready for an experiment in the way of a subsidy. The extension of the Pacific trade was one of the objects of his Administration, and he knew of no more important topic to which Congress could devote itself.

ADMIRAL MERRELL RETIRES.

Will Give Up Presidency of Naval War College To-day.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 5.—Rear Admiral John P. Merrell, U. S. N., Commandant of the Second Naval Station and President of the Naval War College, to-morrow will turn over those offices to Rear Admiral Raymond Perry Rodgers, U. S. N.

Admiral Merrell retired from the active list a year ago last month, and hoped to enjoy a rest after many years of service, but the Secretary of the Navy requested Admiral Merrell to remain on duty. Admiral Merrell goes to Boston and thence to San Francisco to join Mrs. Merrell.

SIXTY ENTOMBED IN MINE.

Thirty Thought to be Dead—Firedamp Explosion Starts Fire.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 5.—Thirty miners are believed to be dead as the result of an explosion at the Extension Mine of the Wellington Colliery Company to-day near Nanaimo. The death list may be even larger, as sixty miners were entombed by the explosion. There is slight chance of rescue. The shock was terrific, but its effect was confined to the slope wherein it occurred. All of the men in the other slopes and levels escaped.

No bodies have been recovered. Fifty men are trying to penetrate to the explosion's level. Hundreds of inhabitants and miners volunteered aid, but the nature of the rescue work precluded the aid of more than fifty. The rescuers hoped for a time that the flames would die down so as to permit the speedy aiding of the entombed men, but their chances seem hopeless.

The explosion was due to fire-damp. The timbers in two levels at once took fire, and the flames spread with great rapidity.

The mine is sixty miles north of Victoria, near the seacoast. Some of the chambers run under the sea. The mine is largely owned by Gov. Dunsmuir of British Columbia. More than 3,000 men are employed in these collieries, which are the second largest in Canada and have been operated for forty years. They have been the scene of several disasters in recent years.

Brill Clothes

Mere size doesn't make a clothing stock attractive.

It's diversity that attracts.

Most good stores in New York depend on one organization for their clothes. No matter how good those clothes are in fabric, tailoring and value there's an awful sameness about them all.

Brill clothes, on the contrary, are not only GOOD in fabric, tailoring and value (they are the BEST known, judged by the most exacting standards), but they are diverse in assortment, presenting the best styles from ten leading designers; and exclusive Brill designed clothes, whose style is six months to one year in advance.

Brill clothes for Fall 1909 are $15 to $45.

PAYING THEIR TAXES NOW.

New Yorkers Turn $1,682,535 Into the City Treasury on the First Day.

Satisfaction was expressed yesterday in the Tax Department over the way in which taxes had come in on Monday, the first day on which they were payable. Altogether $1,682,535 was received, of which $1,219,788 came from Manhattan, $100,545 from the Bronx, $268,074 from Brooklyn, $72,963 from Queens, and $21,164 from Richmond. In addition $4,166 was paid in under the head of water arrears.

No rebates have been granted this year for prompt payment, as was the custom before 1908. Up to last year a rebate was allowed on all payments before Dec. 1. This resulted in large sums being collected early in the season in order to earn the rebate; and the first day the books were open in 1907 the amount paid in was $17,635,542.

Imported Gowns and Wraps An Attractive Display of Most Fascinating Styles

2d Fl.

Exquisite Evening Gowns in raisin and gold cachemire de soie. The bodice is demurely draped fichu-wise with chiffon cloth trimmed with lace, caught by geranium-tinted flowers. The raisin Gown has a girdle of absinthe green satin and the gold one wistaria satin; elbow sleeves, trimmed with lace and finished with a deep pleating of chiffon cloth.

$89.75

Evening, Afternoon and Carriage Gowns and Wraps made of satin, chiffon, moire, silk, bengaline, velour and cloth, in colors that elude analysis. There are no words that can convey an adequate impression of the new tints. Many have been christened after flowers, fruits and jewels, but this does not describe their beauty—which is often the glowing beauty piled deep upon the threshold of sunsets.

These are exquisite creations designed for receptions, theatre, dinners, bridge and drives—the materialized Dress dreams of Paquin, Chary, Bechoff, David & Cie., Drecoll, Martial and Armand and their contemporary artists.

We Also Have Scores of Modifications and Adaptations—Wonderfully Low-Priced.

One is a new model Tailor Suit, inspired by a costly Paris novelty—made of silky light weight broadcloth in black, amethyst and blue. The coat is 48 inches long; large pointed revers, trimmed with ornaments of self-material. $45.74.

Men's "Burberry" Raincoats 4th Fl.

England has always led the world in the production of rainproof garments. That's probably because the mists and fogs of the English climate and the frequent drizzles developed the needs of such things more urgently than anywhere else.

Of all English Raincoats the "Burberry" is openly or tacitly acknowledged the best. "Burberry" Coats are as ubiquitous as the Londoners themselves. Lieutenant Shackelton and his comrades wore "Burberry" Coats during their recent dash to the South Pole, and they report that in spite of their lightness they rendered wonderful service in turning both snow blizzards and wind storms.

We have just received our new Winter stock of "Burberry" Coats. You should see them.

Burberry Slip-On Water-proofed Coats, single and double-breasted models, tan and olive shades, button close under the chin, wind shields in sleeves, value $25.00; special $19.74.

Burberry Storm Coats, tan gaberdine fabric, lined with heavy fleece, French fly front, value $55.00; special $47.74.

Burberry Storm Coats, tan gaberdine cloth, double-breasted model, lined with warmthful fleece, extra semi-detachable fleece vest, adjustable wind cuffs, value $65.00; special $54.75.

Burberry Ulster, full box model, 54 inches long, heavy Montagnac cloth in brown, olive and stripes, lined with English plaids, value $65.00; special $54.75.

Burberry Combination Coats, made of finest grade Burberry cloth in wide wale and plaid effects, detachable leather lining, made coat-fashion and may be worn separately, value $100.00; special $79.75.

Capes and Coats for the grave and the gay. Suits vary from Tartan plaids to modest plain cloths. Look at the racks from which they depend. Likelier than not you'll come face to face with "your" style.

A Magnificent Showing of Women's Tourist and Motoring Coats and Shimmering Gossamer Raincoats

Second Floor.

In these days of sudden train and boat trips and, at a moment's notice, automobile rides, no woman's Winter wardrobe is complete without a Coat appropriate for such delightful demands.

We've provided them prodigally. The fastidious dresser very properly values exclusiveness—individuality—highly. She doesn't want to see her own Coat, representing her personal taste and discriminating selection, reflected in the Coat of her friends. Therefore, we have collected a large variety of one-of-a-kind styles. They are chiefly in Irish frieze and downy Scotch camel's hair and English and French coatings distinctive in patterns. The wool is fine, the yarn is long and strong—mottles enhance mixtures, dabs and patches of color, checks, plaids, clear cut in a criss-cross way or indefinable.

Raincoats Second Floor.

Beautiful Rubber—remarkably beautiful. A silvery, frosty, sparkling, velvety finish. Hard to say which is the most effective—the plain colors or the ones cut into stripes by delicate lines in contrasting tints.

RELIANCE.

Isn't it true that the average man, while not desirous of "cutting a dash," likes to feel himself correctly dressed, and if necessary, will go to some little trouble to be sure of it?

We are clothiers to the average man. He simplifies the dress question by relying on us. Spending little time and comparatively little money on his clothes, he is always in good form.

We invite your reliance.

USES CAR TO CHASE SPEEDING AUTOISTS

But Brooklyn Policeman Was Outdistanced by Men Who Ran Down Youth and Girl.

MACHINE'S LAMPS NOT LIT

Its Passengers Stopped to Carry Their Victims Into a Drug Store and Then Sped Away.

Up Broadway, Brooklyn, last night dashed an automobile in which were two men urging the chauffeur to greater speed. Close behind flew a trolley car, its gong clanging a warning to careless pedestrians and vehicles, while on the step of the front platform stood Policeman Ichorn of the Ralph Avenue Station. Fast as the trolley car was running the automobile gained on it, and the policeman urged the motorman to use all his power.

For more than a quarter of a mile the chase continued through crowded Broadway, but at last the motorists found a well-paved street into which to turn. The automobile skidded dizzily around the corner and was off again in an instant at full speed. Ichorn jumped from the racing trolley car, but there was no other automobile in sight in which to take up the chase and the policeman had to be satisfied with making a record of the automobile's license number, which he had noted as the car sped along in front of him.

Back at the junction of Bainbridge Street, Broadway, and Rockaway Avenue, where the chase started, Dr. Roderman of the Bushwick Hospital had just finished dressing the cuts and bruises of Casimir Rumonez and fourteen-year-old Sophie Sivas when the policeman returned. Both the young man and the little girl had been the victims of what witnesses termed the chauffeur's reckless driving.

The couple, with many other persons—for Broadway was crowded at the time—were crossing Bainbridge Street at 9 o'clock, when the automobile, according to witnesses, came speeding down the street at high speed, without lights. There was a piercing blast from the auto's siren, a warning shout from the crowd on the sidewalk, and then the auto struck the young man and the child. It hurled them, bleeding and unconscious, to one side of the road, and sped on for some feet before its chauffeur could bring the machine to a stop.

When the car halted, however, the two men and the chauffeur leaped quickly from it and picked up Rumonez and the little girl. They carried them into a near-by drug store and asked the clerk to call an ambulance. It was thus that Dr. Roderman came. Until the surgeon was able to assure them, after an examination, that neither the young man nor the little girl was hurt, the motorists remained in the drug store. When Ichorn appeared, however, they fled, running from the store and starting the automobile before Ichorn could stop them.

Rumonez and the little girl were taken to their homes after their injuries had been attended to. The young man lives at 750 Rockaway Avenue and the child close by. Friends took her home, for the shock had driven her address from her mind.

WHITE TO LEAVE PARIS SOON.

Will Sail for Home Next Month and Will Not Return.

PARIS, Oct. 5.—Henry White, the American Ambassador to France, has obtained a leave of absence, and, accompanied by Mrs. White, will sail on Nov. 3 for the United States, not to return.

He will take no official leave of the Government officials and his diplomatic colleagues before his departure, but probably will not return to present his letters of recall, leaving that to Mr. Bacon, in accordance with numerous precedents, notably in the case of Ambassador Reid when he left Paris after his nomination for Vice President, his letters of recall being presented by his successor.

While retaining his legal residence in Rhode Island, Mr. White will take a house in Washington and will spend the Winter there. It is understood that Mr. Bacon has arranged to take over the present Ambassador's residence in Paris.

TOLSTOY HAS FAINTING FIT.

Unconscious Ten Minutes—Able to Take a Walk Afterward.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 5.—The health of Count Leo Tolstoy is again exciting apprehension. He fainted twice after his return to Yasnaya-Polyana, from his trip to Moscow. It was the first time he had been there in several years.

One fainting fit lasted ten minutes. The physician, who is the Count's constant companion, succeeded in restoring him to consciousness.

The aged author, after several hours' rest, was able to undertake a short promenade.

"Claud" Engle Gets a License to Wed.

ALDRICH REASSURES FRANCE.

Relieves Apprehensions of Discrimination Under Our New Tariff.

PARIS, Oct. 5.—A more optimistic feeling prevails in Government circles to-day regarding the amicable adjustment of Franco-American tariff relations under the new law as a result of the explanations furnished by Senator Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island during his talks last week with a number of the French Ministers and other high Government officials.

In the first place, Mr. Aldrich disabused the minds of the Frenchmen of the idea, entertained here, that the termination of the existing commercial agreement between France and the United States six months in advance of the agreements with other countries, notably Germany, was in any way intended as a discrimination against France, and, secondly, and more important, Senator Aldrich relieved the anxiety in Paris concerning the interpretation of Section 2 of the new law. This the French believed involved the automatic imposition of the American maximum unless France afforded every minimum and every administrative concession in her tariff.

As some of these concessions had been made after hard-fought battles with other countries in return for specific advantages, the Government, in spite of its desire to avoid a tariff war, was opposed to granting wholesale concessions to the United States.

It is understood that Senator Aldrich expressed the opinion that Section 2 gave President Taft a certain measure of latitude and that if France accorded the minimum rate upon articles in which the United States was principally interested Mr. Taft probably would consider that America was not unduly discriminated against within the meaning of the act.

Senator Aldrich, who is now in London, returns to Paris Thursday to attend a dinner which Minister of Finance Cochery will give in his honor and that of Ambassador White.

BENJAMIN GUGGENHEIM BACK.

He Fears That Too Much Prosperity May Cause a Labor Famine Here.

Benjamin Guggenheim, the financier, returned from Europe yesterday on the North German Lloyd liner Kronprinzessin Cecilie with his family after studying business conditions on the other side for four months. He was interested in matters here, and while the customs men were examining his trunks, he said:

"There are three things that seem to be taking up the public's interest on this side of the water," he said—"the distribution of honors in the discovery of the north pole, areoplaning, and the recent discovery of the New York Custom House."

Of financial conditions, he said: "The United States has no reason to worry about prosperity. The only thing to worry about is that if we have too much of it the consequences may be a famine in transportation facilities and in high grade labor."

He said he had left his brother, Daniel Guggenheim, in the South of France still very ill, but gradually improving.

MEYER FORGOT HIS NAME.

Memory Blank After Something Snapped in His Head—Soon Recovers.

A man who seemed to be bewildered and distressed mentally was found wandering aimlessly to and fro in front of Bellevue Hospital early yesterday morning by Frank Nugent, one of the gatekeepers. When taken into the hospital and examined by Drs. Drury and Gregory he said that he could not remember his name or his home or occupation.

He knew only that he had been riding in an elevated train, when suddenly something seemed to snap in his head, and thereafter he could recall nothing. Even when cards found in his pockets, bearing the name James Udell Meyer, were shown to him he shook his head, unable to recognize the name.

Later in the day, however, when left to himself, he did recall that that was his name and that he was a bookkeeper living at 162 Heyward Street, Brooklyn. He said he had suffered from heart trouble and was subject to fainting spells.

His family was communicated with, and he was able to leave the hospital last night.

Fishguard Service to Paris.

S. J. Lister, Passenger Superintendent of the Cunard Line, who is now in this city, said last night that arrangements had been made with the International Sleeping Car Company to run a dining car vestibuled train from Calais to Paris in connection with the through express service via Fishguard. It will begin with the sailing of the Mauretania to-day.

Notes of Foreign Affairs.

MOSCOW, Oct. 5.—Col. Pollakoff, a high official of the Military Council, has been arrested here in conection with the irregularities, amounting to more than $1,000,000, which were discovered last February during an investigation of the Army Quartermaster.

CHRISTIANIA, Oct. 5.—A Norwegian engineer, Esnar Lilloe, has invented a new type of aeroplane, which is now under construction here. It is announced that the machine will be ready to fly in November.

KHARKOV, European Russia, Oct. 5.—The members of the nobility have excluded from their ranks Prof. Maxim Kovalevsky, leader of the Democratic Reform Party; M. Gredeskul, and three other members of the first Duma, who were among the signers of the Viborg manifesto.

VLADIVOSTK, Oct. 5.—Since the outbreak of cholera here there have been ninety-three cases and fifty deaths.

CONGO MISSIONARY ACQUITTED OF LIBEL

Rev. W. H. Sheppard Had Been Accused by One of the Rubber Concession Companies.

DAMAGES OF $6,000 ASKED

Officials Were Charged with Impressing Whole Villages for Gathering Rubber and Levying Oppressive Taxes.

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo, Oct. 5.—The Rev. W. H. Sheppard, an American missionary, was acquitted to-day of the charges of libel brought against him by one of the Congo concession companies which has a monopoly of rubber gathering in the Kasai region.

Two American missionaries, W. H. Sheppard and the Rev. William Morrison, were charged with "calumnious denunciation" and libel by the concession company. The suit was based on an article which appeared in The Kasai Herald. The charges against Mr. Morrison, however, were withdrawn. The company sought to recover $6,000 from Mr. Sheppard.

In substance the charges made by the missionaries were that Congo officials levy upon the natives oppressive so-called taxes to be paid in rubber; that whole villages, including women and children, are impressed by the soldiers for gathering rubber; that they are often compelled to travel many miles to the rubber forests and to sleep there for more than a week under unhealthy conditions; that they are cruelly punished for failure to meet the taxes imposed, and that so large a proportion of their time is taken for gathering these taxes that they are unable to cultivate crops and raise food necessary for their own support.

The Belgian Government holds half the stock of the Kasai Company and a majority of the company Directors are Belgian officials, so that the suit has been considered as practically one by the Belgian Government against the missionaries. The suit was to have been heard in Leopoldville on May 20, but it was postponed several times.

Messrs. Morrison and Sheppard are members of the American Presbyterian Mission. Their regular station in the Congo is at Ibanji, a long distance from Leopoldville. The trial was conducted by Belgian officials. The American Consul at Boma was instructed from Washington to exercise appropriate good offices in this case if occasion arose.

RUNAWAY IMPALES A MAN.

Shaft Pins Him to the Navy Yard Wall and Death Follows.

A man thought by the police to be H. D. Chase, a miner, who came here from Pittsburg for the Hudson-Fulton Celebration or in search of work, was pinned against the Brooklyn Navy Yard wall by the shaft of a wagon attached to a runaway horse last night and killed. The shaft passed through his body.

When the body was searched at the Fulton Street Station a card of the United Mine Workers of America was found. It bore the name H. D. Chase.

What Is Needed to Reach Lamberts Jewelry Level

Any outspoken retail jeweler will tell you that the Lambert way is the best way. Thousands in the trade would like to do as we do, but that would require:

A factory large enough to supply most of the stock of a fast-growing metropolitan store.

Buying from other manufacturers at bedrock prices.

Direct importation of diamonds and other precious stones.

A special corps of designers.

A spot cash policy all along the line.

Such a hold on public confidence and such a broad experience in the artistic and commercial departments of the jewelry trade as come from over 32 years of work and study.

A guarantee of everything sold.

These requirements mean much to the jewelry buyer who would save money, satisfy an exacting taste and be sure of the quality of what he buys! Let us show you.

LOTOS CLUB BIDS FAREWELL TO STONE

Many Prominent Persons Attend Dinner on the Eve of His Sailing on a World Tour.

POEM READ IN HIS HONOR

Handsome Shield of Ancient Design Presented to the General Manager of The Associated Press.

As a tribute of their regard on the eve of his departure for a trip around the world friends of Melville E. Stone, General Manager of The Associated Press, gave him a dinner last night at the Lotos Club in this city. One hundred and thirty guests were present. Messages of regret were read from Andrew Carnegie, Mark Twain, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Col. George Harvey, Frank R. Lawrence, James Speyer, and Col. J. C. Hemphill. A poem in honor of Mr. Stone was read by Francis D. Carley.

The speakers included Frank B. Noyes, President of The Associated Press; Judge Elbert H. Gary, John C. Spooner, ex-United States Senator from Wisconsin; J. Hartley Manners, the dramatist; Bourke Cockran, Victor Lawson, and Myron T. Herrick, ex-Governor of Ohio.

After the dinner Mr. Conover presented Mr. Stone with a shield taken from one of similar design of the fifteenth century. It is of cast bronze, about sixteen inches wide by twenty-one inches high, with ornamentation appropriate to the period. In the centre is a bas relief of Mr. Stone, surrounded by exact reproductions in gold and enamel of the foreign decorations which have been bestowed upon him by France, Germany, Italy, Russia, Sweden, and Japan. The whole is surmounted by an American eagle.

Among those at the guests' table were George B. Cortelyou, Cornelius N. Bliss, John C. Spooner, Judge Elbert H. Gary, Bourke Cockran, Frank A. Vanderlip, George W. Perkins, Myron T. Herrick, John Barrett, Commander Ettore Ximines, Judge C. H. Truax, Morgan J. O'Brien, F. D. Underwood, George R. Peck, Col. Robert C. Clowry, William F. Sheehan, George R. Sheldon, Oakleigh Thorne, Alphonse Jongers, and George T. Wilson.

Here is Mr. Carley's poem:

Anywhere, everywhere, in the day, in the night,
When storms are loose or skies are bright,
In costume of court or knightly robe,
His thumb will be found on the pulse of the globe.

Haste ye back, then, dear Mellie, from over the sea;
Hasten back to the shade of the old Lotos tree;
Our fondest endearments will be waiting for thee.

Frank D. Conover presided over the dinner until the cigars were served, when Henry D. Estabrook took his place as toastmaster.

JUDSON MUST PAY $76,656.

International Power Suit Judgment Upheld by Court of Appeals.

ALBANY, Oct. 5.—A judgment of $76,656 was given to-day by the Court of Appeals against Cyrus Field Judson in favor of Willard H. Jones & Co., stock brokers, who purchased 900 shares of International Power Company stock on Judson's order in March and April, 1902. Judson failed to make payment, resulting, it is alleged, in a loss to the firm of $66,700, when the stock had to be resold. The judgment of the lower courts was affirmed.

It was asserted by the company that Judson was the manager of a pool in which Joseph H. Hoadley and Joseph Leiter were interested, and that the transactions were made for the pool, which found the stock going against them, and, failing to give support, the price broke on April 30 of that year from $198 to $120 per share. Hoadley and Leiter denied the existence of any pool.

Judson made default in the pleading, and judgment was directed against him and the complaint against the others dismissed.

GOV. DRAPER'S HOME BURNED.

Boston Residence of Massachusetts Executive Is Totally Destroyed.

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—The Boston residence of Gov. Eben S. Draper in the Back Bay section of this city was totally destroyed by fire early to-day. No one was in the building at the time, the Governor and his family not having returned from their Hopedale home. George Waggett, a fireman, was partially overcome by smoke. The fire is believed to have started in the basement, possibly through the careless use of matches by workmen who were in the house yesterday preparing it for occupancy.

The house was a brownstone structure, 4½ stories in height. Gov. Draper was informed of the fire by Lieut. Gov. Frothingham by telephone, and the Governor came up from Hopedale on an early morning train.

Gov. Draper said during the forenoon that the money loss would surely reach $150,000, but that no insurance company could make good the books, pictures, rugs, and ceramics which were destroyed.

For to-morrow's bill Mrs. Morris has engaged Arthur Prince, ventriloquist; George Fuller Golden, Fiske O'Hara, Billy Dillon, Daphne Pollard, and others.

RESENTS 'UNION OF DEFENSE.'

Prof. Richards Criticises Planned American-English Union Against Germany.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 5.—The so-called "Union of Defense" between the United States and Great Britain, to offset the growing naval power of Germany, advocated by Lords Northcliffe, Beresford, and Close of England, was declared to be absurd in a resolution offered to-day in the German Alliance National Convention by Dr. Ernst Richards, Professor of German in Columbia University, New York City. The resolution also declared that any move toward such a union would be certain to meet with strenuous opposition from the millions of German-Americans and Irish-Americans.

Former Congressman Charles B. Landis of Indiana, representing the Navy League, spoke to-day on "The Merchant Marine and Its Influence for Universal Peace."

"The American merchant marine as at present constituted is a fiction," declared Mr. Landis. "We may have spent $300,000,000 in the construction of the Panama Canal by the time that work is completed, and when it is finished we will not have a single ship flying the American flag in over-the-seas commerce to pass through the canal.

"Those Americans who are informed consider our navy a bluff; other nations do not regard it seriously. They know that without practically anything in the shape of adequate merchant marine as auxiliary in time of war its effectiveness is reduced to a minimum."

Next Week's Bills at Manhattan.

Next week's bills at the Manhattan Opera House will include no novelties. Walter-Villa, will be the bill. "Les Contes d'Hoffmann" will be sung on Wednesday night; "Il Trovatore," with Mr. Zerola and Mmes. Grippon and d'Alvarez on Thursday; "Louise" on Friday, with Mmes. Baron and Duchene and Messrs. Beck and Duffault; "Faust" on Saturday afternoon, with Miss Sylva and Messrs. Duffault and Laskin, and "Aida" on Saturday night. The usual concert will be given next Sunday night.

CITY BREVITIES.

The Navigazione Generale Italiana will start a direct freight and passenger service between Boston and Palermo, Naples, and Genoa, calling at the Azores. The first sailing will be from Boston on Nov. 25.

The Rev. Matthew C. Gleason, Chaplain, U. S. N., now attached to the receiving ship Hancock, at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, will lecture in Carnegie Hall on Sunday evening for the benefit of the Catholic Camp Association. His subject will be "A Trip Around the World with the Atlantic Fleet."

Announcement was made yesterday by the American committee for the exhibition for American manufacturers, to be held in Berlin next year, that Prof. George F. Atwood, Secretary of the American Association of Commerce and Trade in Berlin, had accepted the European management.

Laborers in the Park Department excavating in City Hall Park yesterday to prepare places for small trees, uncovered more bones. They were on the site of the old Provost Prison, and, like the skulls discovered on Monday, are supposed to be the remains of revolutionary prisoners who died in prison while confined by the British.

The will of Anne Cecilia Sheridan of 108 Seventy-sixth Street, filed for probate yesterday, directs bequests ranging from $100 to $500 to be made to relatives and friends, gives $500 to St. Malachy's Home at Rockaway Park, and makes the Society of St. Vincent de Paul of this city her residuary legatee.

STABER MURDERER QUICKLY CONVICTED

Schlieman Found Guilty in First Degree—Tried in a Day—Jury Out an Hour.

ONLY PENALTY IS DEATH

Prisoner Confesses That He Escaped from Sing Sing—Ordered Handcuffed in Court—Giro's Trial Begins.

Frederick Schlieman, the burglar who killed Mrs. Sophie Staber in her home in Flatbush on July 8, while robbing the house with an accomplice, was convicted of murder in the first degree yesterday by a jury in the Supreme Court before Justice Crane in Brooklyn. The verdict was found fifty-five minutes after the case went to the jury. The trial began on Monday morning.

As the jury filed out of court to consider its verdict District Attorney Clarke moved for the trial of Giro, who was indicted with Schlieman for the murder.

Schlieman presented a pitiable spectacle in court yesterday. When the District Attorney in a scathing summing up arraignment branded him a coward, he trembled and glanced furtively around, as if in fear of any one who passed near his seat. He kept up his queer mumbling to himself. He appeared to be disinterested when the jury brought in its verdict, giving no hint of his feeling, except that he sat shivering.

In giving his pedigree to the Court Clerk he said he was 32 years old, and born in Germany. He admitted that he had escaped from Sing Sing while serving a sentence there under the name of Smythe for counterfeiting.

Between his answers he kept mumbling to himself, and boasted that he would not go to the electric chair. Upon hearing his record, Justice Crane ordered that the prisoner be handcuffed. Schlieman yelled when this was done, complaining that it hurt his arm.

Lawyer Edward Reilly made the usual motion for a new trial, but Justice Crane denied it, and remanded the defendant to Raymond Street Jail for sentence. The only penalty that Schlieman can receive under the law is death in the electric chair. Justice Crane said he would pronounce sentence either on Friday or on Monday.

In conducting the defense yesterday Lawyer Reilly tried to show that the bullet which killed Mrs. Staber was not fired by the defendant, but that it could have been fired by young Edward Staber while he was struggling with Giro, the other burglar. The lawyer attacked the confession obtained by Assistant District Attorney Elder from Schlieman when he was in the hospital, asserting that the document should be ignored because of the circumstances under which it was obtained. He put no witnesses on the stand.

District Attorney Clarke resented Reilly's line of defense, alleging that counsel for the burglar intimated that the other members of the Staber family had committed perjury for vengeance. He declared that young Staber had shot at the fleeing burglars and away from the spot where Mrs. Staber stood.

Just as speedy justice is looked for in the trial of Giro. When court closed yesterday the jury for Giro had been selected, and District Attorney Clarke had presented the people's case and examined one witness, George Staber, the husband of Mrs. Staber. The trial will be resumed to-day.

Put Off Train; Lose Damage Suit.

Alleging that they had been ejected from the Overland Limited on the Southern Pacific Railroad, two years ago, Max and Sadie Levy sued yesterday for $2,000 damages each before Justice La Fetra in the City Court. The verdict in both cases was for the defendant, on whose behalf it was alleged that the Levys boarded the train without proper tickets, and on being told that they must pay additional Pullman rates or leave the train, refused to do either until the train was stopped.

Our Message

We have something to say to owners of unimproved and inadequately improved property—and to architects.

Already we are favorably known to a large percentage of property owners in this city, but the owners we are most anxious to reach are those who do not know us. It is they whom this story should interest.

But it is something more than a story—it is a message that will carry news to most owners and conviction to many.

It is designed primarily to give impetus to the improving of New York City real estate.

It will disseminate some new truths about the building business and it will show how effectually we are laboring to remedy the evils of building construction from the standpoint of the owner and the architect.

It will also bury a few traditions.

WM. VOGEL & SON Subject: Overcoat Sale

"The Six Hundred"

600 Fall Overcoats for men, the greater number of which are silk-lined and formerly priced at 25.00 27.50 30.00
On Sale at 19.50

This is the greatest event of its kind we have ever conducted.

For this reason: Every overcoat was made by our own organization to sell for 25.00, 27.50 and 30.00.

And for this reason: The overcoats are perfectly styled and possess the character and distinctiveness associated with all our clothing.

And again for this reason: It is the very beginning of the season, when price-reductions are very, very unusual.

Hence it must be patent to every man that a sale of fine fall overcoats at 19.50—that were 25.00, 27.50 and 30.00—is an opportunity of all opportunities.

The fabrics are velours, coverts, thibets, cheviots, unfinished worsteds and diagonals—black, gray, tan, oxford and olive in medium and full length models. Cravenettes and rubberized coats are included.

Kranich & Bach Player Piano

EDUCATES TO MUSICAL DISCRIMINATION

The advantages of an education, whether musical, classical, literary or scientific, are enhanced by intimate acquaintance with the works and the faithful exponents of recognized standards.

The Kranich & Bach Player Piano is a combination in one complete instrument of the highest development of the modern Standard Upright Piano, with the most marvelous, sensitive and musically satisfying interior self-playing mechanism that has ever been devised.

For the student, the virtuoso and the ABSOLUTELY INEXPERIENCED, this paino is supreme in its wealth of musical possibilities, its perfectly balanced touch, delightful beauty and great power of tone, flexibility of action and positive control—possessing all those vitally essential qualities which have made the Kranich & Bach piano world famous, and without in the slightest degree affected or disturbed by the player mechanism. These important qualities guarantee an instrument that will permit the rendition of any composition for the piano, responding to every shade of musical phrasing and interpreting with absolute fidelity the motifs of the composers and the performances of the greatest pianists.

Made in 88 note models or 65-88 combinations

MR. TAFT ON PROSPERITY.

More than once within a few days Mr. TAFT has emphasized the country's prosperity. The dispatch from Sacramento published yesterday carried his words:

> Everywhere in this country I have found evidence of prosperity, from Boston to Portland, and if signs do not fail we are upon an era of business enterprise and expansion that has never been seen in this country before.

There is no other country in the world of which that can be said, and it might seem to some as though such conditions were good to leave alone. Not so Mr. TAFT. Such prosperity brings responsibilities, and his is to carry on the "marvelous crusade" of his predecessor:

> But the difficulty is that whenever everybody is prosperous, when everybody is comfortable, then is the time when our old friend SATAN steps in and helps along the evil cause. Then is the time when we are apt to be inert and enjoy the things we have without looking forward in the future and seeing that the evils will grow and ultimately swamp us.

Mr. TAFT, it seems, is determined to be as free from this reproach as his distinguished predecessor. Besides assuming the none too few reforms projected by Mr. ROOSEVELT Mr. TAFT has proposed an even longer list of his own, and is even more forethoughtful than Mr. ROOSEVELT in taking present precautions against "ultimate and suppositious evils."

It has never been suggested that Mr. ROOSEVELT produced the prosperity which characterized a portion of his Administration. Many of his friends reject the theory that he was responsible for the check to prosperity which happened before he left the White House. Still others contend that even if he did cause the reverses which some have said were economically more serious than the civil war, they, like the war of the rebellion, were worth all the cost. These are contentious subjects, and the point is waived. Present prosperity is the present text, and it is notorious that it followed the end of the Roosevelt régime and the dawn of hope that an Administration of different temperament, albeit of like aims and equally high regard for civic and economic morality, had been begun. It is now timely to ask what would be the result of continuing the marvelous crusade.

A suggestion is afforded by the meeting at Denver of 6,000 delegates representing the five billions invested in street railway enterprises. The uppermost topic is the corporation tax, although city and State antagonism to their business is also under discussion. There is "unanimity" against the corporation tax, but division of opinion on the other subjects. The point of objection is not the tax, but the methods in which the tax is levied, and the assumption of a regulative function by another jurisdiction without the declaration of any principle of regulation. If we are going to tax and regulate surely it is reasonable to do both according to sound practice and the results of experience.

Yet Mr. TAFT, the man of conservative characteristics, of judicial temper, of experience in public affairs surpassing Mr. ROOSEVELT'S, showed a greater indiscretion in this adventure of his own than even his distinguished predecessor in his marvelous crusade which met such unsurmountable obstacles to further progress at the very moment of greatest popularity and triumph. Under such conditions as Mr. TAFT described as noted by himself in his continental tour he proposes over thirty projects of fundamental legislation. Many of them are contentious. Many more are so far from being contentious that they are deemed unwise by excellent judges. Would not Mr. TAFT be well advised if he allowed the people to enjoy their prosperity, and did not by his personal activities promote a complete parallel between his Administration and its predecessor?

HEADACHE MIXTURES.

Users of the popular "cures for headache" who suffer from blueness of the skin, weak hearts, impoverished blood, short breath, nervous depression, sleeplessness, and loss of memory, not to mention cases of complete invalidism and death due to the habitual use of these drugs, have themselves to blame. The effects of acetanilid, phenacetin, and antipyrin, the commoner of the coal-tar derivatives employed in these mixtures, have been defined by competent physicians in magazines and periodicals that are accessible to the public. Now Dr. L. F. KEBLER, Chief of the Division of Drugs in the Bureau of Chemistry, and his assistants, Drs. F. P. MORGAN and PHILIP RUPP, have shown in Bulletin 377 that, while the doses administered with medical skill and judgment have been lessened since the British Medical Association made its report on this subject in 1894, these drugs have been used more and more by people generally, and without medical supervision. Many doctors have become profoundly distrustful of their action on the heart, and have abandoned their use altogether. All physicians condemn unreservedly their use by the public, and emphasize their pernicious habit-forming tendencies.

The Federal Food and Drugs act requires that the presence of certain powerful or dangerous ingredients of patent medicines shall be declared on the label. But the Government has gone further in this bulletin, in that it makes the consumer aware of the precise character of the headache mixtures, and the ill effects which may be expected to follow their injudicious use.

BETWEEN FUSION AND TAMMANY.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN is a radical, WILLIAM J. GAYNOR is a radical. In politics both of them habitually employ the methods of the agitator. They appeal to discontent and seek to increase it. They proclaim themselves the champions of the people against the rich, the powerful, the persons in office, or somebody who is oppressing and despoiling them. If there is any oppressor and despoiler in this community it is Tammany and, curiously enough, Judge GAYNOR is the candidate of Tammany. Nevertheless he is, like BRYAN, a radical. Last year, when Mr. BRYAN was candidate for the Presidency, he received in the City of New York 284,569 votes against 300,998 for Mr. TAFT. Mr. BRYAN was beaten in the city by 16,429 votes. The figures are comforting. They show that this is not a city of radicals, it is sane and conservative. The Mayoralty election this year, with Mr. BANNARD the candidate of Fusion and Mr. GAYNOR the radical candidate of Tammany, offers a test of the temper of the voters very similar to that furnished by the Presidential election last year. On the one side we have radicalism, innovation, extreme views, a passionate temperament; upon the other sobermindedness, sanity, balance, reasonableness, sound business judgment.

In the year 1901 Mr. EDWARD M. SHEPARD was the Tammany candidate for Mayor against Mr. SETH LOW, the Fusion candidate. Mr. SHEPARD is an abler man than Judge GAYNOR, a man of reason, prudence, and conservatism, far more worthy of the people's confidence than the present Tammany candidate. Yet Mr. SHEPARD was beaten. Here is the vote by boroughs:

1901.	Shepard.	Low.
Manhattan & Bronx...	156,631	162,298
Brooklyn	88,858	114,625
Queens..............	13,679	13,118
Richmond	6,009	6,772
	265,177	306,813

There is comfort in these figures also, for Mr. BANNARD is in every way as well equipped for the office of Mayor as Mr. LOW, while, as we have said, Mr. SHEPARD is better equipped, far better equipped, than Judge GAYNOR. There was Tammany opposition to the nomination of Mr. SHEPARD that year, just as there was Tammany opposition to the nomination of Judge GAYNOR this year. Hope of the election of Mr. BANNARD is well justified by a consideration of the vote of 1901.

In 1903, however, Tammany, with Mr. MCCLELLAN as its candidate, won the election, defeating Mr. LOW, the candidate of Fusion. These are the figures of the vote:

1903.	McClellan.	Low.
Manhattan & Bronx...	188,681	132,178
Brooklyn	102,569	101,251
Queens	17,074	11,960
Richmond	6,458	6,697
	314,762	252,086

Probably the policy of the Low administration in adopting the rule of full valuation in the assessment of taxable property turned a great many taxpayers against Mr. LOW that year, and this, in a measure, would account for the Tammany majority of 62,000.

The municipal election of 1905 is memorable as that in which Mr. MCCLELLAN, the candidate of Tammany, was elected by the very narrow plurality of 3,478. This is the vote by boroughs:

1905.	McClellan.	Ivins.	Hearst.
Manhattan & B.	140,264	64,280	123,292
Brooklyn	68,788	61,192	84,835
Queens	13,228	7,213	13,706
Richmond	6,127	4,449	3,096
	228,407	137,134	224,929

It will be at once observed that in the year 1905 Tammany was a minority party. Mr. IVINS'S vote, 137,134, added to Mr. HEARST'S vote, 224,929, gives a total of 362,063, or 133,656 more than MCCLELLAN'S vote. It is perfectly evident that if the forces that supported Mr. HEARST four years ago now support Mr. GAYNOR he will be elected, and by a very large majority. But Mayor MCCLELLAN received thousands of Republican votes. Mr. IVINS was not loyally supported by his party. Gov. HUGHES got 261,386 votes in New York City last year. That was Presidential year, and the normal vote this year will, of course, be much less. But if Mr. BANNARD gets the full Republican vote, and even half the votes that were given to Mr. HEARST four years ago, his total will be greater than Tammany can roll up for Judge GAYNOR.

The result, manifestly, depends upon the decision taken by that class of voters who were detached from both parties four years ago by the candidacy of Mr. HEARST. It lies with the campaign managers of Mr. BANNARD to persuade these voters, who, as house owners, tenants, roomers, boarders, or in whatever manner they may live and whatever may be their business, are in a true sense taxpayers, that it is for their interest and for their advantage that the affairs of the city should be administered as the affairs of a private concern would be administered—economically, intelligently, safely, and according to sound business methods.

THE BUDGET HEARINGS.

The newspapers reported yesterday hearings by the Board of Estimate upon the requisitions of seven departments. Each and all wanted more money for next year, two of them asking each for over $1,000,000 more. Doubtless some of these increases are for laudable purposes, but it does not follow that they should be granted for that reason. For each laudable increase there is opportunity for an even more laudable decrease, and the two should be bracketed together. Each head of department should be told that if he wants more money for certain uses he must redistribute the amounts which he had last year, saving from one purpose what he wants for another. If this is impossible, the case for an additional allowance will be strengthened, and needs can be met later on.

The demands for more money to be spent must be considered with the current exhibition on Union Square of what previous allowances have been spent for. If the city allows a repetition of extortionate taxation and wasteful expenditures it has only itself to blame. The issue is plainly indicated. One candidate stands for expenditure regardless of its effect on debt and taxation. The other stands for retrenchment and a progressive administration financed by economies. It is for the voters to put their ballots in the right box and get the Mayor they want.

EUSAPIA PALLADINO.

Prof. WILLIAM JAMES in the American Magazine for October and Mr. HEREWARD CARRINGTON in the October McClure's, both professing to have "dabbled" in "psychics" for a term of years, employ their influence in raising the stock of human credulity in favor of EUSAPIA PALLADINO, the Neapolitan medium who is about to visit these shores with her stock of trickery and supernatural pretensions. Both Mr. CARRINGTON and Prof. JAMES, who admit that EUSAPIA has been often caught cheating in her exhibitions, strangely confess that they believe in her. Despite her cheats, they do see tables suspended in the air without support, curtains blown about in closed rooms, objects floating in air untouched by human hand, and hear the notes of musical instruments distant from EUSAPIA, and feel and are touched by white and living hands.

We are not so much concerned about EUSAPIA PALLADINO as about the psychical researchers. Mr. CARRINGTON says proudly that he has devoted several years to the detection of fraudulent mediums. And Prof. JAMES quotes Mr. CARRINGTON in evidence. But Mr. CARRINGTON lately has put out a book upholding the theory that the food assimilated by the body does not supply its energy. From this is but a step to Prof. JAMES'S theory that the universe is full of a lot of "diffuse soul stuff" which may upon occasion supply the bodily members with their motive power. The energy comes from somewhere, surely. But it might be well for each of these authorities on psychical phenomena not to rely too implicitly on the authority of the other in convincing and winning the public to his belief. The time has almost come when to be a psychical researcher is to confess unsoundness of judgment.

SIBERIAN RESOURCES.

Many eyes at the present turn toward the North not merely as the scene of disputed precedence in exploration, but as the region from which the demonstrated modern shrinkage in the supply of food relatively to the demand may in no long time be met. Along the Canadian border of our Union the tide of emigration has turned, and American farmers by the hundred thousand are seeking in the Dominion the fertile lands formerly offered in our own West. In Seattle there have been amply shown the hitherto unknown possibilities of Alaska as an agricultural country. Canada is inviting British immigration to her part of the same region, and getting it. At the same time a movement of great importance is going on from European Russia to Siberia, the vast region stretching way across Northern Asia from the Ural Mountains to the Bering Sea, a region larger than even the European domain of Russia, and promising to become richer.

Before the Russo-Japanese war, which attracted all eyes to the wonderful accomplishment of the Russian War Office in transporting troops through this country, it was known to most of our people only vaguely, and mostly thought of as the place whither Russia sent her political exiles. Already, however, the policy of colonizing Siberia had been seriously begun, and had made substantial progress. It was actively resumed soon after the close of the war, and by 1907 nearly 3,000,000 of Russian peasant farmers had crossed the mountains. During the part of the year 1908 for which figures are accessible, the immigration was at the rate of 1,800,000, and the total population is now estimated at 15,000,000, with every prospect that it will be doubled in the next decade. Consul RAGSDALE of St. Petersburg describes the soil of the regions into which this rapid movement of migration has taken the Russians as "rich and fertile," much resembling "the lands in the great States of Illinois, Iowa, and Nebraska, except that it is better watered and timbered." The crops produced are "wheat, oats, rye, barley, timothy, flax, potatoes, and clover, while in the western part the sugar beet thrives." Pasturage is excellent, and herds are being introduced and improved, so that "already thousands of tons of the finest butter are being sent to Denmark, Holland, Germany, and England." In addition there is an immense wealth of forests, chiefly birch, pine, and oak, while in the eastern parts trapping and hunting, and in all parts fishing, are important elements of prosperity.

Not only is there thus an almost incalculable reserve of productiveness for agriculture and kindred or dependent industries, but the land is extremely rich in the three essential bases of general industry—coal, useful metals, and precious metals. Between the mountains of Satovsk and Altai the coal veins extend over an area 375 miles by 75. Of iron the Komaroff mines in the Urals are estimated to contain 2,000,000,000 tons of 50 per cent. brown hematite, and there are numerous others already sufficiently known to warrant like expectations of yield. The gold mines of Siberia in 1907 produced over $26,000,000, though hardly developed and using as yet the most primitive methods. Platinum, copper, lead, with silver, and nickel "are to be found in paying quantities in many sections"; "many of the mountains are exceedingly rich in precious stones"; "and there are oil fields in Siberia which will one day prove one of Russia's richest resources."

Clearly here is an immense territory for the support of human life, the reward of industry and enterprise, the promotion of human welfare. The region twenty years since was more unknown or more vaguely known than the valleys of the Mississippi and its tributaries at the opening of the nineteenth century; according to our present information, it can reasonably support a population as great as that of these valleys. It is like the discovery of a new continent and our busy world hardly takes note of it.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Knows Lots, But Not Everything.

When WILBUR WRIGHT talks about flying machines and the use thereof we all listen to him with the respect deserved by a man who is the highest living authority on an important and interesting subject. Nobody dreams of questioning anything he says about mechanical flight, but when he turns to other matters his words and opinions have to stand on their own merits and other experts have their turn, as he has voluntarily passed from his own domain into theirs.

Now Mr. WRIGHT is quoted, with what accuracy we do not know, but with some approach to it, presumably, since he has entered no denial, as propounding the following theory concerning what he called "the case of PEARY and COOK":

> The newspapers saw millions in it if they could get up a good row and could aggravate PEARY into saying things that would make headlines. So they rushed COOK to the fore and they stirred up just the liveliest kind of a row that they could, and when they got PEARY to calling COOK names they got just what they were after.

That is ingenious; it has, we suppose, a certain plausibility with the part of the public whose knowledge of journalism is made up of fond imaginings, helped out just a little by vague memories of things they have read in novels and seen in plays written by men as ignorant of the newspaper business as themselves. As a matter of fact, however, there were no "millions" for anybody in the case of PEARY and COOK, either with or without a bitter controversy between the two men. On the contrary, it meant large expenditures without hope or chance of any immediate or measurable increase of either income or circulation.

Of course, these expenditures were not assumed without an underlying expectation of advantage to be derived from them, but the expectation was largely subconscious, and, while a "sensation" so legitimate as the discovery of the north pole would be eagerly sought by any newspaper at almost any expense, the thing would be done in pursuance of a general policy of getting the news, and getting it first if possible. That is a very different proceeding from the one described by the amiable, but for once too voluble, Mr. WRIGHT. He is, to be frank, just a bit—well, Daytonesque. And this is a late day for Mr. WRIGHT to be Daytonesque. He has seen the men of many cities in the last few years, and ought to know something about their minds.

Beware of the Humorists!

If the large plaster lady now slowly taking shape near the upper end of Times Square succeeds by her whiteness and beauty in preventing people from slandering the city she is to symbolize, a most worthy and desirable end will have been attained by those whose contributions have made her possible. Still, her erection for this purpose is about the queerest manifestation of civic pride and interest that ever came to our attention, and while we must praise with enthusiasm the intent of her builders, we cannot help fearing that neither in nor out of the city will she be treated with the seriousness which they so confidently expect. Indeed, to us their confidence seems just a little pathetic, and unless we are greatly mistaken it is destined to receive some painful shocks as soon as the humorists and cynics of the country begin to make their irreverent comments on this goddess of the Great White Way.

And is New York such a sufferer from calumny? Of course, many harsh things are said about the city, and its own inhabitants not less than others are promptly or loudly vocal about its evils and imperfections. They say little or nothing that isn't true, however, and if they do not talk quite as much as they might about the good qualities of New York, its greatness and its attractiveness, nobody has the slightest doubt as to what city stands first in the land as a place to live in or to visit. The hinterlanders rail and scold, and make shrill professions of superior virtue, but they come here whenever they can, remain as long as their money holds out, and, judging by the expressions on their faces, they enjoy themselves hugely amid the metropolitan excitements.

Nobody really hates New York, though many are jealous of it, and nobody who knows anything about the city thinks it a particularly wicked one. Her faults differ from those of other towns, not in moral content, but in being on a larger scale—a mere matter of quantity—and many a smug New England village is deeper sunk in political corruption, without the saving grace of feeling ashamed of its vices and trying to correct them. New York is at least always making some effort to be good, or at least better. The effort necessarily involves confession of sin, and public confession at that. Only Tammany says that all is already well, and any White Lady who pretends that Tammany is right will be a deceiving creature and little, if any, better than a minx.

Indirection Meets Its Reward.

In attempting to sell in a city as small as Los Angeles 800 dinner tickets at $25 each, the people who are managing the reception of President TAFT there made a mistake likely to be embarrassing to themselves and to their guest.

The scheme was to get enough profit out of the dinner to pay the other expenses of an elaborate welcome. That was not a bad idea, in the abstract, but it ignored the common human desire to get the worth of money, and to get it in exactly the wares or merchandise offered for sale. There may or may not be 800 persons in Los Angeles who can afford to pay $25 for a dinner, and who join to the ability the inclination to do a thing so foolish, but if there are, every one of them would want to get a meal of approximately that value.

Presumably there would have been no difficulty in raising a generous reception fund if the requests had been direct and the cost of the incidental dinner had been made reasonable. President TAFT not long ago asked with something like tears in his voice that the dinners provided for him be made short and simple. Perhaps Los Angeles intended to heed the request, but putting the price of tickets at $25 didn't look so, and naturally sales were alarmingly slow.

THINKS BROOKLYN SLIGHTED.

Not Given the Full Number of Floats for Parade.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I want to register a most emphatic protest against the way Brooklyn was treated by the Hudson-Fulton Commission on Friday last, when only nineteen of the fifty-four floats belonging to the historical parade passed up Eastern Parkway. From accounts in THE TIMES, there had apparently been no consideration given to the way the floats were to be gotten from the river to the Park Plaza, where the parade was to start. The sensible way would seem to have been to take them apart sufficiently so that they could pass under the trolley wires and elevated structures, and then to have brought them over one of the bridges.

The Eastern Parkway seemed a peculiar route to choose, as it is a part of the city which is largely vacant lots, though there is some building going on there at the present time. It is also hard to reach, as there are few car lines that lead to it. This is just an example of the way Brooklyn is always being neglected and slighted, till Brooklynites have come to regard it as a matter of course.

Will the carnival parade in Brooklyn be somewhere nearly as good as the carnival parade in New York, or are we to look for a reptition of last Friday's fiasco on next Saturday night?

THE ENGLISH COMPLAINTS.

The Propriety of Certain Historical Floats and the Decorations.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It is to be hoped that our English guests will not carry away the impression that we are a Nation of boors because of the lack of courtesy and tact shown in preparing and presenting to visitors in the historical pageant the float showing the equestrian statute of George III. being pulled down and destroyed by our Colonial ancestors.

While the act itself was proper enough at the time it occurred, it was in wretched taste to produce it on the occasion of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration.

Though by no means an admirer of George III., I have always felt that we owe him a debt of gratitude for the tyrannical attitude he assumed toward the colonists. But for his measures of oppression, which finally spurred us to take up arms and declare our independence, we should probably still be a dependency of Great Britain.

It is a matter of history that a large proportion of the British people did not sympathize with the acts of their sovereign, and it is nothing less than churlish for us to continually remind them of events in which no Englishman alive to-day took any part.

Your correspondent signing himself "Englishman" is right to resent such attempts to revive old animosities, long since buried.

The English of to-day are of the same stock as our revolutionary fathers, and sensible Americans have only kindly feelings toward the mother country.

PURITAN.

New York, Oct. 4, 1909.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

May I ask why the English are so greatly offended at the absence of their flag? No other nation complains. There was no Scottish flag, yet you hear no outcry from the Scots.

As to the historical floats, what history were we supposed to depict if not our own? If it is a disgrace to England, that is no fault of ours.

In English colonies the policy is to suppress the historical facts which would be a disgrace to England. Surely they do not expect to do it here.

AN AMERICAN THISTLE.

ILLUMINATION FREAK.

A Large American Flag Seen Flying from the Inflexible.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I witnessed a peculiar "freak" of the illuminations on Saturday night. I was on Riverside Drive, at 137th Street. The British battleship Inflexible was nearest to us, enveloped in darkness save for a few lights and her signal flashes from the mast. On the Jersey shore was a large illuminated American flag at some steamship dock immediately opposite. At "eight bells" the ships, one after another, burst into light. They were then heading to the south. The Inflexible was, indeed, a fine sight, with the large crown of light between her foremast and mizzenmast.

About half an hour later the Inflexible swung round her stern to the Jersey shore in such a position that the large illuminated flag on the Jersey shore looked as if it were part of the ship's illumination.

There she was, the Stars and Stripes flying in blazing light at the stern, and the crown at her mast, a puzzle to many onlookers who had not "caught on."

ORDERS BRIDGE CAR INQUIRY.

Utilities Board Wants to Know About the Proposed Operation of a Line.

The Public Service Commission directed Commissioner Bassett yesterday to begin an investigation of the proposed operation of the cars of the New York & Queens County Railroad over the Queensboro Bridge upon which the Board of Estimate has already passed favorably.

The Board authorized Bridge Commissioner Stephenson to issue a temporary permit under which the New York & Queens County Road may begin shuttle service, but thus far the Public Service Commission, which under the law is obliged to give a certificate of public necessity or convenience, has not been consulted. That is why the commission took action.

It is said that the commission does not desire to stand in the way of the operation of cars over the bridge, but its position is the same as it was when it stopped Receiver Whitridge from building an extension of the Third Avenue Road's track at Fort George to facilitate unloading on a similar permit without the permission of the commission. The commission believes that the law ought to be complied with.

GEN. HOWARD VIGOROUS.

Felt Like a Man of Forty After a Very Strenuous Week.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

One of our prominent citizens and a reader of your paper, desires me to write to you that I am not "feeble." The correspondent made a mistake because he saw my ardent aid de camp take me by the arm as I pushed through the crowd to the front of the reviewing stand last Thursday. I was able to give several addresses in Philadelphia Saturday and Sunday, and got back feeling as vigorous and strenuous as I did at 40 years of age.

I do not know whether it is of any consequence whether I am feeble or strong, but we have a wonderful work yet to do to get our great monument to Abraham Lincoln thoroughly completed this, his centennial year. It is my last work, I have no doubt, and I need all the vigor the newspapers can give me.

HUDSON OR NORTH RIVER.

Says Commodore Vanderbilt Did Not Force Use of Navigator's Name.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Hudson-Fulton Celebration has been marked by many statements that are absolutely inaccurate, but by none that is more removed from the truth than the report from Ithaca giving the statement that Commodore Vanderbilt forced New Yorkers to use Hudson's name in connection with the river.

The Hudson River was called familiarly North River, to distinguish it from the South River (the Delaware) in early times, which name was also used by people in New York at a later period, and even till now colloquially.

However, at the time of the American Revolution it was called the Hudson by Washington; and surely Washington Irving always spoke of it as the Hudson, and I think his authority cannot be questioned.

Vanderbilt did not build the Hudson River Railroad, but acquired it about 1865, so he could not have compelled us to call the river Hudson by giving this name to the railroad.

EDWIN M. COX.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I but echo the sentiments of many people when I suggest, in the eternal fitness of things, that the noble Hudson River be known as such henceforth throughout its entire length, instead of the lower portion being designated as North River. There seems to be no particular or logical reason for this, and to the traveler and stranger it is confusing, as well as rather absurd, especially where there are so many rivers in the immediate vicinity. It would seem that the agitation of this subject might effect the change.

The Teacher's Hours of Work.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Will not your correspondent "L. A. W." allow himself to be persuaded to go a step further in his solution of the school problem and tell us what part of the working day he would allot the teacher for the correction of pupils' exercises, and for the daily supervision of home work; for the compilation of plan books and notes in new subject matter; for the perusal of new works in pedagogics, and for attendance of conferences and lectures?

Is it possible that any reformer, with "L. A. W.'s" belief in his own ability to reform our public school system, can be ignorant of the fact that no teacher's work begins nor ends with the presence of children in the classroom?

Democrats for Bannard.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

There is nothing inconsistent in a Democrat's voting in this campaign for Otto Bannard for Mayor, who stands for those ideas in municipal politics for which Mr. Tilden contended. The names of the sterling young Democrats, George McAneny for Borough President and John Purroy Mitchel for President of the Board of Aldermen, have aroused the enthusiasm of that large class of young Democrats that followed Grover Cleveland in his campaigns.

As a close observer of local political events I predict that the number of Democrats who will vote the anti-Tammany ticket this year will be sufficient to insure the election of the entire ticket.

An Odd List of Heroes.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Philip II. could not land in England because he could not vanquish the elements. Is not this one contrast between the Old World and the New, that Europe conquers the kingdoms of men and America the kingdoms of nature?

The Puritans, Pilgrims, and the Virginian planters were conquerors of the kingdom of the soil. Fulton conquered the kingdom of water, Franklin the kingdom of fire, and Wilbur Wright rides upon the air.

Morse in building the first photographic studio, and Draper in making the first sun portrait, began the conquest of the kingdom of light.

Peary and Cook dispute the realm of ice, Burbank claims the vegetable kingdom, and Roosevelt the animal kingdom. Surely we are a race of heroes. Let the trumpet blow.

THE AIRSHIP GAZER.

He has a neck as stiff as bone,
There's nothing that can bend it.
He started out last week alone
To seek an airship in the zone
Where man was soon to send it.

He skyward gazed from dawn till dark,
From point to point he shifted;
He heard below the auto spark,
The small boy shout, a mongrel bark,
But kept his face uplifted.

The evening came, he still looked high
Into the starry heaven;
Eight, nine o'clock passed slowly by,
The moon came out and lit the sky:
He staid till half past 'leven.

Next morning he was up and out
And every morn succeeding;
He never deigned to look about,
Although he still heard urchins shout,
But keep the heavens reading.

At last a murmur caught his ear,
Or some gay rustic jabbed him;
He tried at last his sight to clear,
Look down on earth, but, dear, Oh, dear!
His neck just up and stabbed him!

To-day he wears a plaster cast
That soars above his collar.
His ears and chin are buckled fast,
But he has seen a ship at last
And isn't out a dollar!

INAUGURATE LOWELL AT HARVARD TO-DAY

Representatives from Many Foreign Universities Will Attend the Exercises at Cambridge.

PLATFORM SEATS FOR 800

Nearly Every College President in the Country or Some Member of Its Faculty Now at Harvard.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 5.—The inauguration of Abbot Lawrence Lowell, the new President of Harvard University, will take place to-morrow morning at 10:30 in the college yard. Fair weather is promised, but rain or shine will see a large gathering of men of standing in the educational world and an audience sufficient in size to half fill the stadium. Every train has its quota of new arrivals.

There were many social gatherings to-day, including the reception of Prof. William H. Schofield and Mrs. Schofield and the dinner given by the University Club in honor of President Emeritus Eliot.

The procession of the delegates to the inauguration platform erected before University Hall will be started at 9:30 A. M. to-morrow from the Phillips Brooks House. Gov. Eben S. Draper and his staff, Mayor Brooks of Cambridge, and Mayor Hibbard of Boston will be in it. Thomas Nelson Perkins of the Harvard Corporation will be Chief Marshal. The assemblage will be called to order by John K. Fairbairn, Sheriff of Middlesex County.

The rostrum from which President Lowell will read his inaugural will be the length of University Hall and forty feet wide. It will easily accommodate 800 guests. The crimson colors will predominate throughout the yard. Four large banners will decorate each corner of the stand.

Some of the distinguished delegates who have registered are:

James Bryce, British Ambassador to the United States, representing the University of Oxford and Manchester, England; William N. Shaw, a fellow of Emmanuel College, from which John Harvard was graduated, representing the University of Cambridge; John C. Willis, Ceylon; Otto Honegschmid, Prague, Austria; John Harvard Biles, Glasgow, Scotland; F. H. Jungersan, Copenhagen, Denmark; Prof. Eduard Meyer, University of Halle, Germany; Otto Friederick, Berlin, Germany; Joseph Bence of the College de France, George A. Gibson, St. Andrew, Scotland; Jacobus Cornelius, Kapteyen, Cronigen, Sweden; Prof. Aristides Mestre, Havana, Cuba; Peter Groth of Christiana, Norway; Augustus D. Waller, University of London; Thomas Walker, Cape of Good Hope, South Africa.

President Arthur T. Hadley and Prof. E. F. Morris, Yale; President Woodrow Wilson, Prof. Henry Van Dyke, and Prof. W. H. Brast, Princeton; President Nicholas Murray Butler, G. L. Rives, J. H. Van Arminge, Columbia; President E. F. Nichols and Prof. H. E. Burton, Dartmouth; Prof. Alexander Agassiz, from the Academy of Arts and Sciences in Boston; President Harry A. Garfield of Williams, President W. D. Hyde, Bowdoin; President E. A. Alderman, University of Virginia; Dean W. D. Lewis and Provost C. C. Harrison, University of Pennsylvania; Col. H. S. Scott, United States Military Academy; President W. W. Keen, American Philosophical Society, Philadelphia; Charles Francis Adams, Massachusetts Historical Society; Prof. J. C. Roper, General Theological Seminary of New York; President R. A. Falconer, Toronto, Ontario; Principal William Patterson of McGill, Montreal; President E. B. Craighead, Tulane University, Louisiana; Dean H. B. Huchins, Michigan; President Mary E. Wooley, Mount Holyoke College; Superintendent J. M. Bowyer, United States Naval Academy; Charles D. Walcott, Smithsonian Institution; President James M. Taylor of Vassar College, President Schurman and E. P. Tichener of Cornell University, Commissioner E. E. Brown, United States Bureau of Education; President L. C. Seelye, Smith College; President Caroline Hazard of Wellesley, President Remsen, Johns Hopkins; President M. Cary Thomas, Bryn Mawr; Horace Davis of the Board of Trustees of Leland Stanford, President Harry P. Judson, University of Chicago; John D. Rockefeller, Jr., from the General Educational Board; President Pritchett, Carnegie Institute.

TEA PARTY AT LOEB'S SALE.

Crackers as Well as Tea Served to Hold Women Bargain Hunters.

Collector Loeb's smugglers' sale yesterday, in the seizure room of the Appraiser's Warehouse, Christopher and Washington Streets, drew many bargain hunters, the majority being women. A temporary bank of seats was provided for those who got there early enough to find room. When the stand was full and more women continued to arrive, Caspar Schaefer, assistant to Col. J. H. Story, chief of the seizure room, compelled some of the male bargain hunters to give up their seats to the women.

When the noon hour arrived Col. Story had his assistants brew tea and pass a cup with a cracker to each woman. This was done when it was found that many of the women were leaving to get luncheon, and, as they were the best bidders against the dealers, they could not be spared.

Only one-half of the articles comprising the 1,100 lots in the sale was disposed of. The rest will be sold to-day.

Among the articles put up for sale was a basket containing twenty pounds of bones, but whether of man or animal was not explained, there being only one bidder. He got the gruesome lot for 25 cents. An old-fashioned country circus outfit—wagon, tents, and other apparatus—which came from Liverpool, England, on the White Star liner Georgic and was never claimed, is another offering. It will be sold to-day.

John D. Rockefeller did not accept a package sent to him by an admirer in France, which was addressed "John Rochefellen" and contained twenty pint bottles of mineral water, valued at $2.25. It was bought by an Italian for $1.40.

FIGHT NEW DANCE HALL LAW.

Dancing Masters Allege in a Test Case That It Is Unconstitutional.

An action said to have been begun by the Dancing Masters' Protective Association of Greater New York, which includes the leading teachers of the light fantastic in the city, against the new law regulating dance halls and academies, developed yesterday, when Oscar Duryea, President of the association, who has a school at 200 West Seventy-second Street, was arrested, charged with conducting his school without a license.

The arrest was made on a warrant issued by Justice Olmsted of Special Sessions and Duryea's counsel obtained a writ of habeas corpus and took his client before Supreme Court Justice Blanchard.

Detective Wilbur, who made the arrest, said he saw Duryea's advertisement in a newspaper last Saturday, after the new law went into effect, and applied to Duryea for lessons. Duryea told him, he said, that he conducted both public and private classes, including a "de luxe" class. Wilbur said he paid $1, took a receipt, and then asked Duryea if he had a license.

Duryea responded that he had refrained from getting one on advice of counsel, whereupon the detective arrested him.

Duryea's counsel argued, in asking for the writ, that the new law is unconstitutional in that it deprived his client of his property without due process of law and on other grounds.

Justice Blanchard, however, dismissed the writ and paroled Duryea in the custody of his counsel pending appeal to the Court of Appeals. In the meantime it is understood that no further such arrests will be made.

It was said at the Bureau of Licenses yesterday that not a single license for a dancing academy had been issued as yet.

GERMAN ORPHANS GREET VON KOESTER

Admiral of the Kaiser's Fleet Here Attends Farm School Dedication at Mount Vernon.

MANY FESTIVALS COMBINED

Children in Costume Sail the Half Moon Across the Farm Pond While the Band Plays Patriotic Airs.

The good ship Half Moon, loaded with little German girl pilgrims, sailed floppily across the Wartburg Ocean, at Mount Vernon, N. Y., yesterday afternoon. The little girl pilgrims sang lustily with well-developed lungs "Sweet Land of Liberty" as their overloaded craft careened along while 200 ducks, let out of boxes to start also on a voyage of discovery, took up the refrain with variations, raising themselves out of the water as they flapped their wings and quacked hoarsely with great delight:

"Hoch! Hoch! Sweet water of liberty."

That sounds a trifle mixed, but it couldn't help being, for the Wartburg Orphans' Farm School at Mount Vernon, holding a Harvest-Home-Hudson-Fulton-German-American-Dedication-Fest, and Gross Admiral von Koester was the guest of honor and made a speech.

The farm school, which was started just after the civil war to look after some of the orphans left by the heroes of the battlefields, holds every year a harvest home festival. At the last one the cornerstone for a new building was laid, with Gov. Hughes's assistance, and this year the building, a fine structure of gray stone, was ready for dedication. It was naturally the desire of the authorities, German-American Lutherans, to ask the Kaiser's representative to be present, and then it being the Hudson-Fulton festival period, they mixed in a little of that, too. It was a great day at the school, which has a big plot of land on the outskirts of Mount Vernon, with a little church, a colony of buildings, and the Wartburg Ocean, which is a pond belonging to the farm.

The exercises beginning the day took place in front of the new building, which was draped with flags, American and German, while the little girl orphans, in light gowns, sat in front and the big boy orphans, forming the Wartburg band, stood at the steps, two of them holding more flags, another handsome American and a beautiful silk flag of the fatherland.

There were speeches by President Prigge, Herr Pfarrer Berkemeier, the director, and Herr Pastor Krupp of Germany. The Admiral had not arrived, and they were filling in time, when suddenly the church bell and those on other buildings began to ring, a real cannon thundered a welcome in a universal language, which was plain German and American, too; an automobile and mounted policemen were seen to appear, and the Admiral and two members of his staff had arrived. It was an exciting moment. All the German-American frauen hopped upon the temporary seats, which were not made to stand on and threatened to rebel; the boy band played "Die Wacht am Rhein," and every one sang the national air of the fatherland as the Herr Direktor escorted Admiral von Koester up the steps of the new building.

The Herr Direktor made an address of welcome in German, to which the Admiral responded, telling them how glad he was to be present, how much he had been impressed with everything he had seen, the various activities in all lines of the American people, and now, having heard so much of their charities, he was glad to see this example of it, and he hoped that, as many little children had been sent out from the school good men and women in the past, many more would go out in the future. Little Emma Kuhikn presented the Admiral with some beautiful edition-de-luxe books written by the Herr Direktor, one for the Admiral and one for the Kaiser. Then the big gathering gave a big "Hoch! Hoch!" for Admiral and Kaiser in German and "Hip, Hip, Hooray!" in English, and the distinguished guest visited the little church before leaving, where the Director, who is a Herr Pfarrer, too, pronounced the benediction upon him.

Then came the Hudson-Fulton Celebration, and a real little Half Moon in the little Wartburg Ocean was sailed off on a float with Hendrick Hudson and his gallant men in wide white collars and yellow sashes upon it. They landed on the opposite shore, where real Indians with real tepees and a real campfire welcomed them. Then the little orphan girls boarded the ship, which nearly tipped over in its disgust at being used for an excursion party; the Indians paddled around in real canoes, there were day fireworks and a procession with little Miss America in red, white, and blue, and little Fräulein Germany in black, white, and red leading after the boy band. Every one had something to eat, clam chowder or ice cream, special cars and trains took the crowds away, and the Harvest-Home-Hudson-Fulton-German-American-Dedication-Fest of the Wartburg Farm School was over.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Arthur Byron has been engaged by Liebler & Co., to be featured in a new play not yet written. For the present he will appear in "For Better, for Worse," by Cleveland Moffett, in which Carlotta Nillson will also play.

Harry Lauder will arrive in New York this week on the Campania to begin a limited tour at the Plaza Music Hall next Monday.

Richard Jose is at the Breslin, preparing to star in a new drama that is said to give him an opportunity for the display of his musical ability. The piece will probably be called "The Silver Chord."

Henry B. Harris has placed in rehearsal a one-act play, "The Outpost," by James A. Archibald, which Robert Edeson will use to lengthen the performance of "The Noble Spaniard."

"Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci" were repeated at the Manhattan Opera House last evening. In the Mascagni opera Miss Baron sang Santuzza for the first time here. Mr. Carasa was the Turiddu. Mme. Walter-Villa sang Nedda in "Pagliacci," and Mr. Zerola was the Canio.

Thomas Jefferson will make his first appearance in vaudeville next week, opening at the Majestic Theatre, Chicago. He will present the mountain scene from "Rip Van Winkle."

Arnold Daly has entered into a new contract with Liebler & Co. to appear under their management, first in Paul Hervieu's play, "Know Thyself," and later in a new play by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson.

The full company selected for "The Coast of Chance" consists of Hamilton Revelle, Jane Oaker, John Maurice Sullivan, Agnes Patton, William T. Chatterton, Lydia Knott, T. Tamamoto, and Anna Dale.

The new play by Henri Bernstein to be presented at the Comedie Francais will be called "Apres Moi le Deluge." The title in English will probably be "After Me."

A delegation from the Catholic Club occupied the boxes at Daly's Theatre last night to witness Viola Allen's performance in "The White Sister." Among those present were Congressman Charles V. Fornes, Judge Joseph F. Mulqueen, Henry Joyce, Frank Gannon, Joseph T. Regan, Dr. Quinlan, Edward McGuire, and John Jerome Rooney.

MISS MARLOWE IN COURT.

Actress Reads Lines to Show That a Play Could Not Be Produced.

Miss Julia Marlowe, the co-star with E. H. Sothern in Shakespearean rôles, appeared as a defendant in a suit for $3,000, brought against them yesterday before Justice Clarke in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, by Miss Dirce St. Cyr of 155 East Seventy-second Street, Manhattan.

Miss St. Cyr says she made a translation of d'Annunzio's tragedy, "The Daughter of Jorio," for Miss Marlowe and Mr. Sothern, and that when she had finished her part of the contract with them they failed to produce the play as they agreed to do. The amount she named in her suit was supposed to cover the royalties which she was to receive had the play been produced.

Both Miss Marlowe and Mr. Sothern went on the stand. They said that the translation of the play by Miss St. Cyr was so unsatisfactory that it could not be produced. Miss Marlowe read some of the stanzas of the translation to show that they were unfit for production on the stage.

The defendants testified that they gave Miss St. Cyr $1,000 in advance royalties, and believed that this amount was sufficient for her work.

Justice Clarke held that the defendants had no excuse for not producing the play. They had contracted with Miss St. Cyr to pay her a minimum royalty of $50 a night for every week of the season. The court let the jury decide the question of the length of the theatrical season, and with a few minutes' deliberation they decided that it covered thirty weeks. Justice Clarke reserved decision on the amount of the royalty Miss St. Cyr is to receive.

SEMBRICH AND DIPPEL MEET.

Singer May Be Heard at Sunday Night Concerts at Metropolitan.

Mme. Marcella Sembrich, who arrived yesterday from Europe, spent a great deal of the afternoon in conference at her hotel, the Savoy, with Andreas Dippel, her former confrère and manager. Mme. Sembrich bade farewell to opera at the Metropolitan Opera House last season, but she has returned for a concert tour of America, and yesterday it was intimated by those who ought to know that she may be heard from the stage of the Metropolitan again. It is probable that she and Mr. Dippel made arrangements yesterday by which she will be heard at one or more of the Sunday night concerts of that institution.

Mme. Johanna Gadski, who is to sing at the Metropolitan this season, also arrived yesterday. She was accompanied by her husband and little daughter, and has taken an apartment for the season. She is to go on a short concert tour before the opera season opens.

LIQUOR IN NEW THEATRE.

No License to Playhouse, but Restaurateur Will Sell Drinks.

Arrangements have been made for a restaurant proprietor to establish a place for the sale of liquors in the basement of the New Theatre. The license has not been granted to the theatre, and the sale of drinks will be confined to one room, the only entrance to which is more than 200 feet from the School of Ethical Culture. Under the original plan for the theatre there was to have been a café on the roof as well as in the main part of the building, but the proximity of the school made it impossible for the theatre to obtain a license.

Winthrop Ames, Director of the theatre, said last night:

"By reason of the failure of the amendment proposed last Winter the New Theatre was compelled to abandon its original plan with reference to its café and restaurant. Under the original plan there was to have been a restaurant on the roof as well as a café in the main part of the house. It has been necessary to abandon all this. The sale of liquor will be confined to the one room in the basement, and the room on the roof will be used for rehearsals."

RABBI FALK VIDAVER DEAD.

Head of Temple at Lexington Avenue and 72d Street for Twelve Years.

Rabbi Falk Vidaver, well known both here and abroad for his poems and commentaries on the Bible, died yesterday morning from Bright's disease at his residence, 604 West 139th Street. He is survived by a widow, five daughters, and two sons, one of whom is Nathan Vidaver. One of the daughters is the wife of Washington Dodge, Assessor of San Francisco, and a Democratic leader of the State.

Rabbi Vidaver was 65 years old. For many years he led the largest congregation west of the Rocky Mountains, in San Francisco, and up to three years ago was for twelve years rabbi of the congregation at Seventy-second Street and Lexington Avenue. He has had no charge since his retirement from active life in 1906.

Rabbi Vidaver was best known for his works in pure Hebraic, which were printed in the newspapers and magazines in Russia and Hungary, besides in the United States. He is said to have ranked among the Hebraic scholars of the age.

The funeral will be held at noon tomorrow from his late residence, and the interment will be made in the graveyard of the temple of which he was recently rabbi.

William Tecumseh Perkins.

William Tecumseh Perkins, a widely known newspaper and advertising man of this city, died on Monday at the Memorial Hospital, Orange, N. J., after an illness of nearly a year. Mr. Perkins was born in Troy in 1848 of New England ancestry, his grandfather and great-grandfather having been Presbyterian ministers. He came to New York when nineteen and was connected with the old New York Dispatch. A short time before the starting of The Daily Graphic he joined its staff and remained with it for many years until it ceased publication, occupying the position of dramatic critic and business manager. He later was with THE NEW YORK TIMES for a number of years. His interest in the stage was always active, due partly to the fact that he was the nephew of the late James Lewis of Daly's company. Mr. Perkins left a widow.

Chang-Chih-Tung Dead.

PEKING, China, Oct. 5.—Chang-Chih-Tung, Grand Councilor of China, died at 9:45 o'clock last night.

AMERICAN MARQUISE DIES ON SHIPBOARD

Former Miss Caldwell Passes Away on an Atlantic Liner at Quarantine.

GAVE MUCH TO CHARITY

Catholic University at Washington the Recipient of $300,000 Before Her Withdrawal from the Church.

After suffering from paralysis for seven years, the Marquise des Monstiers-Mérinville, formerly Mary Gwendolin Byrd Caldwell of New York and Washington, died at 3:30 A. M. yesterday in her stateroom on the North German Lloyd liner Kronprinzessin Cecilie, which was anchored at Quarantine waiting for sunrise to enter the port.

The Marquise was ill when she boarded the liner at Cherbourg, but Dr. Ollie, her physician, who accompanied her, did not think the case serious until the last twenty-four hours. She did not leave her stateroom during the trip, but was cared for by trained nurses and her secretary, Miss Caroline Fleming of this city.

Following an attack of paralysis, the Marquise had been unable to speak for several years, and all communication had to be in writing. The immediate cause of her death was Bright's disease.

A wireless dispatch was sent to her sister, the Baroness Zwedtz, at Frankfort, Germany, and an answer was received on board the Kronprinzessin Cecilie by 11 A. M. saying that she was sailing today from Cherbourg, and directing that the funeral be deferred until her arrival. The interment will be in Washington, D. C.

The Marquise was the eldest daughter of William Shakespeare Caldwell, who accumulated a large fortune by constructing and operating gas plants in the Middle West. She was born in New York forty-six years ago, and was educated at the Sacred Heart Convent in St. Nicholas Avenue, Manhattanville.

She spent a great deal of her time abroad, and in 1890 her engagement was announced to Prince Joachim Murat, the invalid grandson of the King of Naples, who was twice her age. It was broken off on account, it was said, of the Prince's insistence that half her fortune should be settled on him.

Miss Caldwell was married in Paris to the Marquis des Monstiers in 1896, and they lived together until four years ago, when they separated on account of her health, she allowing her husband $8,000 a year to keep the title so that there would be no question of divorce. Her sister and nephew are the only relatives living.

The Marquise gave much to charity. On her marriage to the Marquis she gave $300,000 to the Catholic University of Washington, and her sister, now the Baroness Zwedtz, gave $50,000. In 1904 she renounced the Catholic religion and her portrait was removed from the university.

It was understood on the liner that the Marquise was coming to this city to consult two well-known specialists, but others who knew her believed that her aim was to die on American soil, and she was fully aware that nothing could be done for her.

Rooms had been reserved at an uptown hotel for the Marquise, and her servants were sent there to await the arrival of her sister.

Rev. John C. Henry.

The Rev. John C. Henry, rector of the Roman Catholic Church of the Guardian Angel, 511 West Twenty-third Street, died suddenly yesterday afternoon while he was at luncheon with his assistant, Father Edward Dyer. Heart disease is said to have been the cause.

Father Henry was born in New Orleans seventy years ago, and came to New York when a boy. For a time he was pastor of a church at Matteawan and at Newburgh, and fifteen years ago he came from the latter place to New York again.

JOHN R. O'DONNELL DEAD.

News Editor of New York Herald Began His Career as Printer.

John R. O'Donnell, news editor of The New York Herald, died early yesterday morning at his home, 359 West 120th Street, after gradually failing health covering several months.

Mr. O'Donnell had risen on The Herald through various positions to be night editor and finally news editor. He was in his fifty-sixth year, and a native of West Virginia. He came to New York in 1874, beginning his work on The Herald as a printer. He was elected President of Typographical Union No. 6, "Big Six," as the organization is familiarly known, and it was under his leadership that "Big Six" made its fight against The New York Tribune in the Cleveland-Blaine campaign.

While employed on The Herald as a compositor he took a law course at Columbia University, graduating with honor. But he did not enter the practice of his profession, preferring to continue his newspaper work. From the printer's case he went to the proofroom, and from that position to that of night editor. Several years ago he became news editor.

He was a man of powerful physique, a trained athlete, and at one time President of the Nonpareil Rowing Club.

Irving Stringham.

Special to The New York Times.

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 5.—Irving Stringham, Acting President of the University of California during President Wheeler's absence, who was to have welcomed President Taft at Berkeley on behalf of the university, died this morning at Alta Bates Hospital. He had been head of the Department of Mathematics at the University of California for twenty-seven years. His death was due to uraemic poisoning.

Obituary Notes.

CHARLES ROBERT DEWEY, a nephew of the Admiral, and formerly a dry goods salesman in Manhattan, died from apoplexy on Monday at the home of his father-in-law, Charles R. Finley, in Bensonhurst. He was the son of Charles Dewey of Montpelier, Vt., and there was born. He was 42 years old. He left a widow.

FREDERICK BECK, for more than forty years a resident of Brookline, Mass., once a prominent Boston broker, a great lover of books, and a writer, is dead at the age of 91. At first, as a broker, he was with the firm of Dupee, Beck & Salas, but that firm dissolving he went into business with his brother James, under the name of Beck Brothers. They dealt mainly in copper stocks. On retirement, he devoted himself to literature, reading many essays of a historical order before the Thursday Club, now a well-known literary club of Brookline.

Capt. DAVID VAN CLEAF, at one time and another officer of many of the navigation companies of this neighborhood, is dead at his home, Hasbrouck Heights, N. J. He had been President and general manager of the Delaware Navigation Company, Superintendent of the Metropolitan Steamship Company, general manager of the Washington & Potomac Steamboat Company, and had been connected with the Starin Transportation Company, and the Montauk Steamboat Company.

Col. W. H. MOSBY, a relative of the great Southern cavalry leader, Col. John S. Mosby of Mosby's Scouts, and a well-known trainer of the Valley Farms Stables, Hamilton, Ontario, died there on Monday.

THORNTON EVERETT DOWELL, emergency expert machinist for R. Hoe & Co., died from pneumonia on Sunday, at his home, 58 South Ninth Street, Brooklyn. For twenty years he had worked for Hoe & Co., and his specialty was the rapid repairing of presses in large newspaper establishments of this city. He left a widow.

THEODORE W. KENNEDY, a veteran of the civil war, died at the Hackensack Hospital, in Hackensack, N. J., yesterday, aged 66 years. He was graduated from the College of the City of New York. At the outbreak of the war he was only 19 years of age, but a letter which he received from Mayor Opdyke to President Lincoln gained for him a commission of Lieutenant in the regular army. He served under Chauncey Depew during the entire campaign.

AUGUSTUS MOSSER, 73 years old, one of the oldest butchers in Washington Market, dropped dead from heart disease while attending a moving picture show at Tarrytown Monday night. He leaves a widow and three children.

SAMUEL B. JONES, who for many years had been connected with The Wall Street Journal, both in reportorial and editorial capacities, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 437 Greenwood Avenue, Richmond Hill. For several months Mr. Jones had been in ill health. He never fully recovered from the effects of an operation performed during the early part of the Summer. Prior to becoming assistant managing editor of The Wall Street Journal, Mr. Jones was for many years in charge of the steel and iron news department of that publication.

SAMUEL QUEEN BROWN, the President of the Tide Water Pipe Company, the Tide Water Oil Company, and the Associated Producers' Company, died yesterday at his home, 160 West Fifty-ninth Street. Born in Pleasantville, Penn., in 1834, Mr. Brown received his education at Allegheny College, and in 1871 took his Master's degree from Princeton. For fifteen years he was Commissioner of the Second Geological Survey of Pennsylvania. He was a member of the Union League, the Pennsylvania Society of New York, and the Natural Arts Club.

Mrs. ROBERT S. KING, 78 years old, widow of Robert King, died at her home, 104 Elm Street, Montclair, N. J., on Monday night after a long illness. Mrs. King was a resident of Montclair for many years, and was a member of the First Presbyterian Church. She is survived by one son, Robert W. King of Montclair.

Marriage and death notices intended for insertion in the New York Times may be telephoned to 1000 Bryant.

POLITICAL. POLITICAL. POLITICAL.

DO YOU WANT HEARST FOR MAYOR?

To the Voters of New York:-

Do you want to redeem the City of New York from the dishonest, corrupt and incompetent rule of Tammany Hall?
Do you want to throw off the yoke of the Traction Trust?
Do you want municipal ownership, construction and operation of subways?
Do you want to restore honest elections?
Do you resent the treasonous Republican-Democratic conspiracy by which the City of New York is shamelessly sacrificed for the enthronement of special privileges in the National House of Representatives?
Do you want to smash both of the discredited political machines?
Do you want Hearst for Mayor?
If you do, come to Cooper Union at 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening, October 6th, and nominate him.
If you have any interest in the welfare of the City of New York, now is the time to show it.

Record-breaking performances marked the closing events of the National Amateur Athletic Union indoor championships last night at Madison Square Garden, and uncovered two sterling young athletes, who will be prominently heard from during the indoor season. John J. Eller, Irish-American Athletic Club, clipped a fifth of a second off his own record for the distance, while Melvin W. Sheppard of the same organization reduced the best time made by himself at last year's championships for the 600-yard run. He covered the distance in 1:14 3-5.

The feature of the meet was the return to form of Melvin W. Sheppard, the Olympic champion, who during the Summer suffered from bloodpoisoning. After his recovery he met Lunghi, the Italian, and was badly beaten. In his second attempt his colors were lowered by Harry Gissing, New York Athletic Club. Sheppard turned tables on Gissing last night and defeated him after a hard struggle in the 600-yard run. It was the most popular victory of the evening, Sheppard being loudly cheered for his brilliant running.

W. J. Hartranft, Pennsylvania University, proved the surprise of the meeting. He romped away with the 300-yard hurdles, defeating one of the best fields ever started in this event. Although penalized a yard at the start, he had no difficulty in securing a good lead in the first 200 yards, and won easily. He cleared every hurdle and showed quick work between the sticks.

The other good man was R. W. Gill, Maryland Athletic Club, whose fast work in the 60-yard dash won for him unstinted praise. He met several of the best sprinters in the American Athletic Union ranks, and not only won all his heats, but also the finals in commanding style.

For the first time since the institution of indoor championships, Martin J. Sheridan, the all-around champion, failed to secure a first prize. He said after the meet that he was not in very good condition.

Although fairly well attended, the meeting was not the financial success it was expected to be, but the enthusiasm displayed was a striking evidence of the popularity of athletics.

The surprise of the first heat of the 150-yard dash was the shutting out of W. J. Keating, Irish-American, who slipped when in the lead on the upper turn. R. E. Goggins, Pastime Athletic Club, won the heat by a couple of yards. J. J. Eller, Irish-American Athletic Club, accounted for the second heat after a close contest with A. W. Bowser, Cambridge, Mass. L. B. Dorland of the Pastimes was first in the third heat, although W. R. Bursch of the Mercury Foot organization would probably have won had he not lost his running shoe; as it was, he secured a place in the semi-finals. Canada's representative, F. L. Lukeman, Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, showed a world of speed in the fourth heat, and won from J. J. Archer, Irish-American Athletic Club. Eller was running easy in the first semi-final heat, when he led Heiland over the tape, both men qualifying. The second semi-final heat went to Lukeman, while Bursch finished in second place. The final heat was a hair-raising affair. The quartet of starters were very evenly matched. Eller was straightened out first on the home stretch, and, meeting Heiland's challenge, won by about a yard. The same distance separated Heiland and Bursch, who were second and third, respectively. Eller's time was 15 4-5 seconds, beating the indoor record by a fifth of a second.

Ten long-distance stars attacked Tom Collins's indoor five-mile record, which meant a journey of fifty laps. George Bonhag, F. G. Bellars, and J. S. Ballard were the only prominent absentees. Tom Collins, the champion, went out in the lead at the start, attended by Win Bailey, the little Mercury Foot crack. J. T. Crowley came up into second place on the fourth lap and then overhauled Collins, making the pace for 250 yards, when J. C. Malone, Mohawk, supplanted him in the lead. There was no change in the order of the leaders during the next quarter. At the end of the first mile, which was covered in 4:48, Collins led by a yard, with Malone, Bailey, and Crowley next in order, a couple of yards separating each of them. J. J. Daly of the Irish-Americans ran into fourth place in the next two laps, and for a time the runners contented themselves with their respective positions, Dull, the Princeton crack, bringing up the rear.

Coming into the third mile, Crowley took up the running, with Malone and Bailey hanging on to his heels. The time was considerably slower than last year; the field at this point was reduced to six contestants. Bailey and Malone alternated in the lead until the end of the third mile, when the long-swinging strides of John Daly carried him to the front. Malone quit shortly after completing the third mile, and the remaining five were well strung out. Bailey robbed Daly of the lead for a couple of laps, but the big Irish-American hung on gamely. Collins spurted and joined the Mercury Foot runner. Entering the final mile, Crowley took a hand at pacemaking and the three men were twenty yards in front of Daly. Berna gave up at the fourth mile, leaving but four to finish. Crowley tired in the final quarter and Collins and Bailey fought it out. The closing struggle was brief, Collins coming away when ready, winning by thirty yards. Bailey was second, the same distance in front of Daly, with Crowley fourth.

Melvin W. Sheppard got away slowly from the mark in the first heat of the 600-yard run. E. Frick, New York Athletic Club, led to the last lap, when Sheppard showed his real form, and, coming from last place, finished first with a splendid burst of speed. W. J. Hayes of Philadelphia was second. In the second heat W. W. Fawley of Philadelphia went out in front, with W. C. Robbins in second place. The latter led up to the last lap, when he was challenged by Harry Gissing, New York Athletic Club, who came away when he pleased and won easily.

With Sheppard, Kiviat, Gissing, and Frick in the final heat, the outlook was bright for a red-hot contest. Frick cut out the pace, with Sheppard second. The five men were bunched in the last lap. Sheppard cut loose, followed by Frick. Gissing tried to make his run on the back stretch, but was jostled by Frick. He made a desperate attempt to overhaul the Olympia champion, but the latter had all his speed and won a bruising race by a couple of yards. Gissing beat Hayes by a yard for the place.

The eliminating heats in the sixty-yard dash brought the big field down to six men in the finals, three wearing the colors of the Irish-American Athletic Club, one the New York Athletic Club, and one each from Canada and Montreal. The closing heat was hotly contested. R. W. Gill and J. F. O'Connell were closely pressed by W. J. Keating. The Maryland sprinter showed the most speed and won by inches from O'Connell.

The 300-yard hurdles completed the programme of running races. L. B. Dorland, Pastime A. C., who was considered a dangerous contender, quit in the second heat. W. J. Hartranft, the Pennsylvania timber topper, showed his class by winning in hollow fashion after being set back a yard. Jack Eller weakened in the last twenty yards, but managed to secure second place from Lovell.

W. W. Coe, the Boston weight putter, lost his title in the 24-pound shot-put, the new honors going to P. McDonald, the Irish-American policeman, who beat Coe's best effort by four inches. Martin J. Sheridan was third, but far behind the first and second men.

Ray Ewry was easily the best of the competitors in the three standing jumps, and added five points to the Mercury Foot score, while Platt Adams, his clubmate, was second. W. Happeny of Montreal excelled in the pole vault, capturing the first championship for Canada. Babcock of the New York A. C. was second, six inches below the Canadian. The summaries:

MANAGER OF BUICK RACING TEAM QUITS

W. H. Pickens Resigns and Lewis Strang Also Severs Connection with the Company.

REPORT OTHERS MAY GO

Famous Buick Drivers Have Won Majority of Big Events This Season—Other Auto News.

It was announced yesterday that William H. Pickens, manager of the famous Buick racing team, composed of Lewis Strang, Louis Chevrolet, Bobby Burman, and a number of other star drivers, had resigned his position with the Flint, Mich., concern to become racing manager of a strong team to be organized by the Benz Import Company. Simultaneously, it was announced that Lewis Strang, until the last year foremost racing driver in the country, had left the Buick concern to join the Isotta Import Company.

The two resignations, coming on the same day, gave rise to the report that the Buick racing team is about to disband. The Buick team has been the strongest in the field this season, winning a majority of the big road races in the Middle West, South, and East. The team won the Cobe trophy over the Crown Point, Ind., course last Summer, and Chevrolet and Burman have won no end of big events since then. It will be a severe blow to the Buick concern to lose both Pickens and Strang.

It could not be learned last night whether Chevrolet and Burman will continue with the Buick Company, but it can be stated that a great effort will be made to hold the services of these two sterling drivers.

On Strang's announcement of his intention to leave the Buick Company, W. C. Durant, head of the concern, presented the daring young driver with the car in which he won the G. & J. Trophy race at Indianapolis. In addition, Strang received a one-third share of the $10,000 bonus, presented to the Buick team for winning the Cobe trophy. Strang's work with the Isotta Import Company will be watched with interest, and it is hoped that he will repeat the victories he scored in he Briarcliff and Lowell road races.

William Pickens, will sail for Europe next Saturday to look after several racing cars now in the course of construction in the big German factory for use in America. One of the cars is a 200-horse power machine, to be used by Barney Oldfield, and it is understood that the Benz concern is going into the racing game on a large scale, and Pickens was selected as the ablest man in his line to manage the team that is to be organized by the company.

There was a disposition yesterday to discredit Louis Chevrolet's prediction that he will hang up a record of 1,300 miles in the twenty-four hour race at Brighton Beach next week. All along Automobile Row, Chevrolet's prediction was discussed, and it was the general opinion that the clever Alsatian will not be able to make better than 1,200 miles. Ralph De Palma, the Fiat racing pilot, said last night that with good weather and a fast track, the 1,200-mile mark might be reached, but he did not believe that any car would make the 1,300 mark. It was pointed out that Chevrolet allowed two hours off the track for tire changes, the refilling of tanks, and mechanical adjustments, while the time off the track in previous twenty-four-hour contests has averaged close to five hours. Frank Lescault, who will drive the Palmer & Singer car in the race, also doubted Chevrolet's ability to reach the 1,300-mile mark.

Sydney B. Bowman of the Apperson Agency announced yesterday that Hugh N. Harding has been engaged to drive the Apperson "Jack Rabbit," entered in the Fairmount Park race, which starts in Philadelphia next Saturday. Herbert Lytle was to have been the pilot of the car, but the injury he suffered as a result of an accident in the Long Island Automobile Derby last week will prevent him from taking the wheel. Lytle is rapidly recovering. Harding is a clever driver, and has competed in many big road races, finishing third in the elimination trial to select the American team for the Vanderbilt Cup race of 1906. Harding drove to Philadelphia yesterday in an Apperson car, and another machine was sent with him to be used as a reserve.

BALL PLAYERS DISCIPLINED.

Three Philadelphia Men Fined for Misconduct at Polo Grounds.

President Heydler of the National League yesterday suspended Short Stop Doolan of Philadelphia for the rest of the season and fined him $50, following Monday's game, which was forfeited by Philadelphia to New York. Heydler took the ground that Doolan was mainly responsible for making things unpleasant for Umpire Mullen on that occasion. Otto Knabe, the Philadelphia second baseman, and Lew Moren, the pitcher, were fined $25 each, but not suspended.

Baseball Case with Jury.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 5.—The case against Charles Carr, manager of the Indianapolis baseball team, to test the constitutionality of the Indiana law permitting Sunday baseball, went to the jury late to-day. Although Judge Pritchard of the Criminal Court in his instructions held the act unconstitutional, the jury will be left to decide this question. No matter what the decision the case will be appealed to the Supreme Court as a final test. Late to-night the jury had reached no decision, and the court announced that no verdict would be received until to-morrow morning.

Outlaws Come Into Fold.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5.—The California State Baseball League, known as an "outlaw" organization, came into the fold of organized baseball yesterday when Frank A. Herman, representing the Directors, signed articles with Cal Ewing, President of the Pacific Coast League, whereby the State League becomes affiliated with the National organization, with a Class B rating. According to the plans San Francisco, Stockton, Oakland, Sacramento, Fresno, and one other city, yet to be selected, will form the league next year.

Ganzel to Lead Rochester Again.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 5.—As a result of the benefit tendered the Rochester Eastern League baseball team by the Newswriters Club and a donation for winning the pennant made by Messrs. Chapin and Little, owners of the club, $200 has been presented to each man on the team. Manager John Ganzel gets $1,500 from the club for winning the championship. He has signed a contract to manage the team in 1910 and 1911. He goes to join the Brooklyn club at Hot Springs after Jan. 1 to help round up that club for 1910, and then comes back to Rochester.

Athletics Defeat Yankees.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 5.—In an exhibition game here to-day between the Philadelphia Athletics and the New York American League teams, the former won, 3 to 0. The score:

Batteries—Morgan, Coombs, and Thomas; Wilson, Manning, and Blair.

Ketchel-Johnson Fight Oct. 16.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5.—The Ketchel-Johnson fight, scheduled for Oct. 12, was postponed last night until Oct. 16. This was at the request of Promoter Coffroth, who declared he believed it better to change the date for business reasons, Saturday being a better day than Tuesday to draw a crowd.

McIntosh Has Big Purse to Offer.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Hugh McIntosh, the fight promoter, left here to-day for Paris to try and arrange a meeting between James J. Jeffries and Jack Johnson for the heavyweight championship of the world. He said he was now in a position to offer a purse that he thought would satisfy Jeffries.

Jeffries arrived in London to-night and will sail for New York on the Lusitania on Saturday. Jeffries says he did not meet Hugh McIntosh.

Boston Gets Pitcher Hunt.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 5.—The National Baseball Commission handed down a decision to-day in the case of Pitcher Hunt, holding that the player was properly sold by the Hutchinson (Kan.) club to the Boston American League club, and that Wichita, which claimed to have purchased the player prior to his sale to the Boston club, had no rightful claim to him.

TIGERS COMING HERE.

Detroit Club to Play Benefit Game Against Yonkers for Sam Crane To-day

DETROIT, Oct. 5.—With every reserved seat for the world's series baseball games here next Monday and Tuesday sold before noon to-day, the office of the Detroit American League Baseball Club was besieged this afternoon by disappointed would-be purchasers. Hundreds of applications by telegraph and telephone were also refused. The demand for seats was so heavy that Secretary R. B. McRoy of the National Baseball Commission gave the local club permission to place on sale Friday morning 5,000 pavilion seats at $1.50.

Local requests for reservations have been given preference over all applications from persons living outside the city, by order of the National Commission. The heavy advance demand indicates that all records for attendance at the two previous world's series here will be broken.

President F. J. Navin of the local club has had tiers of circus seats erected around the entire outfield, and when play is called next Monday it is expected that there will be a total seating capacity in Bennett Park of about 20,000 to 22,000.

To-night a dozen members of the American League champions left for New York to play there to-morrow against the New York American League Club in a benefit game for Sam Crane, a former player on the old Detroit National League team. The rest of the team will leave here Thursday night for Pittsburg.

Manager Hugh Jennings, before taking the train for New York, said that it is his present intention to send George Mullin into the box to pitch for Detroit in the opening game of the world's series at Pittsburg on Friday.

Pirates Win Double-Header.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 5.—The season of 1909 was brought to a close here to-day, Pittsburg winning both games of the doubleheader from the locals. Adams and Maddox, two of the pitchers Manager Clarke will use in the world's series, were hit hard. The batting of Oakes in the second was the feature, he securing a home run, a double and two singles in four times up. Scores:

THE PEER DEFEATS ODDS-ON FAVORITE

P. Dunne's Colt Wins in a Head Finish from Moquette at Belmont Park Track.

VILHALLA TAKES THE 'CHASE

Agnier Catches Calypte in the Last Stride and Captures the Sprint for Maiden Fillies Two Years Old.

In the ups and downs of betting estimates the Western colt The Peer balanced his accounts for two meetings when in the most unexpected upset of the day at Belmont Park yesterday he wore down and beat out the 1 to 5 favorite Moquette in a head finish for a fast mile and a quarter race. The Peer is the same colt which at Gravesend lost a sensational race when he was a 1 to 8 favorite over a poor lot, and he just rounded out his average when in yesterday's contest he beat the "sure thing favorite" Moquette.

Moquette, carrying the Hildreth colors, and said to have been backed by his owner even at the prohibitive price, was about as badly ridden as any horse Dugan has been up on at the meeting. Dugan took Moquette out after the light-weighted filly Paradise Queen, when Paradise Queen went to the front to make the pace, and after a chase of a mile had just disposed of the filly when The Peer came on and challenged. Then, in a drive through the stretch, Glass, on The Peer, actually outrode Dugan and The Peer won by a head on the post.

Two races had two starters each, and one of these, the nominal feature of the day's racing, was a steeplechase framed for horses to be ridden by gentlemen jockeys. It was styled the Corinthian Steeplechase Handicap, and the conditions under which the race closed barred professional jockeys. In an effort to save the race, and with the consent of the nominators, the conditions were changed and the only two starters were ridden by professionals, the gentlemen jockeys standing aside. Pretty Michal was the favorite at 2 to 1 on, and Vilhalla was the winner, the pair running close together with Pretty Michal slightly in the lead to the last round of the field, where Vilhalla went on and won alone.

In the next two-horse race Prince Imperial, at 1 to 6, romped away from Anthropaida after the filly led to the last turn, Prince Imperial winning in a canter by five lengths.

Question Mark, running for the first time in the colors of R. F. Carman, showed singular improvement, and backed with great confidence by his owner and saddled by the old Carman trainer, J. Blute, led from start to finish. The three-year-old Harrigan was closing at the end, but Question Mark was never seriously threatened and won by three parts of a length.

"Good things" from two important stables came in conflict in the sprint for maiden fillies two years old, and the Oneck Stable's Calypte, after leading into the last strides, weakened just in time to be nipped on the post by the Montpelier Stable's Agnier, the winner being a New York bred filly bought by the Wilson stable from the sale of Stephen and John Sanford's Hurricana horses in the early part of the Fall. Taboo, the post favorite in the opening race, came from a long way back in the crowd, to win hustled out, hips in front of Adriuche, while Miss Alert closed from next to last place in a field of eleven in the run down the stretch and was a fast closing third. The summaries:

FIRST RACE.—For three-year-olds and upward, special weights, selling; one mile.

Billiard Amateurs in a Tie.

The regular schedule of games in the Class A amateur tournament at three-cushion carom billiards in Maurice Daly's Forty-ninth Street and Broadway hall was finished yesterday, with a tie between Waldo and Perham, each with seven games won and seven games lost. They will play off the tie this evening. The games yesterday resulted as follows:

Class A—Waldo, 30; Thompson, 15. Waldo, 30; Newman, 10. Spiers, 36; Newman, 28. Class C—Fisher, 22; Levy, 10.

WOMAN GOLF STAR BEATEN.

Katherine Harley Put Out of National Championship by Miss Adams.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—Close and one-sided matches were about equally divided to-day in the first round of match play of the women's annual golf championship on the links of the Merion Cricket Club at Haverford. Three of the four British visitors who qualified had easy matches, so their quality is still unproved. Almost without exception the better seasoned players won, there being an exception, however, in the case of Miss Vida Llewellyn, Chicago, Western champion, who narrowly defeated Miss Georgianna Bishop of Bridgeport, who won the National title here on the same course five years ago.

By an exhibition of approaching and putting, which has perhaps seldom been excelled in this country by women golfers, Miss Dorothy Campbell and Miss Frances Teacher, two of the leading British entrants, won their matches. Miss Campbell defeated Mrs. McKelvey of Essex County, while Miss Teacher triumphed over Miss Shreve of Brae Burn, both contests being won in hollow fashion. Miss Katherine Harley, the present title holder, was beaten by Miss Molly B. Adams in a poorly played match.

The visiting British women were features of the round, and little or no surprise will be caused if the championship either comes to Philadelphia or takes the long journey to Scotland. One result that was extremely gratifying to Philadelphians was the victory obtained by Mrs. Caleb F. Fox over Miss Margaret Curtis. Somewhat unexpected was the defeat of Miss Georgiana Bishop by Miss Vida Llewellyn. The match was a decidedly interesting one, as the players were all square at the turn, and it was not until the fifteenth hole that Miss Llewellyn obtained any permanent advantage, where she played six to Miss Bishop's seven.

The sixteenth she won also, but when Miss Bishop played one under bogey on the seventeenth and took the hole 3 to 5 she held a lead of only one hole, with one to go. On the eighteenth, however, Miss Bishop took an eight to her opponent's five, and the match went to the latter, 2 up.

Miss Anita E. Phipps, who tied for first place in the medal round with Mrs. Caleb F. Fox and Miss Margaret Curtis on Monday, met more than her match in Mrs. Charles T. Stout, and had to acknowledge defeat by 4 up and 3 to play.

The scores:

Miss Frances Griscom, Philadelphia, beat Mrs. H. L. C. Roome, Philadelphia, 7 up and 6 to go; Mrs. Charles T. Stout, New York, beat Miss Anita Phipps, Springfield, Mass., 4 up and 3 to go; Mrs. E. M. Fitler, Philadelphia, beat Miss Grace Semple, St. Louis, 7 up and 6 to go; Miss Dorothy Campbell, Scotland, beat Mrs. C. W. McKelvey, Boston, 10 up and 8 to go; Miss Frances Teacher, Scotland, beat Miss Carmelita Shreve, Boston, 7 up and 6 to go; Miss Vida Llewellyn, Chicago, beat Miss Georgiana Bishop, Bridgeport, 2 up; Miss Mary Adams, Boston, beat Miss Katherine Harley, Fall River, 2 up; Mrs. Caleb Fox, Philadelphia, beat Miss Margaret Curtis, Boston, 2 up and 1 to go; Miss Temple, England, beat Mrs. S. F. Lefferts, New York, 1 up; Miss Margery Phelps, Boston, beat Mrs. F. C. Colburn, Chicago, 7 up and 6 to go; Miss Noblit, Wilmington, beat Mrs. William West, Philadelphia, 4 up and 2 to go; Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck, Philadelphia, beat Miss McCollum, Merchantville, 3 up and 2 to go; Miss Isabelle Smith, Chicago, beat Miss Florence McNeely, Philadelphia, 1 up; Miss Elizabeth Porter, Boston, beat Miss Harriot Curtis, Boston, 1 up; Mrs. R. H. Barlow, Philadelphia, beat Miss Frances Dallett, Philadelphia, 7 up and 6 to go; Miss Jane Spence, England, beat Miss Mary McCain, Washington, 7 up and 5 to go.

Vardon Makes 71 in Practice.

"Tom" Vardon, the English professional golf champion, who will play with Walter J. Travis in a four-ball match game against Findlay Douglas and "Alec" Smith of Wykagyl over the course at the Hackensack Golf Club to-day, made a score of 71 for the eighteen holes yesterday in a practice match. It was the first time that Vardon had seen the course, but this did not seem to have any effect on his playing. "Alec" Smith also went over the course, and for the last nine holes made a 34. The four-ball match to-day will be a thirty-six-hole event.

Pilgrims Win at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 5.—The Pilgrims, the team of Association football players from England now touring this country, to-day played the first of three games scheduled for this city, defeating the Sons of St. George eam by a score of 13 to 0.

Princeton Golfers Win.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 5.—The Princeton golf team journeyed to Lawrenceville this afternoon and defeated Lawrenceville with small difficulty, winning by the score, 4 to 2. The most interesting match was that between Seckel, the intercollegiate champion, and Lee of Lawrenceville, the former finally winning, 6 and 5. The other scores were as follows: Lyman, Lawrenceville, defeated Kay, Princeton, 2 and 1; Houston, Princeton, defeated Peacock, Lawrenceville, 3 and 1; Cook, Lawrenceville, defeated Barnhart, Princeton, 2 up; McAdoo, Princeton, defeated Fay, Lawrenceville, 2 up; Vandyke, Princeton, defeated Beall, Lawrenceville, 4 and 3.

CORBETT DRAGGED FROM RING

Former Lightweight Champion Floored in Bout with Deshler.

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—"Young Corbett" of Denver, the former lightweight champion, was dragged from the ring by his seconds in the fifth round at the Armory Athletic Association to-night after Dave Deshler of Cambridge had sent the old-time champion to the floor in bad shape.

In the opening round Corbett landed three or four stiff punches and swings, but Deshler had everything his own way during the remainder of the bout.

Wilson to Coach Princeton Athletes.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 5.—Charles H. Wilson of Chicago, Ill., has been appointed by the Graduate Advisory Committee to succeed A. L. Copeland as head track coach of the Princeton athletes. This announcement was made to-day simultaneously with the appearance of the new coach in town. Wilson comes from Purdue, Ind., where he has just served two years in the capacity of track coach. Before going to Purdue, he spent three years in charge of athletics at the Chicago Central Y. M. C. A., and later, two years with the First Regiment Athletic Association of Chicago.

The new coach comes highly recommended by Coach Alonza Stagg of Chicago and Bert Williams, Captain of Princeton track team in 1905. Wilson began his work promptly with the field events men in the first track practice of the season to-day.

Lunghi to Run Against Gissing.

Emilio Lunghi, the Italian short distance runner, and Harry Gissing of the New York Athletic Club, will decide to-night at Madison Square Garden at the athletic games of the Columbus Day and Verrazzano Monument Committee the much mooted question as to which is the better half-miler in the world. They are to meet in a special invitation match at this distance, in which Frank Reilly of the Irish-American Athletic Club will also be a starter. With only three contestants there will be practically no danger of interference, and positively the best man at the distance will return the winner.

These games, which will be followed by a big dance, will wind up a big day of celebration for the Italians of New York over the unveiling of the monument at Battery Park of Verrazzano. The full list of events to be decided are a one-mile relay inter-regional for Italian teams, (four of the regions of Italy will be represented—Trinacria, Lombardo, Partenopeo, and Romanio;) fifty-yard dash for boys, one-mile interborough open, quarter-mile obstacle race, and a five-mile event.

BROKAW BROTHERS
ASTOR PLACE AND FOURTH AVENUE

We have many surprises for the man who has been patronizing a high priced custom tailor. To begin with, we are showing over three hundred patterns in Suits, every one complete and ready to wear.

He finds the styles that are sanctioned by the current season, with all the little points that denote quality.

And he finds that purchasing from us he effects a saving well worth while.

Sack Suits . $18 to $48

The Washburn-Crosby Company's famous Gold Medal Flour has all the bread, biscuit, cake, and pastry-making qualities of the finest wheat concentrated in it. It bakes more to the pound than other flour, saves money as well as the extra work and worry occasioned by the use of flour of less uniform quality. That is why knowing housewives always demand it.

NOTICE—COUNTY COURT, KINGS COUNTY—It appearing to the satisfaction of the Judges of this court that there is a sufficient amount of criminal business to require the attention of Parts I. and II. of this court, and it further appearing that there is urgent demand that a Civil Trial Term be held in order to relieve the congested condition of its civil calendar, the Judges of this court have requested the Hon. Frank Hasbrouck, County Judge of Dutchess County, New York, to hold County Court in and for the County of Kings, and he having agreed to act as requested, a term of this court will be held for the trial of civil causes in Room 37 of the Kings County Court House, beginning Monday, Oct. 11, 1909, to be presided over by the Hon. Frank Hasbrouck, County Judge of Dutchess County, New York. Motion and ex parte applications will be heard in Part II., Room 10, to the Judge presiding as heretofore. By order of the court.

Hart Plays Well for Princeton.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 5.—The regular football players were not kept in scrimmage long this afternoon, as the coaches expect a hard game with Villa Nova to-morrow, and the practice was devted mainly to line-ups for kicks and breaking up forward passes. Eddie Hart was put in at half back and made such a sensational showing that he will start in the game to-morrow. His work, combined with two 25-yard runs by Read, enabled the 'Varsity to make a touchdown after six rushes. The next touchdown was made ten minutes after by Hart, whose plunges were too much for the scrubb line to withstand. McCrohan, Siegling, and Waller again showed great ability to stay with the ball and help the runner along for gains.

Jhn De Witt, '04, the tackle and Captain of the 1903 championship team, joined the coaching staff to-day. He spent some time with the linemen, teaching them blocking tactics. The team which will line up against Villa Nova to-morrow will be the same as last Saturday, except that Hart and McCormick will be in the field. King is expected to play at end.

SUMMONSES.

SUPREME COURT, KINGS COUNTY.—CLARENCE W. TELLER, Plaintiff, against SARAH TELLER, MARTHA HOWE, GEORGE W. TELLER, and ANNIE TELLER, his wife; WINFIELD M. TELLER, and IOLA TELLER, his wife, (originally designated as MARY TELLER, the name "Mary" being fictitious, etc.;) SUSAN IREMONGER, ALICE HUSTED, and LOUISE DILLER, Defendants.—Summons.

To the above-named defendants:

You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above-entitled action and to serve a copy of your answer upon the plaintiff's attorneys within (20) twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service, and in case of your failure to appear or answer judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated March 2d, 1909.

Yours, &c., K. C. & M. V. McDONALD, Attorneys for Plaintiff.
Office and P. O. Address, 189 Montague Street, Borough of Brooklyn, New York City.

To the defendant, Iola Teller, wife of Winfield M. Teller, (originally designated as Mary Teller, the name Mary being fictitious, etc.:)

The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication pursuant to an order of Hon. L. A. Giegerich, a Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, dated the 7th day of September, 1909, and filed with a copy of the complaint in the office of the Clerk of the County of New York, at the County Court House, Borough of Manhattan, in the City of New York, in said State, on the — day of September, 1909. FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Active and Weak—Call Money Rates, 4@6 Per Cent.

REACTION ON LOAN CALLS

Move by Banks to Strengthen Reserves the Market Factor—Decline in Foreign Exchange Rates.

The main influence shaping yesterday's decidedly reactionary stock market was the very general calling of loans in the financial district early in the day and a subsequent rise in demand money to 6 per cent., the highest figure touched since the third week of January, 1908. Speculative holdings were liquidated with considerable freedom throughout the day, the heaviest selling occuring in United States Steel common, which dropped 3¾ points; Reading, which declined above 3 points, and Union Pacific, the final loss in which was 2⅝ points. Recessions running from 1 to 2 points were to be found in nearly all active stocks, and closing quotations were at the lowest figures of the day. So strong had been the assurance of a maximum 6 per cent. rate for call money this Fall that traders were obviously taken by surprise when that rate was attained yesterday almost at the opening of the real crop demand for funds. Their conclusions apparently were that all predictions of 6 per cent. as the maximum rate had been made upon insuffficient grounds, and that to be on the safe side drastic reductions of market commitments were essential. Very little attention was devoted to any other developments than those concerning money, and while this was to be expected in view of the market flurry yet an entirely false idea of the financial situation as a whole would be conveyed without due reckoning of such fundamentally important happenings as were to be found in the various favorable railroad earnings statements submitted, including that of the Burlington for the month of August, with its gain of $982,000 in gross; the advance in certain lines of steel materials which have been selling below old schedules, this betokening, of course, the breadth of reviving demands, and the declaration of an initial dividend at the rate of 2 per cent. upon the common shares of the recently organized United Dry Goods Company. Annual reports were made by the Northern Pacific, the St. Louis & Southwestern, the Wells Fargo, Westinghouse Air Brake, and Crucible Steel Companies, the showings in each instance confirming the fact that whatever troubles may beset the Stock Exchange in connection with the money market, intrinsic conditions are all that could be desired.

Probably the heavy calling of loans which went on through the day and continued retrenchment on the part of the banks through the week will bring reserves back to the proper level for the season of the year. That there are other sources for replenishment of our money market, however, was made plain yesterday upon the advance of call money by the simultaneous decline in foreign exchange. Such a disparity in money rates as that brought about by yesterday's advance in rates here and the continued ease at the chief foreign money centres, if prolonged, can have only one result—gold imports.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call on Stock Exchange collateral loaned at 4@6 per cent., with the last loan at 4 per cent. Most of the day's loans were made at 4 per cent.

Time money rates, 4@4¼ per cent. for sixty days, 4¼@4½ per cent. for ninety days, and four, five, and six months.

Mercantile paper rates, 4½@4¾ per cent. for sixty to ninety days' indorsed bills receivable, 4¾@5¼ per cent. for choice four to six months' single names, and 5½@6 per cent. for others.

New York Clearing House statement: Exchanges, $466,503,129; balances, $18,170,647; Sub-Treasury debit balance, $851,659.

Private discounts at foreign centres: London, 2 3-16 per cent., up 1-16 per cent.; Paris, 2⅛ per cent., unchanged; Berlin, 3⅛ per cent., off ⅜ per cent.

The local banks have lost on their Sub-Treasury operations $3,279,000 since Friday.

Sterling exchange was easier, with demand quoted at $4.8590@$4.8595, sixty days at $4.8390@$4.8395, and cables at $4.8610@$4.8615.

Continental bills were quoted as follows: Francs, 5.16⅞ less 1-64@5.16⅞ plus 1-64 for cables, 5.16⅞ less 5-64@5.16⅞ less 1-32 for sight, and 5.19⅜ less 1-32@5.19⅜ plus 1-32 for sixty days; reichsmarks, 95¼ less 1-32@95¼ for cables, 95 3-16 less 3-64@95 3-16 for sight, and 94 9-16@94¾ for sixty days.

Exchange on New York at Boston was 10c discount; Chicago, 20c discount; St. Louis, 55c discount; New Orleans, commercial, $1.25 discount; bank, $1 premium; San Francisco, 20c premium; St. Paul, 30c discount.

SILVER QUOTATIONS.

Bar silver was 1-16d higher in London at 23¾d per ounce, and ⅛c higher in New York at 51½c per ounce. Mexican dollars were quoted at 48c.

THE COTTON MARKET

Steady Decline Follows Lower Cables—Closes 15 to 23 Points Down.

Cotton met enormous liquidation of speculative long accounts yesterday. English cables were disappointing, being 5 to 7 points lower. This caused an opening break here of 5 to 7 points. Prices then steadily crumbled, with the close barely steady at a net loss of 15@23 points. Liverpool offered a steady stream of cotton for March and May delivery as a hedge against purchases of those contracts in the English market, this straddle being very popular abroad in view of the fact that existing differences were the smallest in many months, being a matter of only 45 points. Reports were that spot cotton was somewhat easier in the South and that spinners were awaiting further declines in raw cotton before taking extensive lines. Advices from print cloths and yarn markets showed steadily increasing demand both here and abroad at advancing prices, with spinners making extensive forward commitments at profitable figures.

Contract prices follow:

CHICAGO STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Illinois Brick made another high record to-day, closing at 61. National Biscuit preferred was off a point on the early trading, and the common ¾. Sears-Roebuck advanced from 119 to 122, closing at 120½, while Boxboard yielded to 16 toward the end of the day. Chicago Subway was under pressure both here and in New York dropped a full point, to 6¾, on aggressive selling. Subway was lifted back to 7, but closed a shade under that figure. Fisheries on the final sale showed a net loss of a point for the preferred. Street's Stable Car closed with a net gain of 1½ per cent.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Stocks on the Curb Weak in Sympathy with Declines on the Stock Exchange.

A RELAPSE IN SUBWAY

Monday's Rally Followed by Another Spell of Weakness Which Puts Stocks Down Fractionally—Coppers Suffer.

The universal declines in the Curb market yesterday were attributable for lack of better reasons to a sympathetic response to the reversal of sentiment on the Stock Exchange. In the mining list there were few issues which did not close fractionally lower, although a few scattered stocks managed to hold their own. Chicago Subway, after its rally of Monday, suffered another relapse, going down from the opening at 7½ to 6⅞, which was the closing price after transactions of 6,050 shares. Among the industrials Sears, Roebuck & Co. gained 1 point, closing at 121, and American Writing Paper preferred closed 1½ points below the opening after trading totaling only 120 shares. The weakness in the mining list resulted in fractional declines in many issues, but was without special feature.

***

The principal transactions reported yesterday in the outside market, with opening, high, low, and last prices, were as follows:

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Loans Called; Money 6 Per Cent.

Many loans were called by the banks yesterday, and to this fact was attributed a large part of the liquidation which occurred in the course of which some sharp declines were recorded. Most notable of the declines was a drop of more than 4 points in Steel common. The recent bank statements had prepared the financial community for a further calling of loans, so there were few who expressed surprise at yesterday's developments in the money market, including the advance in call money to 6 per cent. It was the first time since the middle of January last year that as high a rate had been paid on Stock Exchange loans. The fact that money rose so readily to the rate to which many have been pointing as the highest rate to which call money was likely to go this Fall, had its effect on stock market sentiment and contributed not a little to the selling which was in progress all through the session. After the early breaks there was a recovery, but this was succeeded by another decline, in which the leading stocks went lower than they had on the first. The close was about at the lowest prices of the day.

***

The Selling of Steel.

The break in United States Steel was watched with all the greater interest because of the long succession of new high prices which this stock had made day after day. In the first few minutes of trading there was some advance over Monday's closing price, and the break, which came a few minutes later, took many traders by surprise. The price broke rapidly from above 94 to 90½. Between these two figures only 39,100 shares were sold, and so sharp was the decline that stop orders as high as 92⅛ were executed as low as 90¾. On the selling of 39,000 shares during half an hour's trading the price broke as much as it had advanced in three days' trading on dealings aggregating 392,700 shares. The price broke as much on the sale of every 100 shares as it had advanced on the way up on the purchase of every 1,000 shares. On the second break, in the last hour, Steel common went as low as 90, where many more stop orders were reached. It closed at 90⅛, net loss 3¾ points.

***

Bucket Shop Manoeuvre Recalled.

It is probably only a coincidence that the circumstances surrounding the abrupt decline in Steel at the opening were so reminiscent of a bucket-shop manoeuvre with which Wall Street was familiar in the golden days of those institutions. It was the habit of the promoters of the various strings of bucket-shops to get together once in a while and, by comparing their figures, to determine in just which stock their thousands of customers were weak enough to make their elimination possible and profitable. Having discovered, for example, that the average margin of all these customers on many thousands of shares of copper held by them was 3 points—a liberal allowance, by the way—the trick was to pour into the Stock Exchange, just at the opening or just at the close of the day, enough copper to break the price sufficiently to wipe out this average margin. It was seldom possible for the bucket-shop chiefs to recover their stock without loss, but this was a small matter compared with the hundreds of thousands of dollars of customers' money which the scheme brought them.

***

Fewer Pennsylvania Stockholders.

This year, for the first time in several years, the number of stockholders in the Pennsylvania Railroad has shown a decrease. During the depression which followed the financial disturbances of 1907 the number of people holding Pennsylvania rose by many thousands, until the list of shareholders included 59,077 names, the largest of any corporation in the United States, with the single exception of the United States Steel Corporation. With the improvement in business which has come this year, the number of the road's shareholders has declined by more than 2,700 names, the total standing at the last counting at 56,317 names. The inference drawn from this decrease is that with the greater use for money in business, idle capital which had been invested in the stock was withdrawn and put back into business.

***

Atchison Dividend Meeting.

President Ripley of the Atchison came to New York yesterday to attend the monthly meeting of the Directors, to be held to-day. Action will be taken on the dividend on the common stock, in which many have been looking for an increase from 5 to 6 per cent. The earnings of the system have been large, and are still showing increases on a scale which make an increase in the dividend rate an easy matter if the Directors feel inclined at this time to distribute even half of the surplus net earnings of the road. President Ripley has always taken a conservative attitude in the matter of dividends, but it is known that he is looking forward to very good business for his road, and it is thought possible that he may feel that an increase in the rate to 6 per cent. is justified. Atchison fell yesterday with the rest of the market, declining from 124⅝ to 122⅝.

***

Dry Goods Trade Prosperity.

The news that an initial quarterly dividend of 2 per cent. on the common stock of the United Dry Goods Companies had been declared was received with interest in the Street yesterday, although only the preferred shares of the new Claflin concern are on the Exchange. Practically all of the common stock is in the hands of John Claflin, who exchanged therefor shares of the Associated Merchants' Company. The prosperity which has overtaken the dry goods trade has already been reflected in the resumption of extra dividends on the common stock of the Associated Merchants' Company, and it was noted yesterday that, while the exchange of these shares for those of the new company was affected at the rate of par for par, the former concern since March has been paying, in addition to its regular disbursement of 1¾ per cent. quarterly, an extra dividend of ½ per cent. This would make a distinction in favor of the old stock of 1 per cent. annually unless, as may happen, something better is done in the common stock of the United Dry Goods Companies before the year is out.

THE COFFEE MARKET.

Coffee was very tame yesterday. It opened steady, unchanged, with practically no business until the close, when importers sent in some selling orders. The close was barely steady, at a loss of 5@15 points. Of total sales of 30,250 bags, 21,500 bags were switches. Havre closed ½ franc to ¼ up. Advances of 150 reis at Rio and 50 reis at Santos were reported. Sao Paulo reported frost at Avare and fine weather elsewhere. Spot coffee was steady; Rio No. 7, 7 5-16c.

THE FOREIGN MARKETS.

American Securities Close Easy on the London Exchange.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Money was in better supply, but in quiet demand on the market to-day. Discounts were steady.

Trading on the Stock Exchange maintained a fairly steady undertone without expanding business. First-class issues hardened in anticipation of the reinvestment of $35,000,000 in dividends released to-day, but the securities in which Paris is interested, such as Spanish bonds, Rio Tintos, and Kaffirs, closed easy under selling in that quarter. Russian bonds were firm.

American securities opened quiet. During the early session trading was limited and price movements irregular. At noon Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé was a point higher, while the rest of the list ranged from one-half higher to one-half lower than yesterday's New York closing. Canadian Pacific improved on good earnings, and the others rallied in the afternoon on covering support. New York bid up New York Central and Erie, but offered United States Steel down three points. This unsettled the entire market, which closed easy.

PARIS, Oct. 5.—Prices on the Bourse to-day were heavy.

Three per cent. rentes, 97f 37½c for the account.

Exchange on London, 25f 12½c for checks.

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—Trading on the Boerse to-day was inactive.

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—The Boston market opened generally steady. Lake Copper was the feature, advancing sharply to 38½, while the general list was quiet but firm. Following the sharp dip in the New York market, there was some selling of the copper shares, but sales were readily taken, and prices held strong until the last half hour, when the selling was renewed and prices became weak, closing at about their lowest.

PHILADELPHIA PRICES.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—The local stock market was again largely under the dominating influence of Wall Street and the bulk of the trading on the local Exchange was in United States Steel common. Prices were well sustained until the last hour, when the whole list became very heavy, and quotations rapidly sank to the lowest level of the day. Losses of from 1 to 2 points occurred in the active issues.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Tuesday.

Trading on the Consolidated Exchange was dominated by United States Steel common, the transactions in that stock alone amounting to 59,720 shares of the day's total of 150,690 shares. It early touched a high figure of 94¼, compared with a New York Stock Exchange high price of 94⅛, and on the forenoon break, when it fell to 90½ on the other board, it did not go below 91 on the Consolidated. This reflected the covering of a considerable short interest. On the renewed weakness of the late afternoon prices on the two Exchanges came closer together. The closing sale at 90¼ compared with a final price on the New York Stock Exchange of 90⅛. Fifty-eight issues were traded in.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

WHEAT.—Prices advanced with practically no intermission throughout the entire session yesterday. The pit had advices that prominent interests in Chicago were backing up the advance. Reports about cholera in Russia caused alarm as threatening the export movement from that country. Unfavorable Argentine crop rumors also aided. Bear influences were further liberal receipts in the Northwest, while world's stocks showed the record-breaking increase of 17,365,000 bushels for the week, compared with an increase last year of 11,472,000 bushels. The European visible gained 11,392,000 bushels last week. Export business amounted to about 10 loads. Both Liverpool and Berlin markets were net unchanged, but Budapest closed 1½c net lower. All primary receipts were 2,289,000 bushels, against 2,036,000 bushels on the corresponding day last year. No. 2 red wheat in New York closed $1.28½ asked, in elevator, for domestic; No. 1 Northern, Duluth, $1.09⅞, and No. 2 hard, Winter, $1.17⅞, free on board, afloat, both nominal.

CORN.—Sharp advances occurred yesterday. Receipts continued heavy, and cables declined ¼d. Total primary receipts amounted to 724,000 bushels, compared with 244,000 bushels on the corresponding day last year. No. 2 corn in New York was quoted at 69½c, elevator, and 70c, delivered; No. 2 corn, 69½c, spot, and 63½c, Winter shipment, both free on board, afloat basis; No. 2 yellow, 70c, nominal.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Record Prices for Samler Estate Property at Riverdale—Broadway Deal on Heights—Sale of 62 Acres at Bronxsville.

One of the most successful lot auctions of recent years took place yesterday in the Vesey Street salesroom, where Joseph P. Day sold, for a total of $260,700, the 240 lots comprising what is known as the Samler estate property at Riverdale, lying on and adjacent to the west side of Broadway, between 254th and 256th Sts., opposite Van Cortlandt Park. The sale was also remarkable in point of its duration. It began at noon and before the last lot had been sold and the remnant of the crowd, which had originally numbered about 1,000 persons, had been turned out into Vesey Street, the hands of the clock in the steeple of St. Paul's, across the way, stood at 8 o'clock.

Whatever may have been the expectations of the owners of the property, the Whitehall Realty Company, the general opinion of disinterested observers was that the prices were high—some even said enormous. The southeast corner of Broadway and 256th Street, 31 by 100, was bought by Mrs. Mary C. Therry for $11,700. Other Broadway lots south of 256th Street showed prices ranging from $4,000 to $5,000 a lot. It is needless to say that such figures as these mark new records for property in that neighborhood.

The crowd at the sale was made up largely of small investors and buyers of home sites, as appeared from the fact that thirty savings bank books were turned in in lieu of cash payments. Purchases as a rule were limited to two or three lots, and if there had been any interest in the sale on the part of the purely professional element that interest vanished after the first half dozen lots had been sold. The bidding for these, as well as the prices for which they were struck down, dispelled any notion that the offering might prove a feast for bargain hunters. The location of the property, opposite Van Cortlandt Park, together with the prospect that the Subway may some day be extended further north along Broadway, was sufficient to create great interest in the sale on the part of the general real estate public. Improvements planned by the city, as well as the fact that there have been heretofore few chances to buy small parcels in the Riverdale district, also contributed to the success of the sale in no slight degree.

The first lot offered, the southwest corner of Newton Avenue and 256th Street, was sold to George Form for $2,395. Adjoining lots on 256th Street brought from $1,150 to $1,650 each, the price for the Sylvan Avenue corner of the block being $1,800.

On Broadway Uriah Harris of Yonkers was a large buyer. Mr. Harris paid $8,050 for a fifty-foot frontage, beginning 56 feet south of 256th Street, and $8,250 for another fifty-foot plot, adjoining on the south. Further south still, near the junction of Broadway and the Albany Post Road, a plot 54 by about 90 was sold to Mr. Harris for $7,600. A flatiron-shaped piece, fronting on Newton Avenue, the Post Road, and 254th Street, something less than a lot in area, brought $6,900.

Besides her Broadway purchases Mrs. Mary C. Therry bought two lots at the southwest corner of Newton Avenue and 254th Street, paying $3,225 for the corner itself and $1,600 for the adjoining parcel. Along 254th Street other prices ranged from $1,200 to $2,250, for corners, and from $950 to $1,300 for inside lots.

On the east side of Sylvan Avenue successful bids were about $800 a lot, near 254th Street, rising gradually toward the northerly end of the tract to $1,150. On the west side of the same avenue a somewhat lower scale of prices prevailed—from about $625 to $825 a lot.

The most westerly of the proposed streets intersecting the property, Valles Avenue, showed prices of from $750 to $950 a lot, near 254th Street. Further north lots of less than full depth were sold for $125 to $150 each.

The last lot offered—No. 240—Mrs. Day called a "watch charm." It is the triangle bounded by Newton Avenue, the Albany Post Road, and 254th Street, having a width of 11 feet at its northerly end and running south about 47 feet to a point. After spirited bidding this was sold to Mrs. A. Ulman for $575.

Builders Buy on the Heights.

H. D. Baker & Brother have sold for Jacob Hirsh the plot, 100 by 150, at the southwest corner of Broadway and 153d Street. The buyer is the Levine & Levine Contracting Company, which will begin immediately the erection of a six-story high-class elevator apartment house containing forty-seven apartments. The cost of the structure is estimated at $250,000.

Times Square Project Advanced.

There having been in the past numerous "false alarms" concerning the property at the southeast corner of Broadway and Forty-third Street, M. Greenwood, Jr., of Greenwood & Co. made a supplementary announcement yesterday concerning the deal which he recently put through for the improvement of that site.

"Mrs. Fitzgerald has signed the lease of the ground," said Mr. Greenwood. "The preliminary work in connection with the incorporation of the Broadway and Forty-third Street Building Company, with Frank R. Tate of St. Louis as President, has been completed. The working plans for the new office structure and theatre have been practically finished, and we expect to get the tenants out of the old buildings on the plot within thirty days and to begin building operations immediately thereafter."

J. M. Levy Sells at Bronxville.

Jefferson M. Levy has sold to the First Mortgage, Debenture and Real Estate Company, just organized by L. D. Garrett, a tract of sixty-two acres at Bronxville, Westchester County, part of the picturesque Cedar Knolls property. The tract has been owned by Mr. Levy for twenty years and has been held lately at $2,000 an acre.

Amsterdam Avenue Corner in Trade.

Charles I. Fleck & Co. and Emanuel Joachim have sold for Hedwig Glass the southeast corner of Amsterdam Avenue and 163d Street, a five-story apartment house on plot 45 by 100. In part payment the buyer gives the northeast corner of Franklin Avenue and Jefferson Place, a five-story apartment house, 40 by 100.

Sales of West Side Dwellings.

McKee, Hayward & Co. have sold for William J. Casey to a client, for occupancy, 306 West 107th Street, a five-story American basement dwelling, on lot 19 by 100.11. This is one of a row of residences Mr. Casey has just completed. It was held at $65,000. The buyer is James G. Johnson, who gives in exchange 21 West Sixty-sixth Street, a four-story dwelling, on lot 19 by 100.11.

The McVickar-Gaillard Realty Company has sold for Charles A. Stadler 160 West Seventy-sixth Street, a four-story dwelling, on lot 21 by 100.

Mrs. Annie E. Taylor denies the report that she has sold the four-story stone-front dwelling, 902 West End Avenue.

Alliance Realty Co. Dividend.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Alliance Realty Company, held yesterday, a quarterly dividend of 2 per cent. was declared, payable Oct. 15, to stockholders of record on Oct. 9. The capital of the company is $2,000,000, the net earnings for the nine months ending Sept. 30, 1909, were $177,026, and the undivided profits on the same date were $1,103,706.

Harlem Properties in New Hands.

W. Alanson Alexander has sold 309 West 143d Street, a five-story double flat, 25 by 100, for the Hoffman Realty Company to George A. Sipp.

Shaw & Co. have sold for Edward J. Welling 240 West 131st Street, a two-story frame dwelling, 17.9 by 45 by 99.11.

Clarendon Hotel Transferred.

The old Clarendon Hotel property at the southeast corner of Fourth Avenue and Eighteenth Street, 78.6 by 115 and irregular, was transferred yesterday by Alice D. Weekes, executrix, to Henry Corn for $550,000. Mr. Corn has secured from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company a building and permanent loan of $1,200,000 on the property. He will erect a twenty-story building on the site.

Plans have been filed for an eight-story apartment house to be built at 141 to 147 East Thirty-fifth Street, adjoining the Church of the Epiphany, by the Porterfield Construction Company, of which Henry W. Hodge is President. The structure is to be 77 feet front and 83.9 feet deep. It will contain twenty-four suites and will cost $261,000. Lawlor & Haase are the architects.

Lower West Side Purchase.

Van Vliet & Place have sold for Charles Rubinger the newly remodeled four-story flat, 213 and 215 West Thirteenth Street, plot 42 by 75.

S. B. Goodale & Son have leased for Maria S. Simpson three upper floors of 206 West Twenty-third Street; also, for H. A. Hollaman, the fourth loft, 131 West Twenty-fourth Street, to the Henry A. Wise Wood Company.

John J. Clancy has leased for Isabella Hart the four-story dwelling 322 West Fifty-eighth Street to Dr. E. Weiss and Emerick Stein; also, the similar dwelling 346 West Fifty-eighth Street for Eloise Frisbie to Mrs. M. Timberman.

Denzer Brothers have leased for a term of years for David A. Schulte to Harris Brothers the store and basement at 175 Broadway, adjoining the corner of Cortlandt Street; for the same owner to Thomas A. Jacobs the store and basement at 50 Nassau Street; for the Aetna Realty Company to Max Ackerman, the store at 156 West Thirty-fourth Street; for the estate of Maria I. Schermerhorn, 10,000 square feet at 43 and 45 Walker Street; for William H. Flattau to Kaplan, Frank & Dunn, 5,000 square feet in the building at the southeast corner of University Place and Thirteenth Street, and for the Marmac Construction Company, 6,000 square feet at 104 to 108 West Thirty-seventh Street.

32d Street Hearing Adjourned.

The hearing on the proposal to widen Thirty-second Street, from Broadway to Seventh Avenue, scheduled for yesterday at the City Hall, was postponed to Wednesday, Oct. 13, at 2 o'clock.

Upper East Side Transactions.

The F. Dornberger Realty Company has sold, in conjunction with A. Cohn, for a client to L. Wolf the five-story double flat 82 East End Avenue, between Eighty-third and Eighty-fourth Streets, on lot 25.3 by 80.

The same brokers have also sold for Isidor Blumenkrohn and L. Vogel to a client the two dwellings, 312 and 314 East Fifty-third Street, on plot 36 by 100.

Justice Blanchard of the Supreme Court has appointed John A. Kohn receiver of the rents of 412 and 414 East Tenth Street, a six-story tenement, pending a suit brought by David Gordon against Nathan Schwartz and others to foreclose a mortgage of $8,500.

Walton Avenue Building Project.

The Fleischmann Realty and Construction Company has sold thirteen lots on the west side of Walton Avenue, seventy feet north of 184th Street, to a builder, who will immediately improve the property with private dwellings.

Harold H. Harding has sold for Mrs. Mary M. Timoney the three-story frame house 996 Ogden Avenue, which the buyer will change into stores.

R. I. Brown's Sons have sold for Flora M. Clark the two-story frame dwelling 1,341 Clay Avenue.

The Egan & Hallecy Construction Company has sold a plot of ten lots running through from Pelham Road to Westchester Creek.

Sand's Point Estate Sold.

Joseph P. Day has sold to a Western syndicate the property known as the Messenger farm, about 100 acres adjoining the estates of Howard Gould, Isaac Guggenheim, and Bourke Cockran, at Sand's Point, L. I. It is the intention of the syndicate to meet the growing demand for small country estates by cutting up this parcel into acreage plots and making a residential suburb in keeping with its immediate surroundings.

Jamaica Lots Find Buyers.

The William P. Rae Company reports the following sales in Hillcrest of Jamaica: A plot, 40 by 100, on Stewart Avenue, south of Union Avenue, to Frank B. Brown; a plot, 40 by 100, on Inglee Avenue, south of Union Avenue, to Charles A. Goetz; a plot, 40 by 100, on Van Sicklen Street, west of Inglee Avenue, to James J. Kamsler, and a plot, 40 by 100, on Ackroyd Avenue, south of Union Avenue, to Frederick P. Anderson.

Suburban Properties Change Hands.

Alfred E. Toussaint has sold fifty-three lots at Dobbs Ferry for Ernst Bystrom to Frank C. Clelland, who owns adjoining property.

J. Romaine Brown has sold to James Butler the plot, 87 by 75, at the northeast corner of Lawrence Street and South Broadway, South Yonkers.

Pease & Elliman have sold to a client for John D. Canfield a tract of eighteen acres at Normandie Park, Morristown, N. J.

New Building for Twenty-second St.

George R. Read & Co. have sold for the Lilienthal estate 41 East Twenty-second Street and for Walter L. Suydam, 43 East Twenty-second Street, two four-story dwellings, on plot 50 by 98.9. The combined parcels have been held at $175,000. The new owner will erect an eleven-story building on the site.

J. F. DEGENER, JR., SUES WIFE.

Seeks Divorce from English Baronet's Daughter, Naming Former Chauffeur.

John F. Degener, Jr., manager of a wholesale dry goods business at 33 Greene Street, who now lives with his father at 44 West Seventy-fourth Street, has sued his wife, Grace Alice Priestley Degener, daughter of Sir William Edwin Briggs Priestley, M. P., former Mayor of Bradford, England, for a divorce. The co-respondent named is in the livery business at Greenwich, Conn., where the Degeners lived up to a year ago. He was for a time the Degener chauffeur, it was said yesterday.

The suit was begun some months ago, and Maurice Deiches of 271 Broadway was appointed referee. He has taken a great deal of testimony, but has not made his report. The lawyers for both Mr. and Mrs. Degener refused to discuss the case yesterday, as did Mr. Degener himself.

Sir William Edwin Briggs Priestley is Managing Director of the English firm of Priestleys, Limited, makers of cravenette cloth. Mr. Degener's house handles these goods for this country. He married Grace Alice Priestley in 1903, three children coming from the union.

The Degeners left Greenwich, Conn., about a year ago, and went abroad. Mr. Degener went back to live with his father in Seventy-fourth Street, and his wife remained in Europe with her father.

It was said yesterday that the latter had unsuccessfully attempted a reconciliation between husband and wife.

UNREST IN VENEZUELA.

Political Arrests Made and Prospective Castro Revolution Rumored.

WILLEMSTAD, Curaçao, Oct. 5.—According to the latest reports from Caracas, Venezuela, is in a condition of considerable political unrest. A number of prominent men have been arrested recently and imprisoned in the fortress of San Carlos, the dungeon for political offenders near Maracaibo.

A story is current in Venezuela that Great Britain may aid a revolutionary movement headed by Castro because of the refusal last month of the Venezuelan Government to abolish the differential duty collected on goods sent into the republic from West India points, and it has found some credence among the lower classes.

Theodore Hauer, the German who was expelled from Venezuela last July on the charge of being a secret agent of Castro, is still here.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

ROSIE GOLDMAN.—Judge Hand has dismissed a petition in bankruptcy filed on June 11 by Rosie Goldman of 110 West 114th Street, who had only one creditor, Henry Arnstein, for $2,264 on a deficiency judgment which has since been settled.

GEORGE VASELOS.—George Vaselos, 694 East 162d Street, a clerk, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $1,498 and no assets. A petition in bankruptcy was filed against him on Feb. 6, 1907 by one creditor, but nothing further was done in the case.

DAVID LOWMAN.—David Lowman of 1,855 Lexington Avenue, formerly a saloon keeper in Third Avenue, near 125th Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy to get rid of a judgment for $1,822, obtained in August, 1904 by the State Excise Commission, which judgment has been assigned to the United States Guarantee Company.

HENRY D. CHRISTIAN.—Henry D. Christian, a salesman at 293 Fifth Avenue, who lives at 660 Riverside Drive, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $1,546 to twenty-two creditors and no assets. The debts were contracted in this city, White Plains, and Scarsdale, and are for services, rent, milk, produce, hats, life insurance, and loans.

GUSTAVE XAVIER DIRNE.—Gustave Xavier Dirne, a cook, of 566 West 173d Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $8,050 and eight other claims, amounts unknown, and no assets. Most of the debts were contracted as a partner in the firm of Vollmer & Dirne, who had a saloon at West and Harrison Streets. Among the creditors are Bernheimer & Schwartz, $4,200; Caroline Mohlman, $1,100, rent; John Vollmer, $700, and Mrs. John Vollmer, $700.

MAX COHEN & SON.—Max Cohen & Son, clothing manufacturers, 165 Greene Street, and Tiffin, Ohio, who have been in Ludlow Street Jail for two weeks for contempt of court for failure to file schedules in bankruptcy, will be released on payment of $250 to attorneys for some of the creditors for expenses incurred in pursuit of the bankrupts, $50 to go to Leonard Bronner and $200 to Hays, Hershfield & Wolf. Judge Hough in a memorandum said that these bankrupts are flagrant offenders.

BRADFORD PUBLISHING COMPANY.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against the Bradford Publishing Company of 154 Nassau Street, publishers of the Buyers' Index, by these creditors: Buyers' Index Publishing Company, $18,000; Harry R. Hillard, $1,000, and William C. Wulp, $1,000, all on bonds of the company. It was stated that on June 19, 1908, the Buyers' Index Publishing Company sold its assets connected with the printing and publishing of a magazine called The Buyers' Index to the Bradford Publishing Company, and received in part consideration $20,000 bonds of the Bradford Publishing Company, which bonds are now due and unpaid, together with the interest thereon, and the Buyers' Index Publishing Company transferred $1,000 of the bonds to Mr. Hillard and $1,000 to Mr. Wulp. It was alleged that the Bradford Publishing Company was insolvent, and on Oct. 5 admitted in writing its inability to pay its debts and willingness to be adjudged bankrupt. The company was incorporated on June 16, 1908, with a capital stock of $10,000, which was increased to $25,000 in June, 1909. George F. Bradford was President and Hunter Bradford, Treasurer.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Showers have occurred in the Carolinas and the Far West, elsewhere throughout the country fair weather has prevailed and will continue. There is no well-defined storm within the limits of observation.

No marked changes in temperature have occurred in any section, and none but slight changes are indicated.

Winds along the New England and Middle Atlantic Coast will be light to moderate variable; South Atlantic Coast, moderate north to east.

Steamships departing Wednesday for European ports will have light to moderate variable winds, with fair weather, to the Grand Banks.

FORECAST.

Eastern New York, New Jersey, New England, and Eastern Pennsylvania—Fair Wednesday and Thursday, not much change in temperature; light variable winds.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	1908.	1909.		1908.	1909.

NORTHERN PACIFIC SHOWS MORE PROFITS

Gains Over Last Year Reported in Freight Earnings Despite Depression.

$2,060,749 IN NET REVENUE

President Elliott Predicts a New Era in Respect to Passenger Travel in the Northwest.

In its annual statement issued yesterday the Northern Pacific Railway showed a small increase in freight earnings despite the general depression in business which followed the disturbances of 1907, while passenger earnings showed a loss of over $800,000. With a total increase in gross earnings of $197,863 the road reports a gain of $2,060,749 in net operating revenue and a gain of $1,276,232 in net income after all charges and dividends.

The road earned very close to $25,000,000 on its stock, equivalent to over 10 per cent. on its increased capital. The balance of earnings after the payment of dividends was $7,534,350, which was added to the profit and loss account, bringing the total profit and loss credit balance up to $58,172,008. The operating ratio for the year was 55.54, compared with 58.40 the previous year. The gross earnings were $68,460,747.

President Howard Elliott of the Northern Pacific, who was in this city yesterday, said that conditions were very good, but that it was unfortunate that the attention of railroad executive officers was still necessarily diverted so much from affairs concerning the operation and growth of the railroads to consideration of matters connected with rate regulation. He expressed the belief that the public would be the gainers if they saw to it that railroad managements were relieved of some of the work put upon them by rate regulation and the levying of taxes that they might devote this work to increasing the facilities of the railroads.

Discussing the very large passenger earnings which the Western roads have lately enjoyed, President Elliott said that he felt that a new era was arriving in respect to passenger travel in the Northwest. Just as ten years ago there was a great uplift in the volume of passenger traffic between Chicago and the East he thought a somewhat similar movement was showing in the Northwest. President Elliott said that he would not be at all surprised if the passenger travel the coming year on the Northwestern roads would be fully as large as it has been this year notwithstanding the fact that the increase this year has been affected of course by the exposition at Seattle.

The Northwest, he said, promised to attract more and more travelers from the East, and at the same time the local passenger traffic is growing. The latter, of course, reflects prosperity among the people of the Northwest. As an illustration of the prosperity which prevails among the farmers and townspeople of that district President Elliott referred to the fact that at a town of 10,000 inhabitants in Washington a well-known circus which visited the place could sell the cheaper seats in its tents only after all the better seats had been taken, the people being all able and willing to buy the best seats to be had.

The completion of a very good year by the Northern Pacific recalled yesterday the fact that last year the Directors of the Northern Pacific voted President Elliott a bonus of $20,000 in recognition of the work which he had accomplished.

GRANBY MINING CO.'S SHOWING

A Deficit of $91,578 Turned Into a Balance of $411,135.

The annual report of the Granby Mining, Smelting and Power Company, Limited, for the year ended June 30 shows net profits of $681,135, an increase over 1908 of $74,613.

The payment of dividends and bonuses to employes totaling $270,000, left a balance of $411,135, which compares with last year's deficit of $91,578, the item of dividends and bonuses in that year having been $502,713 in excess of those paid this year. There was charged $167,628 for interest, depreciation, &c., $61,371 less than last year, leaving a surplus of $243,507. This, added to the previous surplus of $2,455,181, left a total surplus of $2,698,688.

The prices realized for both copper and silver were smaller than in the previous year, copper bringing 13.22 cents per pound on the average, as compared with 13.33, and silver 51.25 cents per ounce, as against 56.25 last year.

SPENT DAUGHTERS' FORTUNE.

Schiff Says He Has Only $5,000 Left of Their $100,000 Legacy.

Surrogate Cohalan yesterday reserved decision on the application of Gretchen and Leonora Schiff, daughters of Samuel Schiff, some years ago a milliner in this city, to have him removed as executor and administrator of the estate of their mother, Hattie Schiff, who died in 1903.

Counsel for the Misses Schiff said that their mother left them an estate of $100,000 when they were small children. She appointed her husband executor, but he had made no accounting since 1901 until a few days ago, when compelled to do so by a court order. The account showed that he had spent $95,000 out of the estate of which he was Trustee, and that only $5,000 remained for the girls.

In addition to immediate removal, counsel asked for an order compelling Schiff to refund the money, which, it was said, he had illegally converted to his own use. Counsel for Schiff opposed the application, contending that Schiff had spent much of the money in educating his daughters and in settling debts his wife had incurred. Surrogate Cohalan in reserving decision said:

"You have not shown me anything but that this man endeavored by every means in his power to confiscate every penny of this estate, which belonged to his daughters. He voluntarily did away with the estate, and now wants to come here and try to excuse himself."

BRAZILIANS TURNING TO US.

Buying Our Schoolbooks and Desks and Granting Big Concessions.

According to the Rev. Z. C. Taylor, who has been a missionary of the Southern Baptist Church in Brazil for twenty-eight years, and who arrived yesterday on the Verdi of the Lamport & Holt Line, the Government of the State of Bahia has just granted concessions covering an enormous territory to four American syndicates. One concession gives the privilege of harnessing a waterfall of 1,200,000 horse power to furnish electricity.

This is Mr. Taylor's first visit home in seven years. He says his denomination now has 100 churches with 6,000 members in Brazil. "I was the second Baptist missionary to go down there," said Mr. Taylor. "We have an American school, of which my wife is the director. Good teachers of English are not numerous enough to begin to supply the demand. There is a heavy demand for American text books and school desks. We bought 140 last year for our school, and the Government has since purchased 10,000."

Balances	93,889,248,199
Total	$2,123,395,038,959

The largest day's transactions last year were $646,518,264, on July 2, and the smallest $135,746,537, on April 10.

OBJECT TO MORGAN VOTE.

Minority Stockholders in Hocking Valley Road Are Overruled.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 5.—Minority stockholders of the Hocking Valley Railroad, representing 156 shares, were represented at the annual meeting of the stockholders here to-day.

A vigorous protest was made against allowing the representative of J. Pierpont Morgan of the Baltimore & Ohio or Pennsylvania Railroads from voting at the meeting.

Edwin Hawley of New York City is said to-day to be among the Eastern capitalists who are back of the minority stockholders. Attorney R. E. Westfall of this city is representing some of the minority stockholders. Three suits in quo warranto have been filed recently in the Perry County Circuit Court by the Ohio Coal Operators' Association to oust the road from the State on the ground of conspiracy.

President Monsarrat overruled the protest, and the protesting stockholders refused to take part in the annual election of Directors on the ground that there was not a quorum present. This was also overruled.

The protestants' complaint was then placed in the minutes, the plea being that the Baltimore & Ohio, the Pennsylvania, Erie, and Lake Shore were competing against the road.

SOUTHWESTERN'S GOOD YEAR.

$733,625 Increase in the Road's Gross Earnings—Its Territory Prosperous.

The St. Louis Southwestern Railway, in its pamphlet report for the year ended June 30, issued yesterday, showed gross earnings of $10,331,889, an increase of $733,625 and net operating revenue of $2,544,796, an increase of $526,955. The balance of earnings after the payment of interest on the income bonds was $598,089, an increase of $278,265. A dividend of 2 per cent. calling for the distribution of $397,873 was paid during the year on the preferred stock.

Regarding the recovery in business and the progress of agriculture in the territory served by the St. Louis Southwestern, the report says:

"The rapid recovery from what threatened to be a disastrous commercial panic indicates the healthy condition of the country generally, and the southwest territory traversed by this line readily responded, with other sections, to the demand for a restoration of credit and confidence.

"Agricultural conditions in the territory served by this line are steadily improving, and a tendency to introduce better and more modern methods is manifest. As a result the substitution of diversified farming for exclusive cotton and corn farming is rapidly gaining favor."

BIG JUMP IN STEEL PROFITS.

Crucible Company's Report Shows $1,995,408, Against $129,206 for 1908.

The report of the Crucible Steel Company shows net profits for the year ended Aug. 31 of $1,995,408 as compared with $129,206 in the previous year. Net profits of $1,995,408 compare with last year's deficit of $520,025. The surplus after the payment of dividends on the preferred stock, interest on mortgages, &c., amounted to $1,465,105, compared with the deficit in 1907-8 of $933,363. The report gives tentative promise of a dividend as follows:

"It is hoped that the regular payment of 1¾ per cent. will be distributed in December, by which time it is expected that the entire outstanding indebtedness will have been liquidated."

FINANCIAL NOTES.

The meeting of the creditors of Ennis & Stoppani yesterday at the office of the receiver in bankruptcy, Stanley W. Dexter, 71 Broadway, was adjourned to Oct. 19 at 10:30 A. M.

Ex-Senator William J. Tully of Corning was elected general solicitor of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company yesterday. Mr. Tully served in the State Senate from 1905 to 1908, resigning to become attorney for the Association of Life Insurance Presidents.

Bernhard Dernburg, German Colonial Secretary, who is here studying American cotton conditions with the object of promoting cotton cultivation in German South Africa, was the guest of the members of the Cotton Exchange at a luncheon at Downtown Delmonico's yesterday. Herr Dernburg went to Washington last night to consult with the Agricultural Department.

LOUGHMAN SUES FOR ESTATE.

Water Commissioner Wants $250,000 of Aunt's Property.

Michael F. Loughman of 2,880 Broadway, Deputy Commissioner in the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, and nephew of the late Mrs. Margaret J. P. Graves, who prior to her marriage to Mr. Graves was the widow of Henry B. Plant and inherited about $8,000,000 from his estate, had a motion before Surrogate Cohalan yesterday for an order directing the executors, of which he is one, to pay to him $250,000 on account of his share in the estate in order that he might "maintain himself and family in the station of life they are now entitled to occupy."

When the motion was called Mr. Loughman's counsel announced that it was withdrawn and told a TIMES reporter last night that the matter had been satisfactorily adjusted between all the parties concerned.

In his petition Mr. Loughman said that under the will of Mrs. Graves two trust funds of $500,000 were created for him and his brother, Edward J. Loughman, and each was to receive half the income for life and their children the rest. On their death $250,000 of each fund was to go to their children and the rest to the residuary estate. He asserted that the executors have now on hand $400,000 in cash and securities valued at more than $7,000,000, and that in the distribution of the estate he would get over $1,000,000.

LAWSON INVESTORS ANGRY.

Stockholders in His Trinity Copper Co. Withdraw from a Stormy Meeting.

Another of the stormy meetings to which the stockholders of Thomas W. Lawson's Trinity Copper Company are becoming accustomed was held in Jersey City yesterday, and despite the fact that the time for the meeting was changed from 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when it was held last year, to 9 in the morning, there were about twenty stockholders present ready to renew their demands for fuller light on the company's affairs.

As in the past, all that the stockholders learned from the annual report was the figures contained in the balance sheet valuing the mining claims at $5,221,000 and the mining development and construction at $636,001. Other items were expense Eastern executive officers, $166,707; on railway and power company, $36,500, and cash on hand, $6,937. Liabilities were: Capital stock, $6,000,000; American Smelters' contracts, payable in ore, $17,739; ore account, $39,406; accounts payable, $10,000; total, $6,067,145. The face value of stocks in subsidiary companies was put at $1,449,600.

Efforts of stockholders to obtain further information about the company's condition were tabled when they took the form of motions by the weight of proxies in the hands of the Lawson representatives. After it became evident that no satisfaction was to be had one of the stockholders arose and invited his protesting fellows to leave the meeting. Many of them followed his example when it was found that out of the total of 126,144 shares represented 125,750 were voted for the Lawson ticket.

The report of President Lawson, who was not present, was limited to a statement that the low price of copper metal was the company's problem. The report of the General Manager showed that operations had been conducted during September, October, November, and December, 1908, and continued into January and part of February, when the low price to which copper had receded made it advisable to close down. In all 13,972 dry tons of ore were shipped, which netted only about $10,000.

E. A. McSweeney and Austin H. Brown were elected Directors to succeed George E. Learnard and R. N. Bishop.

Silk Consolidation Plan Not Yet Done.

The new board of the American Silk Company has not yet completed the plan of reorganization initiated some time ago, which contemplates the consolidation of the New York Silk Mills with other concerns. The new board is made up of Alexander Tison, 15 William Street; B. P. Cheney, Boston; D. F. Laffean and P. C. Weist, York, Penn.; P. D. Saklatvala, H. W. Gwalter, and H. W. Pruess. Mr. Laffean is President, Mr. Weist Vice President, and Alexander Tison Treasurer.

Trust Deposits $1,387,000,000.

The Executive Committee of the trust company section of the American Bankers' Association gave a luncheon yesterday at the Lawyers' Club to the officers of the section—H. P. McIntosh of Cleveland and Oliver C. Fuller of Milwaukee. Lawrence L. Gillespie of the Equitable Trust Company, Chairman of the section, presided. Mr. Gillespie, in welcoming the guests, said there were 1,500 trust companies in the United States, 1,000 of which belonged to the association. Their deposits were now greater than before the financial panic of 1907, amounting to $1,387,000,000.

Defer Dividend on Pneumatic Tool Co.

After a meeting of the Directors of the Chicago Pneumatic Tool Company yesterday, at which no action was taken on the dividend, Chairman McGinley said that the Directors were opposed to a distribution at this time because of a belief in the wisdom of putting cash back into the company. The company is earning over 4 per cent. on its stock, he said. The Directors voted to apply for listing on the Chicago Stock Exchange.

BOOM TIMES FOR EXPRESS CO.

Wells-Fargo's Net Earnings Are 58 Per Cent. of $8,000,000 Capital Stock.

The report of Wells, Fargo & Co. for the fiscal year ended June 30 shows a large increase in business. Net earnings amount to 58.30 per cent. on the $8,000,000 capital stock as compared with 50.97 per cent. in the previous year, and 53.92 per cent. earned in the boom period of 1906-07.

Gross receipts from express business were $24,476,432, an increase of $1,530,964, and express disbursements were $21,213,953, an increase of $849,121, leaving the net earnings from the express business at $3,262,479, which was a gain of $681,843. Other income, which declined from the previous year by $96,282, to $1,401,900, brought the total net income up to $4,664,379, a gain of $585,561.

As explained in the report the figures this year compare with previous years ended July 31, the change being made to a June 30 fiscal year to conform to the requirements of the new system of accounting prescribed by the Inter-State Commerce Commission.

Speaking of business the report says:

The railroad mileage covered by the company's contracts on June 30, 1909, in the United States and Mexico amounted to 61,869 miles; the stage, inland steamer, and ocean steamship mileage aggregated 8,516 miles, a total of 70,385 miles, an increase during the year of 11,756 miles. Our agencies on same date in the United States and Mexico totaled 6,368, an increase of 1,060.

Allusion has been made in previous reports to the augmented costs of doing business because of the requirements not only of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, but of the various State commissions in the way of filing tariffs and reports and numerous statistics, all of which continue.

BIG TIMBER LAND DEAL.

Canadian Pacific Sells 54,000 Acres to a New York Company.

Negotiations which have been pending for some time between Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and Edward B. Kurtz, President of the American Finance and Securities Company, have been concluded by which the latter company takes over from the Canadian Pacific 54,000 acres of the railroad's timber lands in the Cowichan Lake district, Vancouver Island.

The lands are part of the Canadian Pacific's subsidy grant from the Crown domain. Following the road's established policy in disposing of its land holdings so as to create traffic, the buyer is obligated to begin immediately the erection of a sawmill which will have an annual capacity of 100,000,000 feet.

The tract is about 100 miles north of Seattle and twenty-two miles from the nearest point on the Nanaimo & Esquimalt Railway, which is a part of the Canadian Pacific system. In consideration of the obligation of the American Finance and Securities Company to erect a mill, the railroad is to build a branch line from Cowichan Harbor into the timber. The report of experts employed by the New York company puts the standing timber at more than 90,000 feet to the acre, and it is figured that the tract contains approximately 1,000,000,000 feet of merchantable lumber, mostly fir.

SPINNERS BUY COTTON LANDS.

Plan to Establish Colonies of German Growers in Texas.

Special to The New York Times.

GALVESTON, Oct. 5.—German and British spinners have put into execution their threat to buy land and raise cotton in Texas. The sale of several tracts of land, aggregating nearly 250,000 acres, in Southwest Texas, to a Berlin firm, led to the disclosure that German and English spinners are the actual purchasers, and that they plan to buy more land upon which to grow cotton. Their agents hold options on several thousand acres, all in Frio, La Salle, Webb, Duval, and McMullen counties.

Plans have been perfected for colonizing German cotton growers, who agree to sell their crops to the spinners direct.

The spinners contend that the grower will get a better average price for his product season by season than under present conditions. The details of the plan are not announced, but in some way the spinners will hold a sort of lien on the land to insure the sale to them of all cotton grown on it.

The first colony of about 300 German families will settle on the land about Jan. 1. The price of the land ranged from $2 to $20 an acre.

TELEPHONE BONDS IN DEMAND

Premium of 2 Per Cent. in London on the New Issue.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The $10,000,000 worth of the 4½ per cent. thirty-year first mortgage bonds of the New York Telephone Company, issue price 95, applications for which were invited yesterday by Baring Brothers, are in great demand.

The lists were closed before noon to-day, and the bonds were quoted at a premium of 2 per cent.

IN NEW JERSEY.

Jacob Weldy of New Brunswick, who was employed on the Pennsylvania Railroad tug Wilmington, was caught between his boat and Pier 4, Jersey City, early yesterday morning and instantly killed. Weldy was making the boat fast when he slipped. Weldy was a brother of Allen Weldy, who was murdered last year in front of the New Brunswick Opera House. Weldy's mother begged him on Monday to give up his job, as she had a premonition that an accident was imminent. He promised her that he would seek a new place at the end of two months.

Louis A. Menegeaux, President of the North Hudson Hospital, was bitten by a bulldog which he had chased away from a little girl it had attacked on the Bulls Ferry Road, near Fulton Street, Jersey City, yesterday. He was taken to the hospital. The dog was muzzled with a strap over his mouth, but it was so loose he could open his mouth enough to inflict the bites. A spectator threw an empty barrel over the dog and held him until the arrival of Veterinary Surgeon Meiner, who took the dog for observation, to see if there were any indications of rabies.

Mayor Pierre Garven of Bayonne yesterday arrested Thomas J. Cook of 227 Third Avenue, Elizabeth, who had a quarrel on the street with his niece, Miss Mabel Cook, and pulled a revolver on her. Cook was remanded for a hearing to-day, because his niece was suffering from shock and unable to appear in court.

Judge Malcolm MacLear of the First District Court, Newark, set aside yesterday the verdict returned by a jury in his court several days ago in the suit brought by the Erie Railroad. The jury found for the defendants. The road against Bailey & Allings, lumber dealers, for demurrage charges. The jury found for the defendants. The court said the jury had exceeded its authority, and that the only question it was to decide was as to how many days demurrage should have been charged. It is said that about $200,000 is involved in similar cases pending, which were awaiting the result of this test case.

Nine jurymen who sat in the trial of a libel suit brought by Charles Ruskin against Samuel Armm and thirteen others in Newark recently have testified that the verdict as recorded was not that which they had decided in the jury room. The verdict as shown by the court was for $1,400 against each defendant, while the jurors maintain that they decided upon a verdict of $100 against each defendant, amounting all together to $1,400. The testimony of the jurors followed proceedings brought by Armm to have the verdist for $1,400 brought against him set aside as the court had already done in the case of the other defendants.

Edward Warren of Harrison, who was shot through the eye by a bullet from a revolver he was preparing for celebrating Fourth of July this year, was discharged from St. Michael's Hospital, Newark, yesterday as cured, though the bullet is still in his skull. Recovery from such an accident has hitherto been unknown in the hospital.

Wilson C. Underwood, 5 years old, son of Percy K. Underwood, an optician, who lives at 102 Jerome Place, Bloomfield, died of lockjaw yesterday. He was vaccinated three weeks ago. The boy attended the Fairview School pains in his face, and toward night the tongue pains in face, and toward night the tongue caught between the teeth when the jaws locked. Dr. J. B. Moore, the family physician, said the disease may have been brought on by an injury due to a fall, which had irritated the vaccination.

The two hundred and thirty-fourth anniversary of the landing of John Fenwick, on Oct. 5, 1675, was commemorated at Salem yesterday. The exercises began with the raising of the flag over the Court House, following which was a civic and military parade. Ex-Gov. Stokes was the orator of the day. Salem was the first permanent English-speaking settlement in New Jersey, as well as the first Quaker settlement in America. John Fenwick, sailing from London, picking his way up the Assamhocking River, and settling there.

WESTINGHOUSE BRAKE GAINS.

Net Earnings of $2,039,273 Show an Increase of $14,517 Over Last Year.

The Westinghouse Air Brake Company increased its net earnings by $14,517 in the year ended July 31, in spite of a small falling off in net sales, through the reduction of expenses by $45,512. Net sales totaled $5,286,021 and expenses $3,246,748, leaving net earnings of $2,039,273, out of which $118,715 was charged off for depreciation, patents, &c. The surplus for the year was $1,920,557, against $1,970,796 in the previous year and $3,851,839 in 1906-07, and was equal to 13.71 per cent. on the $14,000,000 capital stock. The payment of $1,374,481 in dividends left a surplus of $546,076, which, added to the previous surplus, brought the total surplus up to $5,457,750.

WITTPENN ATTACKS FAGAN.

Jersey City Mayor Says Predecessor Left a $2,000,000 Treasury Deficit.

Mayor Wittpenn of Jersey City, who is seeking re-election as a Democrat, declared yesterday that his predecessor, Mark M. Fagan, who is a candidate again for Mayor on the Republican ticket, left to him a deficit of more than $2,000,000 in the city treasury, which he was obliged to provide for in the two years of his term. Half of this sum, he said, was "caused by a fictitious tax rate, and another million dollars, composed of debts, misapplied funds, and financial irregularities."

"Mr. Fagan's administration is alone responsible for the increased tax rate last year," continues the statement, "which was determined on a budget of city expenses showing a reduction of $40,000 for that year as compared with the last year of Mr. Fagan's administration, and which reduction has been increased this year so that the present budget for the succeeding fiscal year shows $232,574 less than Mr. Fagan's last year.

KILLED BY POISONED BEER.

Housekeeper to Aged Victim Narrowly Escapes Death.

Special to The New York Times.

PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 5.—Strychnine in bottled beer caused the death last night of Edward Provost, 60 years old, and nearly killed his housekeeper, Mrs. Mary Webb, 36 years old, in their apartments, at 40 Butler Street. Provost was a carpenter.

Last night when Provost came home he got two bottles of beer from the icebox, gave one to Mrs. Webb, and kept the other. Provost drank a glass of the beer and a few minutes later he fell from his chain in pain. He declared he had been poisoned. Mrs. Webb drank half a glass of beer and she, too, complained of pains. Neighbors summoned Dr. Flitcroft, but before he arrived Provost died. Mrs. Webb was taken to the hospital.

The police questioned Mrs. Webb, but she declared she could throw no light on the mystery. The dealer from whom the beer was purchased declared that the poison was not in the beer when he sold it.

OBJECT TO CANAL'S CLOSING.

Heavy Loss Predicted if Champlain Waterway Shuts Down on Nov. 12.

Owners of canalboats and transportation lines and manufacturers and merchants located on the Champlain Canal are up in arms over the decision of F. C. Stevens, Superintendent of Public Works, to close the canal to navigation on Nov. 15, and a conference has been called for this afternoon at the rooms of the Erie Boatmen's Union and the Inland Seamen's Union, 17 South Street, to take steps to find out if Mr. Stevens cannot be induced to change his mind.

According to the announcement made, no clearances are to be issued after Nov. 12. It is asserted by canalboat owners that the loss to manufacturers, merchants, and transportation lines from this would amount to many thousand dollars. Many will ask that the canal be kept open until Nov. 25 at least.

BAIL FOR MISS BEATTIE.

Bond for Woman Charged with Robbing Gorham Company Put at $3,000.

Eleanor Lorraine Beattie, who was brought here from London by Detective Flood a few days ago to answer a charge of swindling the Gorham Manufacturing Company of $1,100 worth of jewelry and silverware, was held in $3,000 bail for trial yesterday by Judge Crain in General Sessions.

Miss Beattie's counsel, Charles A. Towne, told the court that he expected to obtain bail for her. But no bondsman appeared yesterday, and Miss Beattie was sent back to the Tombs.

Adelbert Eugene Hoyt, brought back for trial on charges of grand larceny and forgery in getting $12,000 from Mrs. Julia W. Porges of 480 West 116th Street after jumping $5,000 bail, was held in $8,000 bail.

FALL OVERCOATS

NIGHTS and mornings are getting chilly—and each day draws us nearer frost time. Better get your Fall Overcoat to-day—then you'll run no danger of colds and unwarranted doctor's bills. Our Fall Overcoats—Hart, Schaffner and Marx made them—are very much worth seeing. Try one on to-day, notice its fit, the perfect set of the shoulders, the graceful draping. Only master tailors could produce garments like them. Every good color and fabric and more styles than most shops can offer. Just come in and let us show you the most becoming Fall Overcoat that ever you have seen. As to prices—look at the garments, then look at their prices. You'll be surprised at their modesty, for, frankly, equal values cannot be found otherwise in New York. Suits, too, the same sort of values.

Fall Overcoats $15 to $35
Suits $18 to $50
